Pittsburgh Gazette.

THURSDAY MORNING, MARCH 12.

THE UNION STATE CENTRAL COMMITTEE of loyal citizens of Pennsylvania, will meet in Harrisburg, on Wednesday, the 18th instant.

"The Cat out of the Bag."

The Copperhead Democracy, are doing all in their power to weaken and destroy this government, by sowing the seeds of discontent and disaffection in the army and division among the people, by discouraging enlistments, and by every form of opposition which disloyalty and sedition can assume; and yet they have claimed all the time that they were in favor of a restoration of the Union. As their profession and works were so monstrously at variance, simple-minded people were puzzled, while many were so uncharitable as to say that their professions were mere hypocrisy. Mr. VALLANDIGHAM, in his late speech in New York, as reported by the World, clears up the enigma, and reconciles the apparent antagonism between their faith and practice. The programme is to treat the present Union and Constitution as the articles of Confederation were treated in 1787—that is to supercede them by a new national organization—resolve the Union into its original elements—call a new Convention, make a new Union, a new Constitution, a new flag, establish new principles, and, of course, "fresh and stronger guarantees for Slavery." But we shall let Mr. VALLANDIGHAM state his scheme himself. We quote, as we said, from the World, a paper friendly to his views:

But there is a people in the South, as intelligent, as brave, as well-informed, as acute in discerning their interests as we are, and when they see that duty and interest both combined, they will demand a restoration of the Union of these States—they will do as our fathers did in 1787. The old Confederation had perished. The States were resolved again into seperate sovereignties. They came together, every State, there in convention in Philadelphia, and with Washington as presiding officer, and Hamilton, Jay, Ellsworth, Pinckney, Madison—not at the month of the cannon—not with the edge of the sword, not at the point of the bayonet, in council, in the spirit of conciliation and compromise, they made a new Union. (Applause.) That Union endured for 70 years, in peace, prosperity and happiness, until its foundations were first sapped by the Abolitionists. (Applause.) Now what was done can be done again. The time will come by-and-by, and the States in the South one by one, because the people composing those States in this war shall demand it, and rise and resume their away, and the North and West will come together and demand a Convention to restore the Union which our fathers made. Then it shall be said the Union of 1787, the Union that grew out of the Revolutionary War, was disrupted and yet it was reconstructed. Why? because interest, duty, patriotism, will restore it.

"What was done can be done again," says Mr. VALLANDIGHAM. Here we have the programme of the "Copperhead Democracy" —nothing less than a total disruption of the Union—an abrogation of the Constitution—an abnegation of nationality—a return to the condition the country was in before WASHINGTON and his illustrious compeers met in 1787, to form a more perfect Union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defence, promote the general welfare, and SECURE THE BLESSINGS OF LIBERTY TO OURSELVES AND OUR POSTERITY." This is treason quite as atrocious and damnable as secession, or even armed rebellion, or anything that has yet been attempted. Read his language carefully, and note the sentences we have printed in italics.

VALLANDIGHAM says the old Union endured seventy years in peace, prosperity and happiness, until its foundations were first sapped by the abolitionists? What "foundations" were sapped by the abolitionists? for we take it that by that term he means the men who elected Mr. LINCOLN. We admit that that election broke the power of slavery in the Government; and as slavery is the cardinal principle in the creed of the political organization of which that gentleman is the recognized leader and exponent, and also the corner-stone of the rebel confederacy, (which is only another branch of the same party,) we take it for granted that that is the "foundation" to which he alludes. In fact, in democratic parlance, slavery and the Consititution have long been convertible terms. With them, to abolish slavery, or even to curb its extension, was the same thing as to abolish the Constitution. They stood or fell together.

They who framed the Constitution said their main object was "to extend the blessings of Liberty;" but that is the very opposite of the democratic idea, as held and taught by the VALLANDIGHAM school; and should they succeed in carrying out the programme here set forth, they will see to it that the main object of the new constitution shall be to strengthen, extend, defend and perpetuate Slavery. Liberty will be left to take care of itself, and no more will be allowed than is compatible with the safety and dominancy of the supreme institution, the "foundation," the "corner-stone."

You see, friends of Freedom, and of the Union, that the gage of battle is thrown down to you by the leader of the Copperhead Democracy. He is bold and defiant, and flatters himself that a majority of the people will follow him, and sustain him in his infamous designs. He relies upon many things, chief among which is the magic power of a much abused party name. He relies, moreover, on adroit appeals to prejudice against negroes, to the well-known dislike of the American people to taxation and to the compulsory bearing of arms in the country's service. Then the term Abolitionist (although nearly played out) has still a little potency among the weak and the ignorant. All these elements of party strength will be plied with unwonted diligence. Democratic clubs have already been formed in every locality, in which the boasted discipline of the party will be brought to bear with unexampled rigor. It therefore behooves the friends of the Union everywhere to be on the alert, to unite together with the sole object of preserving the goverment which is at once assailed by the most gigantic armed rebellion the world ever knew, and by vast numbers of insidious traitors banded together to aid those armed rebels in its overthrow.

AT ROME, Pasquino has made a joke at the expense of the Emperor Napoleon and his campaign in Mexico, the word "duca!" in Italian expresses alike the English words "duke" and "ducat." Pasquino foretells that, although the war in Italy only cost three ducats, the war in Mexico will only cost a "Napoleon."

Union League Pledge.

The following pledge is in circulation in the city of New York and elsewhere, as the basis of a Union League, and is receiving the signatures of vast multitudes of loyal men of all parties:

We, the undersigned, citizens of the United States, hereby associate ourselves under the name and title of the

LOYAL NATIONAL LEAGUE.

