CIRCULATE THE DOCUMENTS.—The Great Speech of General Butler on the War, which we have published in pamphlet form, is an excellent document for general circulation. We are glad to find so great a demand for it. We have already exhausted a first edition, but can fill all orders promptly.

TRAITORS IN THE ARMY.—Some traitors in the army on the Rappahannock had contrived to lay a telegraphic wire across the river, and were communicating with the enemy. A rebel soldier called across to one of ours, "How are you, Yank? Ain't those eight days rations mouldy yet?" This led to a careful investigation, and the result was the discovery of the instrument and the operators in a building on the river bank. They were all arrested; and as the penalty is death by hanging, they will doubtless get the full benefit of the law.

Liberty and Union an Tennessee.

Every day is vindicating the wisdom of the policy of emancipation, and proving the truth of the proposition, that Slavery and Union are incompatible—that to preserve the one is to destroy the other. Maryland and Missouri are both moving earnestly in the work of emancipation, and long before the end of this decade they will both be free States, and they are doing so because their people are resolved to adhere to the Union; because they understand the question of slavery, and because they know that they can only hope to have peace and unity by its abolition.

The Union men of Tennessee are taking the same ground. The following Declaration of Principles was adopted unanimously on the evening of the 21st, at a full meeting of the Nashville Union Club, "every one of whom, (says a letter from a citizen of Nashville, well known in this city,) is a legal voter, and can exercise his right in Tennessee to-day if he wishes. They are therepresentatives of nearly every county in the State, and they are men who have made great sacrifices for the Union, and none, I think, are disposed to take any steps backward."

A Declaration of Principles by the Nashville Union Club, Numbering 578 Members. Unanimously adopted at the Meeting of said club on the 21st April, 1863.

We, a portion of the loyal citizens of Tennessee, having associated ourselves under the name of the "Nashville Union Club," wishing to prevent any misapprehension relative to our objects, deem it our duty to declare to the people of the United States, the leading principles and sentiments we entertain.

We declare ourselves to be true and loyal citizens of the United States and claim to be entitled to all the immunities arising therefrom, and under all the obligations appertaining to such citizenship. We support the Constitution of the United States, and cling to it as the palladium of our liberties. We are "Union men," and being convinced that our peace, prosperity, and happiness depend upon the preservation of the Federal Union, we are in favor of maintaining it, at all hazards and to the last extremity, with or without slavery. We uphold the Government of the United States, and declare ourselves to be the friends of its friends, and foes of its foes. We desire to be treated as friends, by the unconditionally loyal in all the States of the Federal Union.

We recommend the organization of Union Clubs, or Leagues, in Tennessee, for the purpose of securing the benefit of mutual counsel and advice, and the restoration of law and order; of promoting the general welfare, and securing the blessings of liberty to ourselves and posterity; of assisting the civil and military authorities, by furnishing reliable information, such as may be needful to guard them against imposition from rebel sympathizers; and, of aiding the Government of the United States in every way to the fullest extent of our ability, in suppressing this unjustifiable, unnecessary and monstrous rebellion.

We are for a vigorous prosecution of the war, until the rebels throw down their arms without conditions, and for depriving the rebel master of his slave, and every other species of property, as one of the measures of punishment for his treason. We heartily approve of, and hereby pledge ourselves to, the support of the President of the United States, in all measures deemed needful for the suppression of the rebellion.

We are for depriving disloyal citizens and seditious office-seekers of the Northern States, of all temptation to bid for Southern votes, by establishing the policy, once for all, that no one now in arms against the Government or in any way in the interest of the rebellion, and especially no disloyal slaveholder, shall ever share in ruling the destinies of this nation at the ballot box, until at least as much time has elapsed as is required of unbiased and unprejudiced foreigners, before exercising the same franchise; or until it shall have become evident, that in their family and social circles, feelings of patriotism have supplanted those of treason.

And inasmuch as many of the once honored citizens of Tennessee, have proved themselves recreant, and unable to appreciate a good Government, we cordially invite the lovers of freedom in every land to settle in our midst, and unite with us in perpetuating the blessings of republican institutions. And we do now declare it to be the duty of all Union men throughout the State, to exert their influence so to shape our institutions, as to give every possible inducement to immigration.

