THURSDAY MORNING, APRIL 30.

A Day of Fasting and Prayer.

The President of the United States having, by the following Proclamation, appointed this day as a day of Fasting and Prayer, we shall not issue a paper this evening nor to-morrow morning. The EVENING GAZETTE will be published as usual to-morrow.

A PROCLAMATION.

By the President of the United States of America.

WHEREAS the Senate of the United States, devoutly recognizing the Supreme Authority and just government of Almighty God, in all the affairs of men and of nations, has, by a resolution, requested the President to designate and set apart a day for National prayer and humiliation:

And whereas it is the duty of nations, as well as of men, to own their dependence upon the overruling power of God, to confess their sins and transgressions; in humble sorrow, yet with assured hope that genuine repentance will lead to mercy and pardon, and to recognize the sublime truth announced in the Holy Scriptures and proven by all history, that those nations only are blessed whose God is the Lord.

And, insomuch as we know that, by His divine law, nations, like individuals, are subjected to punishments and chastisements in this world, may we not justly fear that the awful calamity of civil war, which now desolates the land, may be but a punishment inflicted upon us for our presumptuous sins, to the needful end of our national reformation as a whole People? We have been the recipients of the choicest bounties of Heaven. We have been prosperved, these many years, in peace and prosperity. We have grown in numbers, wealth, and power as no other nation has ever grown. But we have forgotten God. We have forgotten the gracious hand which preserved us in peace, and multiplied and enriched and strengthened us; and we have vainly imagined, in the deceitfulness of our hearts, that all these blessings were produced by some superior wisdom and virtue of our own. Intoxicated with unbroken success, we have become too self-sufficient to feel the necessity of redeeming and preserving grace, too proud to pray to the God that made us!

It behooves us, then, to humble ourselves before the offended Power, to confess our national sins, and to pray for clemency and forgiveness.

Now, therefore, in compliance with the request, and fully concurring in the views of the Senate, I do, by this my proclamation, designate and set apart Thursday, the 30th day of April, 1863, as a day of national humiliation, fasting, and prayer. And I do hereby request all the People to abstain on that day from their ordinary secular pursuits, and to unite, at their several places of public worship and their respective homes, in keeping the day holy to the Lord, and devoted to the humble discharge of the religious duties proper to that solemn occasion.

All this being done, in sincerity and truth, let us then rest humbly in the hope, authorized by the divine teachings, that the united cry of the Nation will be heard on high, and answered with blessings, no less than the pardon of our national sins, and restoration of our now divided and suffering country to its former happy condition of unity and peace.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand, and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington this thirtieth day of March, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three, [L. s.] and of the independence of the United States the eighty-seventh.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

By the President:
WILLIAM H. SEWARD, Secretary of State.

We believe that this recommendation of the Chief Magistrate of the nation will be generally observed; for the fitness and propriety of humbling ourselves as a whole people before the Most High, confessing our national sins and invoking his blessing upon our efforts to save the country from its enemies, must be felt by all. There is more hope in this proposed observance than in any which we have ever had; for, as far as he had power to do it, the head of the nation has complied with the divinely prescribed conditions of an acceptable fast, as expressed in these energetic words:

"Is not this the FAST that I have chosen? to loose the bands of wickedness, to undo the heavy burdens, TO LET THE OPPRESSED GO FREE, AND THAT YE BREAK EVERY YOKE."

Movements of the Rebels Reported at New Orleans.

A New York journal, referring to the late news-arrivals from New Orleans, says:

"Correspondence from New Orleans to the 18th, represents that the secessionists there are greatly depressed by General Banks's recent successes, while the Unionists are correspondingly elated. It is added that a mysterious silence is observable in secesh circles, from which it is inferred that some mischief is on foot. It is said that the rebels are sending large forces from Port Hudson to Jackson. The secesh say these forces are to go to Mobile, and others think they are going to Charleston. A few think it possible that they are to go to New Orleans."

