THE news of the arrival of the great expedition under Gen. Foster at Port Royal, S. C., which we have had by the latest arrival from that point, is doubtless the near forerunner of most important events. We learn that the fleet sailed from Beaufort, N. C., with sealed orders, which were to be opened when forty miles from the coast, and which doubtless directed the rendezvous at Port Royal, of which we have just received intelligence. The first vessels of the fleet reached Port Royal on the 31st ult., and on the 3d inst., the date of our latest advices, nearly all the sailing vessels had arrived. It is as well understood by everybody, as if expressly stated by authority, that Charleston is to be the first point of attack. Gen. Foster was in conference with Gen. Hunter and "measures were being rapidly perfected to carry out the object of the expedition."

—The following dispatch from Newbern to a Boston paper, describes the sailing of the expedition, and adds an item or two besides:

The sailing of the expedition for, I believe, Charleston harbor, was one of the grandest sights I ever witnessed. The fleet consisted of about 125 sail of vessels—steamers, transports, tugs and schooners.

At about 11 o'clock on the 30th of January the sails of the various small craft were loosened, and, silently, one by one, in close order, they glided from the harbor. Next followed in the same rapid succession the steamers, store-ships, transports, tugs, and all. It was a magnificent sight—one long line of vessels, crowded with troops cheering. The bands were playing and the colors streaming from the masts.

I counted seventy-eight schooners and storeships, and thirty-two steamers, containing a very large body of troops. At dark the vessels were still passing the forts.

The Daylight had reached Morehead City from the blockading squadron off Charleston. The officers of this vessel report that the iron gunboats Passaic and Montauk, a number of mortar vessels, and various other United States war vessels were at anchor in Bull's Bay, near Charleston, when they left.

The 4th Massachusetts Regiment, and some other regiment at Newbern, had been ordered on another expedition, which was to start on the morning of Feb. 1st.

The Reorganization of the Army of the Potomac.

The following important general orders, issued at headquarters of the Army of the Potomac, will communicate to military men a sense of the soldierly wisdom and vigor which are now earnestly engaged in re-creating that great and important organization:

GENERAL ORDERS, No. 6.—First, The division of the army into grand divisions impeding rather than facilitating the dispatch of its current business, and the character of the service it is liable to be called upon to perform, being adverse to the movement and operations of heavy columns, it is discontinued, and the corps organization is adopted in its stead. They will be commanded as follows:

First Corps, Maj. Gen. John F. Reynolds. Second Corps, Maj. Gen. D. N. Couch. Third Corps, Brig. Gen. D. E. Sickles (temporarily.) Fifth Corps, Maj. Gen. Geo. G. Meade. Sixth Corps, Maj. Gen. John Sedgwick. Eleventh Corps, Maj. Gen. Franz Sigel. Twelfth Corps, Maj. Gen. H. W. Slocum.

Second, Hereafter the corps will be considered as a unit for organization of the artillery, and no transfers of batteries will be made from one corps or division to others, except for purposes of equalization, and then only under the authority of the chief of artillery.

Third, That cavalry of the army will be consolidated into one corps, under command of Brig. Gen. Stoneman, who will make the necessary assignments for detached duty.

Fourth, The foregoing changes in command will be made as soon as convenient.

By command of Maj. Gen. HOOKER.

All orders for exemption from further levies of forage for the use of this army are revoked. Safeguards for persons, and property not needed to maintain troops, will be religiously regarded. Levies will not be made of any other articles than forage and fresh beef. Pandering and pillage, under no circumstances, will be permitted. Officers will be held responsible for the prevention thereof, in their respective commands. A reasonable amount of forage for the support of the owners and their families to be exempt from seizure.

THE EUROPA, at Halifax, brings a rumor that Napoleon has suggested to the Federal and Confederate governments to appoint Commissioners to meet on neutral ground, to confer on terms of peace and mutual concession. It is not proposed that an armistice shall be made whilst the proposed conference is in progress. Should this expedient fail, the Emperor still retains the alternative to offer his own friendly offices. We trust our Government will take this occasion—provided such a suggestion has been made—to assure the French monarch that no offer of mediation or interference will be acceptable.

THE GREEK QUESTION is settled at last by the selection of Duke ERNEST, of Coburg, to fill the vacant throne of Greece. Duke ERNEST is a brother of the late Prince ALBERT, and of course uncle to Prince ALFRED, of England, who, as the Duke is childless, is next of kin, and his heir to the vacated dukedom. The Duke is said to be an excellent man, of large and liberal views.

THE New Haven Journal says: "The Mary Benton, a little Connecticut river steamer, has been sold to the Government for $52,000. She cost, when new, only $30,000, and the Government has paid her owners $27,000 for the use of her for the last six months. It would be interesting to know how the purchase money was divided."

FRED. DOUGLASS gave a lecture or speech at the Cooper Institute, New York, on Friday night, on the President's proclamation. Among other things he said: "Since the utterance of this proclamation I have grown taller, and felt prouder, and think my hair has much less difficulty."

