IMPORTANT TO OIL SHIPPERS AND REFINERS.—I have purchased five acres of desirable ground, situated on the Allegheny River and Allegheny Valley Railroad, above Lawrenceville, which I am fitting up as an Oil Yard, for the storing, Crude Oil. This property has unsurpassed advantages for the business, being located just outside the city limits, with no adjacent buildings, with a fine landing for boats, and where the eastern and western cars can be loaded on the ground. I am about to take care of Oil Boats, and, with a steam pump, to barrel, and with fire-proof tight tanks to store bulk oil any length of time. Or I will lease ground to parties wishing to have their own tanks, and will build tanks on contract or superintend their construction.
Office at the yard, on the Citizens Passenger Railway. All communications addressed to DAVID KIRK, Box 918, Pittsburgh, Pa., will receive prompt attention. no8:ly

NOTICE TO OWNERS OF DRAYS, &c.—Notice is hereby given to all owners of Drays, Carts, Carriages, Buggies, &c., whether resident or non-resident in the City of Pittsburgh, to pay their Licenses at the Treasurer's Office of the City of Pittsburgh, forthwith. All Licenses not paid on or before MAY 15th, 1863, will be placed in the hands of the Chief of Police, for collection, subject to his fee of 10 cents for the collection thereof, and all persons who neglect or refuse to take out Licenses will be subject to a penalty, to be recovered before the Mayor, double the amount of the License. The old metal plates of previous years must be returned at the time Licenses are taken out, or pay 25 cents therefor.

Apprehended Invasion of Kentucky.

From various sources there are rumors of an intended invasion of Kentucky by the rebels, by way of Eastern Tennessee. The Louisville Journal speaks of information derived from those who had been eye-witnesses to the preparations, to the massing of troops at Knoxville, and the gathering of large numbers of horses in the vicinity of Rogersville, in Hawkins county, and other points where forage can be collected. It then gives the following letter from Mr. Brownlow:

"To the Editor of the Louisville Journal:

NASHVILLE, March 14, 1863.

"I am not an alarmist, nor do I think I am easily frightened by the threats or movements of the rebels, still I believe, most sincerely, what I find many disposed to doubt, and even laugh to scorn. I believe that a rebel raid upon a large scale is now being fitted out in East Tennessee, for the invasion of Kentucky. I have looked into this matter with a good deal of interest and anxiety; I have conversed with divers men, known to me to be reliable, who have recently made their way out of that country, and they have satisfied me that large forces are organizing at Knoxville, and at Rogersville, in Upper East Tennessee, and they will make an assault from two or more gaps through the mountains, with infantry and cavalry, and if not met upon a corresponding scale they will damage Kentucky, if they do not destroy Louisville and Cincinnati. The attempt would have been made before now, but for the high water and the bad condition of the roads.

"They are coming, however, and will be in the State this spring, and those who are slow to believe it, have only to wait a few weeks and they will see that I am not mistaken in my predictions. They aim, of course, to destroy railroads, cities and towns, but above all, they aim to exchange thousands of starved and worn-out horses, for the best stock in Kentucky. They aim to plunder all the stores, meat houses, and granaries in the country.

"Our military authorities can't be vigilant, nor can they prepare to meet this blood-thirsty invasion of your State upon too large a scale of operations. I hope the enemy may not interrupt your citizens at the time of planting and preparing for their crops. And I hope, also, for the honor of our Army, they may not again be allowed to invade your State and escape unhurt, as they did on a former occasion, when their whole army should have been captured.

"It may be said that I am an officious intermeddler, or that I am relating nothing new. I have only to repeat, let the people of Kentucky look out, and let the military be upon the watch.

I am, &c.,
"W. G. BROWNLOW.

In connection with this we may state that a special dispatch to the Chicago Times, from Cincinnati, asserts that, "so firm is the opinion of the Union men in central and southern Kentucky of a general uprising and formidable invasion of the State by the enemy, that they are settling up their business as rapidly as possible, preparatory to leaving the State. There is no disputing the truth that secession in Kentucky has assumed formidable proportions, and in less than thirty days a revolution will take place. Men of all parties, civil and military, know and are preparing for it."

With the Times and its correspondent "the wish may be father to the thought;" but it would be folly to say that there is no danger. It is very possible, moreover, that the rebel sentiment is acquiring strength in Kentucky; but this is more attributable to the fact that men are becoming more in earnest, more decided, that conditionalism and neutrality are giving way, and people are taking sides. There have been numerous enthusiastic Union meetings in different parts of the State. On the 17th a convention, composed of a thousand delegates, assembled at Louisville, to nominate candidates for Governor and other State offices, at which no sentiments but those of unconditional Unionism were tolerated.