—None of these theories of the speculative classes in New Orleans will be verified by the ascertained destination of the forces referred to, as we think can now be shown. A reference to our dispatches will furnish some additional evidence, to much that we have been reporting for weeks past, that the rebels have long been contemplating, and are now actually carrying out a concentration of their forces in Tennessee, to meet and if possible to overpower Rosecrans' army, should he attempt to advance into East Tennessee. If the rebels have despaired of holding Port Hudson, or Vicksburg, doubtless they have been quietly withdrawing their troops from either, or both, and sending them by way of Jackson to reinforce their army now confronting Rosecrans near Tullahoma. Perhaps they will one of these days feel strong enough to attack Rosecrans, without waiting for him to advance—and our boys, we learn, are earnestly hoping that they will. In that case, for the first time during the war, our brave fellows would have the advantage of fighting in a position which they had both chosen and fortified. But the rebels are too shrewd to make such an attack—neither will Rosecrans be drawn from his strong position to fight at a disadvantage elsewhere,—so that, after all, there may be no battle in that quarter for sometime yet.

English Opinions on English Outrages.

Slowly but surely is the innate sense of right and justice, which, when not too much warped by prejudice and pride of caste, is natural to Englishmen, gaining strength in England. At a great meeting in Manchester, some of the ablest men in England spoke in energetic condemnation of the conduct of their Government in the matter of the Alabama. Professor NEWMAN took the strongest possible ground. "No man," said he, "should be elected to Parliament who is not in favor of paying an indemnity to the Americans for the losses inflicted by the Alabama." GOLDWIN SMITH, Regius Professor of History in the University of Oxford, a man of high literary reputation, and an eminent publicist, said:

"No nation ever inflicted upon another a more flagrant or a more maddening wrong. No nation with English blood in its veins had ever borne such a wrong without resentment. The case of the Alabama bore no analogy to the case of sale of munitions of war. She was not, like munitions of war, exported to the territory of the purchaser. She did not go—she never was meant to go—into a Confederate port; up to this moment she had never entered a port in the Confederate territory. Built and equipped in a British port, manned by British seamen, with the English flag flying, she went forth to cruise from an English port against the commerce of our allies. That was the substantial grievance of the American Government, and no technicalities of the Solicitor-General would make it otherwise than a heinous wrong."

A WOMAN was walking in a Philadelphia street the other evening, with a box of matches in her pocket, when she fell; the fall ignited the matches, her clothes were set on fire; in her alarm she started to run, thereby fanning the flames, and she became so badly burned that she soon after died in the hospital.

The Sentiments of a Noble Briton.

At a banquet given by the citizens of Edinburg to Lord PALMERSTON, the toast in honor of "Her Majesty's Ministers," was responded to by the DUKE OF ARGYLE, who holds the office of Lord Privy Seal, with a seat in the Cabinet. He spoke of the civil war in America with much candor and fairness. We quote a single paragraph, which will be read with pleasure:

Gentlemen, who are we, that we should speak of civil war as in no circumstances possible or permissable? Do we not remember that our own liberties have been secured through every form and variety of civil war? [Hear, hear.] How much blood has been shed in the streets of this ancient capital of Edinburgh? How many gory heads have been nailed up in its streets? How many victims of civil war crowd our churchyards in every portion of the country? How many lie upon our mountains with nothing to mark them but the heath or the cairn? What do we say of these men? Do we consider their course to have been an evil one? Do we not rather turn back to these pages of history, with the loving chisel of Old Mortality, to refresh in our minds the recollection of their immortal names? Yes, gentlemen, if it be true—and it is true—that the blood of the martyrs has been the seed of the church, it is equally true that the blood of these patriots has been the foundation of the liberties of our country. Let us extend, then, to our brethren in America the liberal interpretation which we seek to be given to our own former annals. I, for one, have not learned to be ashamed of that ancient combination of the Bible and the Sword. [Cheers.] Let it be enough for us to pray and hope that the contest, whenever it may be brought to an end, shall bring with it that great blessing to the white race, which shall consist in the final freedom of the black. [Loud cheers.]

The Late Rebel Raid Along the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

The Baltimore American, of Monday evening, thus speaks of the raid along the B. & O. Railroad:

We learn that the rumors of rebel approaches to the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, which have been in circulation for a day or two past, assumed quite a serious and threatening aspect on Sunday evening. During the day, on Sunday, movements of troops to the number of eight thousand were made on the road to strengthen points west of Cumberland at which attacks were threatened, and two regiments left Baltimore to take the places of those that were moved further westward.

