Address, GAZETTE, Pittsburgh, Pa.

CIRCULATE THE DOCUMENTS.—The Great Speech of General Butler on the War, which we have published in pamphlet form, is an excellent document for general circulation. We are glad to find so great a demand for it. We have already exhausted a first edition, but can fill all orders promptly.

Important Railroad Arrangements.

The arrangement spoken of in the following paragraph from the New York Express was briefly mentioned in the GAZETTE several days ago, but its importance warrants a more extended notice:

"We understand that arrangements have been made to lay a third rail upon the track of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railway, from the junction of the Atlantic and Great Western Railway to Chicago, to make the gauge correspond with that of the Atlantic and Great Western and Erie roads—thus forming an unbroken line of the six-foot gauge from New York to Chicago. This will give the Fort Wayne a through route from Chicago to New York by the Erie road as well as by the Pennsylvania Central, and add largely to its heavy business."

For many years there has been a struggle between the New York Central road, which reaches Lake Erie at Buffalo, and the New York and Erie road, which reaches the lake at Dunkirk, for the control of the Lake Shore road, which runs from Buffalo to Cleveland. The first named has a gauge of 4 feet 8½ inches; the second of 6 feet; the third, or Lake Shore road, of 4 feet 8½. For a time there was a section of the last named road, extending from Erie to North East, of about 16 miles, all in Pennsylvania, of 6 feet gauge, so made, doubtless, to favor the New York and Erie road, in the expectation that, rather than have two breaks in the gague of so important a thoroughfare, the company would change it all to 6 feet from Dunkirk to Cleveland. That struggle at Erie, a few years ago, therefore, was not altogether a local affair, but really a fight between the two great roads of New York. Finally the Central road triumphed, and the Lake Shore road was made of one uniform gauge of 4 feet 8½.

From that time the Erie road has been laboring to gain access to the great West by an independent route, and hence the origin of the "Atlantic and Great Western" road, which is really a continuation of the New York and Erie road, not from its terminus at Dunkirk, but from a point on the Alleghany river, some twenty miles below Olean through Erie, and Crawford counties, in Pennsylvania, to Warren, Ohio, and thence (it would seem) to some point of intersection with the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago road, beyond Alliance. Thence to Chicago there is to be a third rail laid down, so as to give the road two guages—one of four feet ten inches, as at present, and one of six feet, to accommodate the cars of the New York and Erie and the Great Western Roads.

This arrangement will bring the New York and Erie road into direct and formidable competition with the Pennsylvania Central; and at the same time it will enable it to compete, as it never did before, with the New York Central. It may be somewhat disadvantageous, commercially, to this city; but we feel no inclination to complain of it, for every great enterprise of the kind is so much added to the greatness and power of the country; and the stimulus of sharp competition is generally good in the long run.

Hon. John P. Penney.

This distinguished gentleman has consented to allow the use of his name before the State Convention of Union men, which will assemble in this city this summer, as a candidate for the position of Governor of this Commonwealth, and we take great pleasure in making the announcement. His name is a tower of strength in Western Pennsylvania, while we candidly believe that no Western man can control so large an amount of influence for that position throughout the State generally. From the moment of his entry into public life he has occupied a distinguished position, and has been acknowledged as a leader. The record of no Senator stands fairer than his, for statesmanship, constant, unremitting attention to the public business, an intimate knowledge of State interests, and incorruptible integrity; and his peers in that honorable body have sealed him as their leader by placing him in the Chair of the Senate—a position but one step inferior in degree to that in which his friends are now earnestly endeavoring to place him. If the highest qualities of mind, unsullied honor and incorruptible integrity; if intimate knowledge of State interests, and State politics, and of the people of the State generally, are the elements to be sought for in our candidate for Governor, then we know of no man in whom they can be found to a greater degree than Mr. PENNEY.

Rebellion in Berks.

On Tuesday last the "democracy" of Berks had a great county meeting in Reading, at which E. S. ANCONA presided. Our readers will remember that some secret treasonable organizations were broken up in that county a few weeks ago, and some arrests made. Hon. J. GLANCY JONES, Hon. HIESTER W. CLYMER, and others, took active parts in the meeting. From a solid column of resolutions we make a few extracts:

THEY JUSTIFY SECRET TREASON.

