The author adopts the saying of Marshal Saxs, that "success is in the legs of the soldier," and strongly condemns immobility, for which Gen. McClellan was so remarkable, although he neither names that officer nor alludes to him. He only deals with general principles. He does allude to the great and rapid marches of Narothers, as the secret of the success of that great Capitain. He, morrover, condemns in toto the polloy of "battering" at places, such as Vicusburg and Charleston, and urges that our blows ought to be aimed at the sruites of the rebels, not at their cities.

On Putting Down the Rebellion. In his recent speech at the great Anniversary meeting in Madison Square, New which heads this article, points out the fineevitably disastrous results of pursuing, during the present year, the same general plan which resulted so disastrously in 1862.

Three great general principles are laid down, which apply to the entire science of war, as follows:

"1. To concentrate all disposable forces, and to act with the whole of them against as part only of the entery's forces, "2. To act against the weakest part of the enemy; against his fank or rear if they be concentrated Also, to act against his communications without endangering our war.

"3. Whatever plan of operations has been decided on, it should be executed with the ulmost promptness, so that the object may be obtained before the enemy can revent it."

"Three systems," he says, "have been principally amployed for the conquest of a country. The first is to march several armies from the circumference into the centre of a country; the second, is to conquer by subduing and occupying one province siter another; the third is by march ing one large force, on a single line of operation, right into the centre of a country, and when arrived there, spreading it out in all directions, like as fan, forming interior lines, dividing thereby the enemy, and forcing him to act on exterior ineed, it is the very inverse of the first system.

Again and again have editors and other civilians urged the policy here so strongly and clearly stated; but the answer has ever been, "What do you know about war?" Well, common sense and natural sagacity are sometimes found to be superior to what passes current in the world for science; our author, however, here history clearly will be supplied by an outraged people.

ENCOURAGERS OF DESERTION .- Six dry goods and clothing merchants, of Wes Jefferson, a place about 14 miles from Co lumbus. Ohio, on the Little Miami Railroad were arrested on Monday, by order of Capi Doyle, for selling deserters skedaddling suits. They were brought to Columbus an examined by Gen. Mason, and were re leased on giving five thousand dollars bai MAJOR CLARESCE PRENTICE .- A Colum bus, Ohio, dispatch, of Tuesday, says: The rebel Major Clarence Prentice returned here to-day. He goes back to Camp Chas his father not being successful in obtain ing his release on parole.

The Lynchburg (Va.) Republican of the 6th says: "An Augusta, Georgia, contemporary states that on the authority of a genticman just returned from the upper part of North Carolina, that tenpenny nails are passing current there at five cents each. We have no such metallic basis for our currency here. Our circulating mediums are grains of corn representing five cents, and quids of tobacco representing the decimal."

From data furnished by the medical statistics of the United States army, it appears that the largest men are found in Georgia, North Carolina, Tennessee and Kentucky, while the smallest men are found in the States of New York, Massachusetts and Connecticut.

AMBRESIA FOR THE HAIR.

This is to certify that about eighteen months ago I commenced using Sterling's Ambrosia. My hair was short, thin and rapidly falling out. I had tried many Hair Tonics, Invigerators, &c., without receiving any beastit. Seen after using the Ambrosia, my hair cased falling out, and commenced growing so rapidly as to setonish me. How my hair is thick; soft and glossy, and is five feet four inches in length—when let down, reaching to the floor. This wondering result I attribute solely to the use of Sterling's Ambrosis as since I commenced using it I have aphiled nothing cise to my hair. Amortons as since I commenced using is I have ap lied nothing else to my hair. Mrs. L. A. BROWH, No. 493 Broadway, New York.

We advise young persons, whose hair is beginning to fail out, to take warning in time, and sare their hair, by using the Ambrosia. To those who have aiready lost their hair, the free use of the Ambrosia will surely reators it, as it has done for theusands. Dr. STRELING'S AMBROGHA is a stimulating, eatily extract, of Roots, Barks and Herbs. It will cure all diseases of the scale and itching of the head; entirely eradicates deadurd, prevents the hair from falling ed, for from terming prematurally gray, causing it to grow thick and long. It is entirely different from all other preparations, and can be relied on. It is a well known host to thousands in the city of New York, that this is the only acticle yet discovered that will cure the disasse of the scalp, and cause the hair to grow.