On Sunday night two companies of rebel cavalry made their appearance at Rowlesburg, near the Kingwood Tunnel, but were driven off, and it is thought did not succeed in damaging the Cheat river bridge. The bridge was safe on Sunday night, but nothing definite has been heard from it this morning.

There has also been a rebel force for two days past not far from Clarksburg, threatening an advance on the road.

A rebel force of about four thousand men, under Gen. Boyd, left the vicinity of Winchester early last week, and it is thought have gone westward for a raid on the railroad. Measures were immediately taken for checkmating them, and but little further difficulty is anticipated.

We also learn that on Sunday morning the force then appeared on Rowlesburg during the night were at Altamont, this side of Oakland, and committed some depredations there, seizing a locomotive and train, which they started away with, declaring their intention to go to Oakland and Rowlesburg.

However, the intelligence from the road this morning is that the whole rebel movement has been checkmated, and that the entire road is in our possession, the rebels being driven off at every point.

IMPORTANT ORDER.—Maj.-Gen. Burnside has just issued an important general order. The need for such an order has been felt for some time past, for the Kentucky slave-owners, slave-drivers and slave-dealers, to whom it applies, and with whose practices it will seriously interfere, had risen even to the height of outrage and insolent defiance of the National Government in these practices of theirs. This General Order No. 53, published on Wednesday morning by Gen. Burnside, deals with the contraband question in Kentucky. The citizens of that State are to be protected in the possession of their negroes, but contrabands from other States, entitled to their freedom under the President's proclamation, are to be protected by the military authorities. All sales of such persons, under what are called by the kidnappers and their defenders the "civil laws of Kentucky," are declared void and of no effect. This will break up the infamous traffic carried on by negro stealers, whose conduct was bringing disgrace upon the people of that State.

SUBMARINE TELEGRAPHS.—The longest submarine telegraph yet laid is that from Malta to Alexandria, (Egypt) 1535 miles, with a maximum depth of 2,520 feet, or nearly half a mile. That between France and Algiers is 520 miles long, but reaches a maximum depth of 1585 fathoms, or 11,610 feet—nearly two miles—being about the same as that between the coast of Ireland and Newfoundland, over which the cable was laid in 1858. It is confidently predicted that before 1870 a telegraph will be in successful operation between Europe and America.

Editorial Rhetoric in Dixie.

A recent editorial in the Chattanooga Rebel says of the prospect of good health in Grant's army, recently entertained throughout the North: "Vain hopes! there was never an illusion so fatal. With every ray of the sun that falls from the bright sky which swells above them, comes but the shadow of the fierce light of summer heat, in every bud and blossom there is the deadly fever of the sickly season, and before the health and morals of to-day affect the desired result, the disease of the morrow will blast the bone and sinew of body and spirit of that great mass of men."

"A sky which swells," "shadows of fierce lights," and "bone and sinew of the spirit," are expressions only possible in Dixie, and may, without exaggeration, be pronounced good.

PRESIDENT LINCOLN HISSED AND SOUTH CAROLINA CHEERED IN PHILADELPHIA.—The Philadelphia Bulletin says that on Saturday night a Mr. R. E. Monegan, of Chester co., held forth at the copperhead headquarters, Walnut street, below Sixth. In the course of his speech he enumerated the the original thirteen States. The mention of the Northern and Middle States was received in silence by the copperhead crew; while each Southern State was greeted with cheers as it was named. When South Carolina was mentioned the applause was loud and long continued. The same traitorous set hissed when President Lincoln was spoken of. The fact that these treasonable conclaves are tolerated in the community is full answer to any charge that may be made that the National Administration is arbitrary, or that the loyal people of the North are intolerant.

A HOSPITAL chaplain makes the following suggestion in the Chicago Tribune: Will not every one who has a garden or a farm not every one who has a garden or a farm to cultivate, devote, on the one, an army acre, for potatoes, and, on the other, a soldiers' patch, for onions—should our heroes in the field need them, when matured? The labor and expense of such a work would be trifling; the good accomplished great. Top onions ripen soonest.

PROPOSALS FOR HORSES.
CHIEF QUARTERMASTER'S OFFICE,
DEPOT OF WASHINGTON,
Corner of 18th and G streets,
Washington, D. C., April 28th, 1863.