THE Confederate Adjutant-General has decided that men with one portion of the blood of the white race are liable to conscription. This decision admits to the rebel army all the mulattoes and quadroons in the Confederacy.

No rebel officers (save medical) have been paroled since Davis' bloodthirsty proclamation of last month. So says the Secretary of War.

FROM HARRISBURG.

Special Dispatch to the Pittsburgh Gazette.
HARRISBURG, Feb. 11, 1863.

PENNSYLVANIA LEGISLATURE.

HOUSE.—Mr. Henry introduced a resolution that the State Treasurer be requested to inform the House what State taxes were due and not paid by the several counties in the Commonwealth on the first of January last. Laid over.

Mr. Kaine, from the Committee on General Judiciary, reported a bill to restore the tonnage tax required to be paid by the Charter of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company.

Mr. Kaine said he was instructed by the Committee to say that the report of that bill is not to be taken as an expression of opinion in favor of the measure by a majority of the Committee, but each member of the Committee feels at liberty to take such action in regard to it as they please hereafter.

Mr. Shannon introduced a further supplement to the act entitled an act relating to Allegheny county, approved the 1st of May, 1861, and the supplement thereto was approved the 8th of April, 1862. It revives the general laws of the State in regard to the enforcement of taxes upon unseated lands in Allegheny county. Also, that the physician to the county jail shall receive any amount agreed upon, not exceeding $600. Also, that the 1st of April, 1864, be declared and fixed upon as the day when the annual contract to furnish supplies for the county jail shall commence.

Mr. Gross introduced a bill relating to executors or administrators. It is to grant powers to executors or administrators to sell real estate where the personal is not sufficient to pay the legatees upon petition to the Orphans' Court, &c. Also a bill to give jurisdiction in equity to the Supreme Court and Court of Common Pleas for the county of Allegheny in cases of disputed boundaries. The Supreme Court of Western Pennsylvania and the Court of Common Pleas shall have all and singular the jurisdiction and power of a court of chancery in cases of disputed boundaries, similar to that conferred to the county of Philadelphia.

The resolution inquiring of the Governor whether any member of the Legislature holds or has been appointed to any office under the State or United States during their term as members of this Legislature, was passed.

Mr. Barger's resolution requesting the Governor to inform the House of all information relative to the proceedings for the military draft, and how many were enrolled, drafted and substituted; how many deserted; also the names of the Commissioners and other officers employed about the draft, the amount paid each, and the whole expenses incident thereto, was passed.

The resolution instructing our Senators and requesting our Representatives in Congress to vote against the appropriation of $20,000,000 for the emancipation of slaves in Missouri, was considered.

Mr. Kaine said he believed that Congress had no authority to appropriate money for any such purpose. This legislature has a right to instruct the members of Congress from this State on the subject. When Pennsylvania abolished slavery on the 10th of March, 1780, did she ask the General Government to make remuneration to her for slaves. He wanted any one to point out a single instance where it was done. If the citizens of Missouri choose to emancipate their slaves, it is their own concern, and not the concern of the people of Pennsylvania. If Missouri chooses to emancipate her slaves' let her do so, but let her not ask payment for the slaves. The people of Pennsylvania will not submit to a taxation for any such purpose. It would cost four millions to this State. The prevailing opinion throughout the Northern States is that the war is for the abolition of slavery. What right has Congress to appropriate money to pay for the emancipation of slaves? Is it aiding the Government? Congress makes no provision for paying the soldiers of the army of the Potomac, or for the sick and wounded soldiers lying in camp and hospitals. It makes no provision for their transportation to a State where their lives may be saved; but they are legislating for the emancipation of slaves.

Pending Mr. Kaine's remarks, the hour of adjournment arrived.

FROM WASHINGTON.

The New York Times, of this morning, says:

At a meeting held in Washington, yesterday, of newspaper men, they adopted a resolution for the reduction of the duty on paper to five cents. Newspaper men will call upon the Committees of both Houses of Congress and urge the adoption of that rate.

Thurlow Weed, yesterday, had a long interview with the President.

The Senate Military Committee has authorized their Chairman to report a bill for the appointment of thirty major and seventy brigadier generals. It is understood that selections will be made from the fifty majors and one hundred and fifty brigadier generals now before the Committee for confirmation.

The Secretary of War addressed a letter to the Senate Military Committee urging immediate action on the bill for the purchase of a site for an armory and military depot at Weehawken.

A party of loyal Kansas Indians have captured the rebel Wachita Agency, with 100 disloyal Indians, a large number of horses, papers and Confederate bonds. Among the papers were treaties made by the rebel government, and signed by Albert Pike.

RUMOR has it that both Gen. Fremont and Gen. Burnside have requested the President to place them in active service. Although they do not say so, it may be inferred that if their requests are not granted they will resign and retire to private life.

THE Havre Journal talks of a diamond just found by a negro in Brazil, far exceeding in dimensions the famous Kohinoor. It adds that Sambo means to establish with the proceeds of it a settlement for free blacks.