Resolved, That secret societies, political or otherwise, are not in themselves in violation of the Constitution and laws, and that whenever a free people see proper to organize themselves, in secret or in public, they have a right to protection, and if the Government, for political purposes, fails to render that protection, we pledge ourselves to furnish it to the extent of our power.

BUT FAVOR OPEN REBELLION.

Resolved, That if secret political societies have recently been organized among us, it is to be presumed they are for no other purpose than the protection of their rights against unlawful arrest or the execution of unconstitutional laws. Until the contrary is proven the character of our people warrant this belief; but, as such objects can better be secured by the open organization of our whole people, in strict accordance with law, and without furnishing pretexts for armed intervention by a military power, we earnestly recommend all such to abandon the secret features, and join us in open organization in every ward, township and borough of our county. Such a movement will give us strength and power at home, inspire confidence and wield moral influence abroad.

Resolved, By the Democracy of Berks county, in mass meeting assembled, that, while we will obey the Constitution and laws of our country, and make no forcible resistance to the execution of any process administered by the government within the limits of its legitimate functions, we will not submit to nor tolerate the slightest encroachments upon our rights and privileges; such attempt will meet with our resistance at all hazards and regardless of consequences.

Resolved, That we regard the emancipation proclamation, the conscription law, and the confiscation acts as clearly unconstitutional; and if the insane threat of a distinguished military chieftain, (distinguished more for the position he holds, than for achievements in arms,) to put his heel upon the necks of Northern men, be attempted to be carried out, we promise him a warm reception.

These Copperheads are a little more outspoken than any others in Pennsylvania who have sense enough to be responsible for what they say; but we may accept their declarations of sentiment as those of their faction throughout the State. The fact that they resolved that their proceedings should be published in the Pittsburgh Post, among a few other papers of unmistakable copperhead stripe, is evidence that they recognize it as one of "us."

The Armies of the West.

Just now no movement could be made that would inspire a greater degree of hope and confidence in the public mind than a union of the armies of Generals GRANT and ROSECRANS, in the important central field of operations occupied by the latter. For the past three months, Gen. ROSECRANS has been standing on the defensive, because his force has not been sufficient to enable him to push his way into he heart of the cotton States, and sever all the lines of communication between the eastern and western divisions of rebeldom. On the other hand, GRANT has been making all kinds of abortive demonstration against Vicksburg. But suppose he had been successful, what then? Why, simply this: PEMBERTON would have evacuated Vicksburg, as BEAUREGARD evacuated Corinth, fallen back, united his forces with those of BRAGG, and made terrible reprisal by crushing ROSECRANS, recapturing Nashville, and perhaps pushing an overwhelming force through Kentucky to the Ohio river.

What is needed now is the capture of armies, not cities, nor fortresses. But let the armies of ROSECRANS and GRANT be united, and a short campaign would suffice to put the national forces in possession of all the great lines of rebel communication, including the Mississippi. The following sensible remarks of the New York Herald on this subject will commend themselves to the mind of every thinking man:

It is these divisions and sub-divisions of our forces at many places which so weaken our movable armies as to enable the enemy in almost every great field engagement to bring a superior force against us, with hardly half our aggregate number of soldiers in the field. Let the government leave to take care of themselves all unimportant towns and places captured from the enemy, and look simply to the subjugation of the armies of the rebellion, and the work will soon be done. Napoleon Bonaparte did not hesitate to leave towns and cities and strong fortresses behind him, while aiming for the main army of the enemy, the destruction of which he very well knew would give him possession of the enemy's country and everything in it. By this simple system of warfare, and only by this system, can this rebellion be put down.

The rebels have boastingly told us, and repeatedly, that we may take Charleston, Richmond, Vicksburg and Mobile, but that while they have three hundred thousand soldiers in the field they can still maintain the war. These rebel strongholds are only important in proportion to the rebel troops, the artillery, factories and warlike stores and lines of communication which they cover. Corinth, while the army of Beauregard was there, was a desirable place of capture; but after his evacuation with his troops, artillery, &c., it was of no account. But all these rebel strongholds may be turned by the simple programme of two grand armies, one East and one West, striking at the main armies of the rebellion by interior lines, instead of operating around the edges of a great circle.

