The prosecution offsred to prove that he had done his duty well, but the defendants' coun-sel objected to the testimony as irrelevant, and the objection was sustained. Witness-My compensation, previous to the offsr from Boggs, was about $1,000 per in sympathy with treason. The preliminary hearing was fixed for Wednesday afternoon, at two o'clock, before Alderman Nicholson, at which time the parties appeared and the investigation procosoded. John Mellon and J. H. Hampton, Esqi., appeared as counsel for the prosecution ; and 8. Behoyer, Jr., and J. Heron Foster, Esqs., for the dafandants. The information having been submitted to the defendants, they desired to cross-examine the prosecutor, Thomas K. Laily, in reference to the allegations therein contained. There being no objections, the cross-examination was conducted as follows: year.
CROSS-FIAMINATION RESUMED.
By Mr. Schoyer-Was you ever called "copperhead" before this publication ?
A-Not to my face. I may have been behind my back.
Q-What was said to Boggs, sbout going to Georgia, saide from a rejection of the offor?
A-Boggs said he could not advise me one way or another; but as a further inducement he said I would get a trip to Europe, and as I knew all about the manufacture of arms in this country it might de me good. I told him I never intended to leave the Northern States.
Q-On whose authority was the offer made?
A-Boggs told me he had authority from the State of Georgia at that time, as regarded the Government?
A-I had not.
Q-Vou know what I mean. Were you aware that Georgia was then either loyal or disloyal?
A-I knew nothing about it, but I supposed she was loyal.
Q-What did you understand by "doing doing the state of the state year. CROSS-EXAMINATION RESUMED. TROMAS K. LALLY CROSS-BXANINED. Question-Who induced or advised you to cers ? Objected to, and overruled. Q — Where do you reside ? A — At Lawrenceville. Had resided there five years the 9th of January last. Q — What is your present employment and Q-What if your present employment and di position ? A-Master Machinist in the Allegheny Ar-isenal. I had been in that position five years in May last. Q-Have you been drawing pay from the Gevernment? A-I have. Q-Are you acquainted with Lieut. Boggs, now in the rebel army ? A-I know Lieut. Boggs. Q-Had you ever any offer made to you, to enter into the service of the Confederate A-1 Know nothing about it, our a support the was logal. Q-What did you understand by "doing you good" going to Europe? A-Why, that, knowing all about the American manufacture of arms, I might learn Something of the manufacture there. MORE ABOUT THE PETERHOPP. In the question under discussion in the case the Anglo-Rebel steamer Peterhoff, captured by Com. Wilkes, on the Vanderbilt, Lord Lyons demands the mail on board unopened. Mr. Seward is disposed to accede, and requests Wilkes to order its return. Secretary Welles says that both international law and the statute re-enacted the last session of Congress, by which the command-er of a capturing vessel is required to keep all ritings and papers found on prizes, and ransmit the same unepened to the District lourt, which must decide as to their final dispesition, settles this question. Mr. Seward says damn the statute law; but Important Southern News. HEADQUARTERS AREN OF THE POTOMAC, ] April 15, 1853. ] The Richmond Whig says that reports were in circulation yestorday that a fight took place at Williamburg, on Saturday, between Wise's forces and the enemy, and they were confirmed by passengers who arrived last evening. At an early hour on Saturday our troops drove in the Yankee plotests and eccu-pled the town, the enemy retiring to Fort Magruder, from which point they commenced shelling the place. General Wise took a po-sition near the college, and replied to the ene-my's fire. Our casualities up to the Sth were slight. Welles is resolute in his refusal. Meantime, the Court requested Archibald, the British Consul, to attend the opening of the mail; he not appearing, the Court was about to open them when Seward interfered.
