TO GLASS MANUFACTURERS.
Finding the demand for DITHRIDGE'S XX FLINT GLASS PATENT OVAL LAMP CHIMNEYS much greater than our present capacity to supply, and wishing the public to be fully supplied with these CELEBRATED CHIMNEYS, we have concluded to grant the privilege to manufacture them to persons of respectability.

This course has been rendered necessary since our present production is but FIVE THOUSAND DOZEN PER WEEK, while the demand is almost wholly for the Patent Oval.

Those of our own manufacture will be distinguished by our trade-mark of

XX FLINT GLASS,

Which all others are cautioned from using.

All packages of Chimneys made under our license will be marked with the name of patentee and date of issue of patent.

For particulars apply at Fort Pitt Glass Works.

MORNING AND EVENING EDITIONS, DAILY, CONTAINING THE LATEST NEWS UP TO THE HOUR OF PUBLICATION.

MONDAY MORNING, DEC. 22.

BURNSIDE'S ARMY is at this moment greatly stronger, by the accession of Sigel's and Slocum's Divisions, than it was when the assault upon the rebel works in the rear of Fredericksburg was made. We feel confident, therefore, that, unless the weather should be very inclement, active operations will be renewed in a short time. It will never do to let a repulse so serious as that of the 13th close the season's operations.

Atrocious Scoundrelism.

An investigation has been ordered by Congress into the alleged fact that some of the transports engaged to carry the troops of the Banks' expedition were totally unseaworthy. One, the Niagara, with 500 soldiers, was obliged to put into Philadelphia, where it was examined, and the timbers found to be a mass of black rot. Another which put into Port Royal was examined. "Her timbers," writes a correspondent, "in some places, were found to be placed three feet apart, and she was built up above the water-line with 1½-inch pine plank, without any ceiling. This planking, through which one might have driven a marlin-spike, was the only barrier between four hundred lives and eternity." These are not the only vessels of this expedition of which we have heard ill accounts. Facts like these are even more discouraging than disasters in the field. Congress has ordered an investigation into the matter.

Letter from Washington.

The following extract of a letter written by our Washington correspondent on the late reverse at Fredericksburg will well repay perusal:

It will be well, I think, not to be too ready to believe that all is lost because our arms have suffered a reverse.

There are men of intelligence here—I presume you can well specify—but it pleasing to record that the spirit of the army seems not to have lost the smallest amount of confidence in Gen. Burnside, and the speedy triumph of a new plan of operations is most confidently looked for. Nothing like demoralization is seen, and on the contrary, there seems to exist a feeling of exultation that the army has been so safely removed, and that the enemy has failed to draw us upon their line of hills, covered at every step with rifle pits and masked batteries.

From the South.

The Southern papers state that the message of Governor Milton, of Florida, indorses conscription as a measure of necessity, and declares that the State will give her last man and last dollar. He advocates the passage of an act by Congress prohibiting all importation and exportation until the Confederacy is recognized. The Mobile Tribune says there is a settled determination to defend that city to the last. The ships of the New Orleans and Galveston will never be wrested there. Day after day the bay obstructions become stronger, and the shore batteries made more capable of raining upon the Yankee ships a temptations storm of shot and shell. It thinks the enemy are only delaying an attack until the rivers rise, so that, after capturing Mobile, their gunboats can steam up the Tombigbee and Alabama. It warns the citizens who care more for their pockets than for patriotism that the city will certainly be burned if it cannot be defended, and that they had better contribute liberally to the work of defence if they want their property protected. Three thousand bushels of salt are now being manufactured daily in Alabama. A new paper mill has been established at Mobile. The Jackson Mississippian is jubilant over the manner in which that State is supplying the wants of its soldiers. In two or three weeks they will be comfortably provided for. It says the largest and best equipped tannery in the Confederate States is in Mississippi, besides scores of smaller establishments and numberless individual contractors are all at work. An excellent quality of woolen hats is now being made at Jackson and Vicksburg, and the factories will be able to supply the wants of the army. Blankets are being made at the rate of fifty a day, and soon two hundred will be turned out daily. Three large factories now make 3,000 complete suits of clothing a week, and the best of tents, made from Mississippi osnaburgs, have been supplied to nearly all the troops.