We do most solemnly affirm, as the result of our life long acquaintance, and of our intimate familiarity with all its workings, that the institution of slavery tends to dishonor labor and smother enterprise; is incompatible with an intelligent public policy, sound morality, the safety and permanency of the Republic, the development of the resources of the State; that it roots out the industrious, and has the effect of lessening the free population of the country.

We, therefore, hold it to be the true interest of the people of this Commonwealth to abolish the institution of slavery at the earliest practicable period within which the emancipation of slaves can be effected, with safety to the slaves and justice to loyal masters.

A GOOD SUGGESTION.—In the pockets of each of three Ohio deserters, who are to be shot in Western Virginia next week, letters were found from their fathers advising them to desert. Governor Tod has advised the President to shoot the fathers instead of the sons.

The Impending Struggle in Tennessee.

A Murfreesboro letter of the 22d inst., which we find in the Cincinnati Gazette, thus presents the status quo of the two great armies that now confront one another in Tennessee:

What seems a dead quiet here is, in reality, not such. Both upon our side and that of the enemy there is a restless activity, which one unacquainted with the chess-play of contending armies finds it difficult to reconcile with the almost utter absence of conflicts and battles.

But I am convinced that victories are lost and won frequently without a sword being drawn from its scabbard. The attitude of the forces of Johnston and Rosecrans, for the past two months, has been that of two practiced swordsmen, who will fence and parry for an hour together without either receiving a scratch. Yet the well-aimed blow which is turned, or the dexterous thrust which is parried, is as much an advantage gained or lost as though the sword's point had reached the body and drawn blood therefrom. Thus, the contest between the swordsmen is never thus decided; and by and by, when each has sufficiently tested the skill and strength of the other, a bolder and more desperate effort on the part of one, a concentration at some decisive moment of all his strategy and energy, completes the work and finishes the contest, either by wounding or disarming his antagonist, or by laying him dead at his feet.

The history of the Union and rebel armies in Middle Tennessee for the past two months, is the history of just such a sleepless trial of vigilance and skill as that between the swordsmen. The rebels seem not to rest even for an hour. At times a series of demonstrations will commence on one of our wings, and extend entirely round to the other, as though the rebels would examine every portion of the charmed circle within which lies the Union army, and discover, if possible, its vulnerable point. But wherever he looks he finds himself confronted by armed men ready, if he desires, to accept his challenge and try conclusions with him. Checked in this manner, he quietly withdraws, and not a gun is fired upon either side. So, too, the enemy while he is making demonstrations upon our lines, suddenly discovers that Reynolds or Wilder is threatening his own, and at once begins a series of withdrawals or counter movements to check or baffle the supposed design. And thus the ceaseless movement goes on, and the observer constantly beholds bodies of troops marching and countermarching, going this way and that without any apparent object.

But by and by all this preliminary play will be over, and all Middle Tennessee will tremble with the tread of mighty hosts and the shock of contending arms. Both armies are strong and confident. The opposing generals are well aware of the magnitude of the stake for which they play. The most superficial observer can appreciate the beneficent results to the Union cause which would attend the expulsion of the enemy from East Tennessee, while the rebels universally believe, as their prisoners say, as their presses indicate, and as their private letters (a large number of which I have recently read) declare that if they could only succeed in crushing Rosecrans, it would be equivalent to the triumph of the rebellion. Only yesterday I read an epistle, written by a prominent "secesh," which ardently sighed for peace, and expressed a belief that Rosecrans and his army were the only obstacles to its attainment. With what absorbing interest will the nation and the world gaze upon the momentous conflict about to take place in Middle Tennessee! Let the loyal take heart. We have here all the materials for achieving success, and, better still, a LEADER who knows how to use them.

Sublimely Ridiculous.

The Post, of yesterday morning, says:

"The Democracy of the loyal States are determined that this Democratic government, which, under Democratic tuition, reached so magnificent a position amongst the nations of the earth, shall be perpetual. They have taken their everlasting stand upon this point, and they will accomplish their country's salvation. They are the only party in the country capable of saving it from the violence of rebels in arms, and the no less dangerous designs of abolitionists."