We pledge ourselves to an unconditional loyalty to the government of the United States, to an unwavering support of its efforts to suppress the rebellion, and to spare no endeavor to maintain unimpaired the National Unity, both in principle and territorial boundary.

The primary object of this League is, and shall be, to bind together all loyal men, of all trades and professions, in a common union, to maintain the power, glory and integrity of the Nation.

The Tribune, in noticing this pledge, remarks:

The enemies of the republic are busy and bold. It is no time for its friends to be idle. The people are earnest and determined; they understand the war and its causes; they know what the result will be if we succeed—what it will be if we are defeated; and they need only to be brought into relations, man with man, that they may act together and come out in the end triumphant over treason, to the establishment of a free government, to the creation of a republic such as the world has never yet seen. Let every loyal citizen then put his name to this Loyal National League, and abide by its pledge.

Another Straw from England.

The uprising of the people of England in favor of the American Union, and their approval of the determination of the loyal States to put down the rebellion, no matter at what cost, may explain some recent movements on the part of the British government, and some changes in even the most rabid of the British press. The withdrawal of the consul from Charleston, the order of the Alabama out of two West India ports within a few weeks past, the universal condemnation of the Lord Mayor of London for inviting a refugee rebel to an official feast, are straws, perhaps, but they show which way the wind is now setting. The following extract from the London Times is another straw worth noticing:

"Between North and South there is at this moment raging a controversy which goes as deep as any controversy can into the elementary principles of human nature, and the sympathies and antipathies which, in so many men, supply the place of reason and reflection. The North is for freedom, the South is for slavery. The North is for freedom of discussion, the South represses freedom of discussion with the rope, the stake and the pine kagot. The South has become enamored of her shame. Free labor is denounced as degrading and disgraceful; the honest triumphs of the poor man who works his way to independence are treated with scorn and contempt."

The Copper Mines of Lake Superior.

As the rich copper region which has been gradually opening in the region of Lake Superior is assuming considerable importance among the capitalists of this and other cities at the present time, we have been at some pains to obtain the following statistics respecting them:

Out of the twenty-six companies now working, six are paying dividends, and fifteen are progressing and earning profits. The Franklin, on a capital paid in, of $100,000, and with a permanent investment in machinery, mining "plant," etc., of $270,000, has this year paid a dividend of $4 per share, or $80,000 in the aggregate. The Pewabic has also divided $80,000, on a capital of $75,000, besides making from the earnings of the mine, a permanent investment of $350,000. The Minnesota has still a better record, having paid $140,200 in dividends, with $100,000 in the treasury, and with machinery, etc., valued at $292,000, all on a capital of $200,000 ($10 per share.) The Minnesota has paid $1,600,000. So, also, the Cliff has paid, on an original capital of $180,000, dividends amounting to $1,500,000. This year will certainly witness the addition of two other companies to the list—the Central and Rockland; and the Pennsylvania, Amygdaloid, Bohemian (held in this city), Pœnix, Copper Falls, Huron, and Hancock will earn profits, or, at least, be self-sustaining.

The following will show the progressive increase in the value of the product of the Lake Superior Copper Mines:

	Tons.		Worth.
1859 produced	4,200	ingots copper,	$1,932,000
1860 "	9,000	" "	2,520,000
1861 "	7,400	" "	3,180,000
1862 "	7,000	" "	4,200,000

A Greeting to the "George Griswold."

(The Ship which bore to the Mersey the Contributions of the United States to the relief of Lancashire.)

Before thy stem smooth seas were curled,
Soft winds thy sails did move,
Good ship, that from the Western world
Bore freight of brothers' love.

'Twixt starving here and striving there
When wrath rises to and fro,
Till all seems hatred everywhere,
How fair thy white wings show!

O'er the great seal thy keel ploughed through
Good ships have borne low chain
That should have knit old world and new
Across the weltering main.

The chain was borne—one kindly wave
Of speech pulsed through its coil;
Then dumb and dead in ocean's grave
Lay hope and cost and toil.

But thou, good ship, again hast brought
O'er those wide waves of blue,
The clasp of kind y word and thought
To link those worlds anew. —Punch.

WAR VESSELS BUILDING IN ENGLAND.—The Boston Post has information from its London correspondent that five large steamers are in course of construction in the shipyards of the Clyde and the Thames, which, if they do not come into the hands of our Government by purchase, will go into those of the rebels. One of the largest (building by Thompson & Co. on the Clyde) is to be wholly encased in malleable steele. She is to have two prows, one within the other, with an air-tight compartment of fifteen feet between them. She is of a peculiar model, designed to be used as a ram, and to present an invulnerable surface to shot, and will have a speed of sixteen knots an hour. The agents of the owners of this and the other vessels having become disgusted with the rebels by a visit to the South, the steamers are offered for sale to our government, but if refused they will be sold to the rebels.

ENAMELED STEEL SHIRT COLLARS are advertised in England. When they become soiled you merely pass a sponge over them, and they are as good as new. If the wearer sits down in a damp room the collar begins to rust immediately; this corrosive admonition frequently protects sensitive people from colds. On a pinch the garment may be made to do duty as a razor or a carving knife. If it be lent to a friend it will in all probability cut his throat. For these and other excellencies it bids fair to supersede the linen and paper articles now in use.

A FEMALE COPPERHEAD, of Muscatine, Iowa, wife of the President of the Democratic Club in that city, on the occasion of the celebration of Washington's Birthday, walked up to the American flag floating in the street, in the presence of a large number of people, and spit upon it. The venom of this reptile in petticoats did little or no injury to the flag.