A CORRESPONDENT of the Philadelphia Press writes from Nashville, under date of Dec. 13: "It is generally conjectured that Gen. Rosecrans will have two armies to meet instead of one. Certainly some of the army of General Price have arrived at Murfreesboro. From contraband information we learn that two regiments have arrived in Tennessee, and as a confirmation of the rumor, two out of seven prisoners captured yesterday, and brought before the Provost Marshal, belonged to that army, and stated that they had just arrived from Oxford, Miss. To-day a letter was captured, the contents of which were conclusive. The writer says: 'The Catholic Jew will be a little astonished should he chance to meet some of his Corinth friends bargaining for their rights in Tennessee.' I read the whole letter, but was not permitted to take possession of it, as the general tenor was of a description most important to the authorities."

The War in Kentucky and on the Kanawha.

A dispatch of the 16th inst., from Cincinnati to the Chicago Tribune, says:

There seems to be some apprehension of another raid into Kentucky by Morgan's guerrillas, and preparations are making to meet them.

Major General Granger's army that moved out from Cincinnati, is at Richmond, which is the key to the routes to East Tennessee through the mountains. Granger is fortifying that place, and has a large force. The advance of his army is ready and will probably move on Saturday. Its destination, and the object of the move are contraband at present, but important results are looked for.

The army of the Kanawha has gone into winter quarters, or rather into winter without quarters, and is scattered from New Creek to Point Pleasant. Gen. Cox has his headquarters at Marietta. There will be no movement there for some time.

Destination of Gen. Banks.

It has come to be understood that the expedition of Gen. Banks is destined for operations in the Gulf of Mexico, in the region about New Orleans. It is evident that an attack on Mobile will be made at an early day, and that Jeff. Davis's errand to that part of the country is for the purpose of providing for the defence of that city. Letters have been received in Boston, says the Transcript, "from persons on board the transports which put into Port Royal, disabled, directing that their future letters should be sent to Ship Island."

THE iron-clad gunboat Passaic has been at the Washington Navy-yard undergoing repairs of the damages which she sustained in the gale through which she passed while making the trip to Fortress Monroe. She started down the Potomac on Thursday for some unknown destination.

UNIVERSAL CLOTHES WRINGER.—It saves time, labor clothes and money; will wear for years without repair; no se vant can break a child eight years old can operate it; no cambric or skill requisite in its use, and save its cost in clothing every six months. PIANOS.

PIANOS.
A Card to my Patrons and Competitors.
In relation to the celebrated
HAINES BRO.'S PIANOS,
Mrs. G. BLUME would beg to state that she has had the agency of these Pianos for eleven years, and during that period she has had the pleasure of selling a large number of them far famed instruments to some of the first families of Pittsburgh and surroundings, notwithstanding her competitors have done their best to injure the well established reputation of these superior Pianos; but I am happy to state that their efforts have been, thus far, without avail, and finding their efforts useless, and that these instruments were increasing in public favor, they have seen to New York, endeavoring to obtain the agency of the very Pianos they have been ten years running down. [Query?]

I am happy to say that I have just returned from New York, having succeeded in obtaining the sole agency of Haines' Pianos. I would here remark that I find that such is the demand for these Pianos that Haines Bros. are 150 Pianos behind their orders, and are turning out from 15 to 20 per week. The public, after all, are the best judges, and on their opinion I am willing to rest.

PIANOS.

PIANOS.
A Card to my Patrons and Competitors.
In relation to the celebrated
HAINES BRO.'S PIANOS,
Mrs. G. BLUME would beg to state that she has had the agency of these Pianos for eleven years, and during that period she has had the pleasure of selling a large number of them far famed instruments to some of the first families of Pittsburgh and surroundings, notwithstanding her competitors have done their best to injure the well established reputation of these superior Pianos; but I am happy to state that their efforts have been, thus far, without avail, and finding their efforts useless, and that these instruments were increasing in public favor, they have been to New York, endeavoring to obtain the agency of the very Pianos they have been ten years running down. [Query?]

I am happy to say that I have just returned from New York, having succeeded in obtaining the sole agency of Haines' Pianos. I would here remark that I find that such is the demand for these Pianos that Haines Bros. are 150 Pianos behind their orders, and are turning out from 15 to 20 per week. The public, after all, are the best judges, and on their opinion I am willing to rest.