We suppose the editor of the Post had the "magnificent" administration of JAMES BUCHANAN, with his cabinet of traitors, in his eye when he penned the above. He brought us into a "magnificent position amongst the nations of the earth," truly, when, like a trembling coward, he proclaimed to the universe that he had no power to coerce those who, as open, flagrant, avowed traitors, were tearing the Union to fragments, seizing the public property, and trampling the national flag under their feet. A pretty party, to be sure, to "accomplish their country's salvation!"

Emigration of English Operatives.

It is strongly urged by many influential public men in England that emigration is the only effectual relief for the distress in the cotton manufacturing districts; and the Government and benevolent persons are called upon to raise an emigration fund. Of course the movers of this project propose that the British colonies shall be the exclusive recipients of this overflow, or outflow, of the population of the "northern country." But the New York Evening Post remarks:

Doubtless many of the Lancashire men would sooner remove to Illinois or the farther west, than to Australia or to frozen Canada. It seems to us that in this they might be assisted by us. Our farmers in the West greatly need help; many individuals have already sent out to England and Ireland for hands; in spite of several cases where a club of farmers has dispatched an agent abroad to choose and bring back proper men, with their families. What has thus been begun might at this time be done on a greater scale; and an emigration aid society, with a considerable capital, would, we should think, prove a speculation not only remunerative to the association, but profitable to the country.

Not only in the West could these people be settled; but why should they not be allowed to acquire the lands in the South which have been abandoned by the rebellious planters? There would be in this a just retribution: it is the rebels who made these people breadless; let the rebel lands supply them with corn. On several accounts these settlers would be useful in the South; for they have no prejudice against the blacks, and they are ardent haters of slavery.

THE WORLD MOVES.—The Union Club of Nashville recently passed an anti-slavery resolution, which would not have sounded amiss even in a meeting in Boston. It declares that slavery dishonors labor; smothers enterprise; is incompatible with intelligent, sound morality and the permanency of the republic; that it prevents the development of the resources of the state, drives out the industrious, lessens the free population of a free country, and should be abolished as soon as compatible with the safety of slaves and the interests of loyal masters.

REV. J. B. ROGERS, chaplain of the 14th Wisconsin regiment, who has been in charge of the freed blacks at Cairo for some months, confirms a statement which appeared in the papers last fall, of the fiendish barbarity of the rebels in Northern Alabama, which was so monstrous as to be received with incredulity. He says that the rebels actually butchered about a thousand blacks to prevent them falling into the hands of the Union army. Two hundred were confined in a large building, the building fired, and every one of them burned to death.

CINCINNATI has followed up her good deed of electing a loyal Mayor by lending to the government nearly half a million of dollars, lying idle in her city treasury.

STERLING'S

AMBROSIA FOR THE HAIR.

This is to certify that about eighteen months ago I commenced using Sterling's Ambrosia. My hair was short, thin and rapidly falling out. I had tried many Hair Tonics, Invigorators, &c., without receiving any benefit. Soon after using the Ambrosia, my hair ceased falling out, and commenced growing so rapidly as to astonish me. Now my hair is thick, soft and glossy, and is five feet four inches in length—when let down, reaching to the floor. This wonderful result I attribute solely to the use of Sterling's Ambrosia as since I commenced using it I have applied nothing else to my hair.

MRS. L. A. BROWN,
No. 493 Broadway, New York.

We advise young persons, whose hair is beginning to fall out, to take warning in time, and save their hair, by using the Ambrosia. To those who have already lost their hair, the free use of the Ambrosia will surely restore it, as it has done for thousands.

DR. STERLING'S AMBROSIA, is a stimulating, self-extract, of Roots, Barks and Herbs. It will cure all diseases of the scalp and itching of the head; entirely eradicates dandruff, prevents the hair from falling off, or from turning prematurely gray, causing it to grow thick and long. It is entirely different from all other preparations, and can be relied on.

It is a well known fact to thousands in the city of New York, that this is the only article yet discovered that will cure the disease of the scalp, and cause the hair to grow.

Price $1 per box, containing two bottles.
