It is more than probable that both these considerations would have weight in the councils of the Franch Qabinet, and we are not without suspicion that the tortuous diplomacy of Mr. Saward may have had some indusone in inspiring such designs. The desire to weaken the Confederacy, to exhibit it to the world as "a rape of sand," without consistence or cohesion, and therefore not consistence or cohesion, and therefore morthy of recognition as an independent member of the family of nations, would affer et saids. It may not be improper to call your attention, for such use as may occur, to the enormous losses suffered by the sensy during the present campaign, and to which history furnishes no parallel, except the disastrous retreat from Moscow. I give you the following estimate, which, without any presention to exact accuracy, is reduced much below what is believed to be the real state of the case, from sources of information derived mainly from the examy's own confessions. The list includes not only the killed, wounded and prisoners, but the lesses of the enemy by sickness (which was truly terrible) and dein the desperate effort to avert the impending doom which awaits the party now in power in Washington.

One other suggestion occurs to me, which you may receive as purely conjectural on my part. It is known to me personally that at the date of the amexation of Texas to the United States, Mr. Dubois de Saligny, the present French Minister in Mexice, and who was at that time French Charge d'Affaires to the Republic of Texas, was vehematily opposed to the sanexation, and was active in endeavoring to obstruct and prevent it. Even at that date the dispatches of Mr. Guisot, which I had an oppertunity of reading, were filled with arguments to show that the interests of Texas were identical with those of France, and that both would be promoted by the maintenance of a separate nationality in Texas. The intrigue now on foot, therefore, accords completely with a policy in regard to Texas that may be almost said to be traditional with France; and it is not impossible that the movement of the consular agents here has received its first impulse from the French legation in Mexico, instead of the Cabinet of the Tullieries.

These movements are not considered as having the slightest importance so far as their effect on Texas is concerned. The answers of Governor Lubbook and the latter of October 2 swers of Governor Lubbook and the letter of Mr. Oldham will sathfy you how little those Mr. Oldham will satisfy you how little those gentlemen were disposed to encourage such attempts, while the popular feeling in Taxes to best evined by the fact that, she has seventy regiments of columbers in our army. Sin: Your communication of the 19th ultimo is before me, and contents duly noted. In sanswer to your first interrogatory, permit me to say that the sanexation of Texas to the United States was a good political Massure.

As to your second question, I answer most emphatically that "the act of distation and of the Junction of the State of Texas to the fouthern States was a good and proper political step."

In reply to your third inquiry, I have to say "the re-establishment of the old Republic of Texas will not be beneficial to our beloved adopted country."
Texas has linked her fate with that of her sisters of the South. She will be true, steadisst, and vistorious.
