MONDAY MORNING, FEB. 2. manufactured, much credit is due to the mechanics who were engaged in her construction. The boiler and trunk were furnished by J. M. Brush; brass castings by A. Falton & Son; blacksmithing by Graop & Kennedy; axies by Coleman & Co.; wheels by Phelps, Parke & Go.; springs by Hallman, Bahm & Co.; troni castings by James Rees:

Mr. George Wilson, Chief Engineer of the Pire Department, was the leading builder, from drawings furnished by Mr. James Nelson.

The officers and members of the company missing sum at one-over the east. After this, severth was instituted for the person who had abstracted the money, and in the course of a week it was discovered that a person em-ployed in the office, who was applied to aberra-tion of the mind, had taken the money and RASE CHANGE FOR CLOTHING. Mr. J Carnaghan, of Federal street; near the Dia-mond, Allegheny offy, having determined to relinquish bunhess, will alose out at retail or wholessis, if desirable,) his magnificent atockwholesale, if desirable,) his magnificent stock of ready-made fashionable gentlemen and boys, oldring. Having also, on hand a very heavy stock of the most desirable piece goods to be found in the market, he will southure to make to order all descriptions of min and boys, clothing in the same style that has secured so high argustation for his well, thiown establishment. The advance in price of all articles of clothing continues, and wholesale merchants of the East are scouring its sountry for job lots of cloths, &c., &c., expecting still heavier rises; the pradent will therefore lay in a stock of clothing, when such an opportunity as the present is offered. The will be sold low, way low, when it advance is taken into considerations.

He cited the decisions of Judges Grier and McCandless, and argued the points at length.

Mr. Woods, (who appeared for the relator, in the absence of Mr. Forward) contended that the question as to the power of the Commissioners to issue, warrants was no where raised in the decisions silluded to. He took the ground that the Commissioners should issue their warrants, and if the Treasurer refased to pay them, it he holder could proceed against him, either by mandainus or by entaring suit en the warrant. If the Court would grant a mandamus against the Treasurer, for redusing to pay the warrant upon its presentation; then the question as to what constitutes an appropriation of the money in the treasury; can be properly raised. It can then be decided whether the ordinary expenses of the county must be paid irrespective of the railroad indgments in the Circuit Court, or whether the holder of the warrant must enter suit against the county, ze prescribed by act of Assembly.

Judge Hampton remarked that he had discovered nothing in the decisions of the Circuit Court which wall prevent the issuing of warrants by the County Commissioners. Their were hitimations throws out that the Commissioners against the county were paid, but the question of your the issuing of warrants was not raired. A warrant

Parthenia, which bost, it will be remembered, was captured and burned by the rebets on the Combertand river, some time since, came up on the steamer Hasting. George says that his situation, while in the hands of the rebels, was rather precarious, and that he began to think his time had come, when he saw the rebels shoot four colored men, employed on the gamboat Bidail. After considerable manocourring, however, George says he "flanked" the rebels, and made good his escape. He does not think that particular part of the country is healthy for colored people at the present time.