A Mr. Cravens, of Indiana, was introduced by Mr. Wickliffe as a Union man. After speaking a while on generalities, he commenced a laudation of the Democratic party; whereupon there were symptoms of dissatisfaction. He then began to abuse the President, but before he succeeded in getting off a full sentence of this slang, his voice was lost in a storm of disapprobation. He was denounced as a butternut and copperhead, and informed that he had no business in that Convention, or that State. The excitement was intense, and members who undertook to speak a word for Cravens were denounced as copperheads. We only mention this to show that the Union sentiment in Kentucky is the same as it is here, and being so, we trust the people will be ready to give a warm reception to the rebel invaders if they should come. One of the speakers in the Convention said there was more true Union feeling in Kentucky than in Indiana.

Mean Democrats.

There is a funny little controversy going on between the Post and Chronicle about the term Copperhead. The latter, we fear, has become a little belogged, for it says:

It is the Post which grossly slanders and insults the Democracy of its own district in applying the word "copperhead" to mean Democrats."

There is some mistake here certainly. Hughes is about as "mean" a democrat as we ever heard of; but the Post eulogizes him extravagantly. Vallandigham is no better, yet he is in high favor with the Post, and so of all that "mean" school. Hendrick B. Wright, on the other hand, is a noble democrat, and stands up for his country manfully; but the Post calls him a "nominal democrat." The Chronicle is certainly wrong; for the "mean democrats" are the only ones that find any favor with the Post.

Advices from Port Royal to the 14th, have been received by the steamer Union. Every indication marks the near approach of the day for the commencement of the attack on Charleston; but no actual movement had been made in that direction. The iron-clad monitor Montauk has arrived in tow of the steamer Florida. A small party of rebels had made a raid on Hilton Head Island, and taking advantage of the remissness of some guards, had captured half a dozen of our men, including several attached to a signal corps.

From Vicksburg--Additional Items.

The dispatches from Vicksburg, of the 11th and 13th, which came to us by telegraph, may be supplemented by the following additional items:

VICKSBURG, March 11, 1863.

The canal at Lake Providence is completed, and only requires two hours' labor in cutting the levee to turn a column of water two feet deep from the Mississippi into Bayou Macon. The Tensas, Black and Red rivers' water will not be lat in for a week.

It is said that yesterday Col. Ferguson, of the Confederate army sent a flag of truce to Captain Prichard of the gunboat Tyler, now lying off Greenville, Miss., demanding the reason of the capture of two men bearing a flag on the preceding day. Captain Prichard replied that the men were taken as spies, and requested Colonel Ferguson to send no more flags, except on important matters; Colonel Ferguson's command comprises 1,500 men, and is now stationed on Deer Creek, six miles nearer Greenville. From all accounts General Burbridge was badly whipped near Greenville a fortnight since. I have not yet ascertained the extent of our losses, but they will probably reach fifty in killed, wounded and prisoners.

The water in this neighborhood is rising at a rapid rate, and unless we soon get ready to assume active offensive operations, which will cause us to remove to some drier quarters, the army will be drowned out.

I am glad to be able to announce an improvement in the sanitary condition of the troops.

The excavation of the canal across the peninsula is being carried on as rapidly as possible.

BEFORE VICKSBURG, March 13.

Night before last twenty-five rebel soldiers crossed the river from Vicksburg in small skiffs, and attempted to cut the State levee below the mouth of the canal. They were discovered, and taken, every man of them. For a time we were apprehensive of an attack. The long roll was beat in the camps, the alarm bells rung on the rams and iron-clads, and all hands piped to quarters, as if to repel boarders. The captured men, with the prisoners taken by Col. Ellett, were sent up the river this morning.

Nothing of interest, except the above, has occurred in this section since the date of my last dispatch.

Last night a bright red light was displayed in Vicksburg. It was followed by no demonstration whatever, so far as we could determine.

The discretion of the correspondent who reported the above, restrained him from attempting to interpret the aforesaid "bright red light" as a signal of anything; —else, perhaps, we should have had, after a few days, as confounding a denouement, as that we have just had about the signals from the Yazoo expedition, which was reported to have captured Yazoo City and to have reached a point above Haines' Bluffs, where a signal was to have been fired as agreed on—because said signal was by some fond listener, construed out of certain explosions of atmospheric electricity, commonly called thunder! The latest accounts from the Yazoo expedition direct, inform us that no portion of it was within one hundred and fifty miles of Yazoo City, when the aforesaid signal was supposed to have been heard.