We rely upon the practical common sense of President Lincoln to try this plain and infallible system in the Southwest; for surely, after the anaconda system has had two years of trial, and has been found to be advantageous only to the enemy, we may hope that in this impending campaign it is to be abandoned.

Curious Confessions of a K. G. C.

THE REBELS TO EVACUATE RICHMOND, AND WITH THE CO-OPERATION OF NORTHERN TRAITORS, TO SEIZE WASHINGTON.

The Philadelphia Enquirer publishes the following, which it says it received from a trustworthy source:

"A man, of respectable connections, who resided for some years near Dillsburg, Pa., died a few days since at his home. A few hours previous to his death he called a few friends around, and intimated to them that he could not die peaceably without relieving his conscience of a weight which burdened it.

"He confessed that he was a Knight of the Golden Circle, which order was secretly and extensively represented in most northern cities. He stated that regular and general communication was carried on between the headquarters of the 'Knights' and the cabinet of Jeff. Davis. That he was cognizant that the rebel War Department had arranged with the organization of which he was a member to evacuate Richmond, for the purpose of drawing the federal force that far South, and while their attention was there engrossed, the rebel army, by a quick flank movement, would descend in full force upon Washington, and, aided by a general uprising of the Knights in Pennsylvania and other northern states, capture the city and seize upon the government by force, leaving our army South at liberty to desolate at the expense of retaliation in their own states.

"This is no fabrication, but unquestionable authority furnishes this confession of a dying man on a subject now familiar to the residents of the district wherein he resided."

IMPORTATION OF IRON.—A Washington letter to the Baltimore Sun says: It is a remarkable fact that notwithstanding the high duties on imported iron, our manufacturers of muskets rely chiefly upon England for the supply of the material by which they will be enabled to fulfill their contracts. Some large contractors have been embarrassed by the rise of exchange, as they can neither import gun barrels nor iron at rates which will leave them a profit on their contracts.

THE COINAGE OF CENTS AT THE PHILADELPHIA MINT.— During the last week 53,000 nickels were coined at the United States Mint. This is at the rate of $27,560 00 per annum in the manufacture of that insignificant coin alone. The transactions at the Mint beyond the coinage of nickels do not amount to much at present.

MRS. SEMMES wife of the captain of the pirates Alabama, who has been residing all winter in Cincinnati, has been ordered under the recent proclamation of Gen. Burnside, to prepare to cross the lines into Dixie.

NEW MEXICO.—A gentleman who has just reached Leavenworth from New Mexico informs the Times that the people of that territory are moving for its organization as a state.

STERLING'S

AMBROSIA FOR THE HAIR.

This is to certify that about eighteen months ago I commenced using Sterling's Ambrosia. My hair was short, thin and rapidly falling out. I had tried many Hair Tonics, Invigorators, &c., without receiving any benefit. Soon after using the Ambrosia, my hair ceased falling out, and commenced growing rapidly as to astonish me. Now my hair is thick, soft and glossy, and is five feet four inches in length—when let down, reaching to the floor. This wonderful result I attribute solely to the use of Sterling's Ambrosia, as since I commenced using it I have applied nothing else to my hair.

Mrs. L. A. BROWN,
No. 492 Broadway, New York.

We advise young persons, whose hair is beginning to fall out, to take warning in time, and save their hair, by using the Ambrosia. To those who have already lost their hair, the free use of the Ambrosia will surely restore it, as it has done for thousands.

Dr. STERLING'S AMBROSIA is a stimulating, silky extract of Roots, Barks and Herbs. It will cure all diseases of the scalp and itching of the head; eradicate dandruff, prevents the hair from falling out, and from turning prematurely gray, causing it to grow thick and long. It is entirely different from all other preparations, and can be relied on. It is a well known fact to thousands in the city of New York, that this is the only article yet discovered, that will cure the disease of the scalp, and cause the hair to grow.

Price $1 per box, containing two bottles.

We have put up and sold this article for over ten years, and can say, in confidence and truth, of it what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—never has it failed in a single instance to effect a cure, when timely used. Never did we know an infant or child distress from pain or disease, under the use of it, that did not immediately relieve itself by its operations, and speak in terms of commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "what we know," after ten years' experience, and pledge our reputation for the fulfilment of what we say. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.
