Still another branch of the Atlantic and dreat Western Railroad has been projected, and will be built, being intended to run from Orangerille, Trumbull county, Ohio, to Sharon, on the Chenango creek, in Moroer county, Pa., to accommodate the coal and from interests seaking an entiet in that vicinity. Under the auspices of the Elk County Coal Company, a railway is being constructed from the coal mides of that company to interest the Philadelphia and Eris Hailroad at Ridgway, a distance of fourteen miles, which will be completed early next season, so that by the way, a distance of fourteen mile, which will be completed early next, season, so that by the middle of summer the soul will be transported by rail to Erie. The Rhiladelphia and Erie road has not yet been finished to Ridgway, but it is now working regularly to Simema-honing. The western and of the triad is working from Warren to Erie, and will soon reach the forks of the Tionesta. Between thence and the Simemahoning the gap is being rapidly closed, so that by the time this coal branch road is finished, the main road will be also, and the coal may go to Philadelphia by rail. by rail.

An old lady, Mrs. Amelia Davis, occupied a room on the second floor of a house tenanted by Mrs. McClarran. From this room smoke was seen to issue, and an alarm of fire was immedately raised. A man, on rushing up stairs, opened the door and found the bed in flames. When the fire was extinguished, a horrible sight presented itself. The bed had been burnt through, about the centre, and Mrs. Davis lay with her head upon the floor, and her feet across the side rail of the bed. All the clothing had been consumed from her bedy, which was horribly burnt—blackened to acrisp in many places.

The unfortunate woman had evidently caught fire at the grate, before undreasing harself, and being unable to extinguish the flames she had rushed to the bed, throwing herself across it. The fire communicated to the bedding, and death would speedily ensue from suffocation. That part of the bed on which she lay burnt through, the feather tick and the striaw underbed both being consumed—thus letting the body fall through upon the floor, the feet resting upon the side rail.

Coroner McClung held an inquest upon the body, on Tuesday morning. It appeared from the testimony that the deceased is fifty-sif years of age; that her hunband, being chiled to hire out, had rented this room for her; that alse had been in delicate health for a couple of weeks, and that he had called to BROWNELLY-SWRITING FLUID has no superior.

Prejudice aside, we hanned suching in presenting this beautiful fluid to the community. We speak from experience. Why send $303,000 to Kurpps, annually, is gratify a prejudice in her of a foreign article? Give it a trial and you will want no better duid. Price and quality will commend it.
