METROBOLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS for the trassito, by G. H. Shaw, Optician, No. 55 Fifth streé tod dally : IN BUR. IN SHADE.

On Sunday last, while returning from church at Coraios; with Mrs. Young and a lit-tic daughtar in a horn with Mrs. the daughter in a bugg, our here got right-ened just as we began to descend McKillip's hill, and beginning to kick, and fearful that he would demolish the light vehicle, we managed to get out and gramp the bridle, but as we caught him he plunged furiously and es-caped, throwing us down and runhing away with fearful speed. Looking after the ani-rol are aver a set of the said with fearful speed. Looking after the ani-the wheels and Mrs. Young caught between the wheel and body of the buggy, and drag-god fearfully along but her clothing soon gave way and she was left upon the road somewhat bruised. Finding that neither of them were seriously injured, we started to learn the whereabouts of the horse and bug-thore the borne becoming entaneled in the

After some difficulty, we got him parily relassed, when springing to his fest being still hald fast, began to kick foriously in missis himself, when with his left foot by to release himself, whom with his left foot he hit his right hind log below the knee, and broke it hint? off. We were at once compelled to shoot him to put him out of misery. The escape from serious injury, or perhaps death of ourself and family, seems miractious. We feet thankful, indeed, for our preservation and that our lives are mercifully spared. The Harper's Perry Prisoners.

Our readers will remember that some 12,000 men, who had been paroled by the robels at the capture of Harper's Ferry, passed through shis city last summer, for Camp Douglas, at Chicago, where they were to remain until ex-

Unitago, where they were to remain until er-changed. An exchange having recently been efforted, they are now en route for Washing-ton City. On Saturday morning one regi-ment and two batterias passed through this city, on their way back to the seat of war, and another regiment was expected last night.
