Nativitia, Jan. 21, 1863.

No doubt the Subsistence Committee, as wall as the people of Pittsburgh, have been sincious, are this, to hear something concerning the fate of the hospital steres recently forwarded to this department of the army.

We have encountered unexpected hindrances and delays, yet we consider ourselves fortunated in having arrived asfely at this destinant with the express car containing our goods broke down near Columbus; and when we arrived at Cincinnati we discovered that they had been left behind, which caused a delay at that point of thirty-six hours. We were all the contract had been for a payment not immore, but in kind—as if so many tons of from or so many cances of gold, of a certain finances; it would have made a different question, and the market value of the article at the time of the breach might have been the legal measure. All our money contracts, however, are made not payable in gold or silver, but in so much "lawful money of the United States." I doubt not that it is the precise phraseology of our public securities. If "B." has one of them, let him look and answer. W.
