CHERT WINTER READING.—Our readers should not neglect the sale of Pratt's great annual consignment of Books, Photograph Alminas, Gold Pens, &c., now being sold by McClelland. 55 Fifth strank. for $900. It seems that Mr. M. Millas, who is quite an aged man, had employed two men to work for him on the farm, both of whom were boarding in the house. They stept in the room in which the old gentleman had his chest, in which the money was kept. On Thursday morning the chest was found broken open, and the money and premissory note stolen. One of the men, Robert Rankin, a returned soldier, cleared out and has not since been seen. The other, Cyrus Pryor, quite a young and seemingly harmless lad, remained in the DOINT MALT HOUSE. 17 WATER STREET, Pittsburgh, Pa. W. H. GARRARD, Malater. The other, Cyrus Pryor, quite a young and seemingly harmlers lad, remained in the house, and was arrested on suspicion of being concerned in the tobbery. He was taken before Justice Aiken, and in default of being seeminted to jail for trial. He denies all knowledge of the larceny, and stater, that nothing whatever was found upon him to implicate him in any way. He alleges that the only circumstance against him was the fact that he slopt in the same bed with Hankin, who is supposed to have fied with the money. If this be so, Pryor, has been detained upon very slender evidence, and cannot by any possibility be convicted. SEWING MACHINES. Formative.
