On the morning of the 6th, nineteen steam ers started from Smithland, under the protecthose homes. The country near the Cumberland is sparse-ly settled, and since the beginning of the war is nearly depopulated. The few iron works that, in other days, gave it the appearance of civilisation and industry, have ceased opera-tions, and nothing remains of their former prospecity, but piles of pigrion and grinning, half-starved contrabands, who gather in groups on the shore and hurrah for Massa Lincum. A prominent member of the government made a remark in this connection to Mr. Field which may be significant. He said: "If we could only have the proposed line laid by next Startday its use for twenty-four hours would be worth to the government more than the whole cost of laying it." COCENTRATICS OF FORCES. THE EFFECT OF VALLANDIGHAM'S SPEECE UPON THE DEMOCRAT It becomes more and more evident that the moorats are slarmed at Vallandigham's speech, and are perplexed for a policy. They egin to realize, since they are in pewer, that they must either he for Jeff. Davis or for incoin, but they fear Vallandigham came out a little too openly for the former.

The Democrats disapprove even more, how ever, Wright's speech. Even such Damocrats as Allon, of Ohio, denounce it as unworthy of any member of their party.