SEALED PROPOSALS will be received at this office until MONDAY, the 4th day of May, at 12 o'clock m., for furnishing the Government with (5,000) two thousand HORSES, of the following description, viz:

CAVALRY.

For Cavalry (1,500) one thousand five hundred Horses, from (15½) fifteen and one-half to (16) sixteen hands high, between five and eight years of age; of dark colors; well broken to the saddle; compactly built, and free from all defects.

ARTILLERY.

For Artillery (500) five hundred Horses, from (15½) fifteen and one-half to (16) sixteen hands high, between five and eight years of age; of dark colors; free from all defects; well broken to harness; compactly built, and to weigh not less than 1,100 pounds.

PROPOSALS.

The full name and post office address of the bidder must appear in the proposal.

If a bid is made in the name of a firm the names of all the partners must appear, or the bid will be considered as the individual proposal of the party signing it.

Proposals from disloyal parties will not be considered, and an oath of allegiance will be required from successful bidders before signing contracts.

Proposals must plainly clearly whether the bid is for Cavalry or Artillery Horses, and if so one must both be bid for on the same paper.

If any bidder wishes to propose for both classes, he must forward two distinct proposals—one for each class, complete in itself—and having no reference to any other proposal by the same party.

Proposals must be addressed to Col. D. H. RUCKER, Quartermaster U. S. Army, Washington, D. C., and should be plainly marked "Proposals for Horses."

Bonds equal in amount to half the sum to be received on the contract signed by the contractor and two responsible securities will be required of successful bidders.

Bonds must be present in person when the bids are opened.

Blanks for bonds can be procured upon application being made at this office, either personally, by letter, or by telegraph.

INSPECTION, DELIVERY, &c.

All horses contracted for under this advertisement will be subject to a rigid inspection, and those not conforming to the specifications will be rejected.

No Mares will be received.

The Horses must be delivered in this city, within twenty days from the date of the contract.

Payment to be made upon the completion of the contract, or so soon thereafter as the Chief Quartermaster shall be in funds.

The CAVALRY Horses will be awarded in lots of (20) two hundred each, and the ARTILLERY Horses in lots of (250) two hundred and fifty each, unless the Chief Quartermaster should deem it for the interest of the government to vary the number.

The Chief Quartermaster reserves to himself the right to reject any or all bids that he may deem too high.

D. H. RUCKER,

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

STERLING'S
AMBROSIA FOR THE HAIR.

This is to certify that about eighteen months ago I commenced using Sterling's Ambrosia. My hair was short, thin and rapidly falling out. I had tried many Hair Tonics, Invigorators, &c., without receiving any benefit. Soon after using the Ambrosia, my hair ceased falling out, and commenced growing so rapidly as to astonish me. Now my hair is thick, soft and glossy, and is five feet four inches in length—when let down, reaching to the floor. This wonderful result I attribute solely to the use of Sterling's Ambrosia as since I commenced using it I have applied nothing else to my hair.

MRS. L. A. BROWN,
No 493 Broadway, New York.

We advise young persons, whose hair is beginning to fall out, to take warning in time, and save their hair, by using the Ambrosia. To those who have already lost their hair, the free use of the Ambrosia will surely restore it, as it has done for thousands.

DR. STERLING'S AMBROSIA is a stimulating, oily extract, of Roots, Barks and Herbs. It will cure all diseases of the scalp and itching of the head; entirely eradicates dandruff, prevents the hair from falling off, or from turning prematurely gray, causing it to grow thick and long. It is entirely different from all other preparations, and can be relied on.

It is a well known fact to thousands in the city of New York, that this is the only article yet discovered that will cure the disease of the scalp, and cause the hair to grow.

Price $1 per box, containing two bottles.

MRS. WINSLOW, an experienced Nurse and Female Physician, presents to the attention of mothers her

SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN,

Which greatly facilities the process of teething, by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation; will allay all pain and spasmodic action, and is sure to regulate the bowels. Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and relief and health to your Infants.

We have put up and sold this article for over ten years, and can say, in confidence and truth, of it what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—never has it failed in a single instance to effect a cure, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in terms of commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "what we know," after ten years' experience, and pledge our reputation for the fulfilment of what we here declare. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

Which is for sale at
J. M. FULTON'S DRUG STORE,
ap22 FIFTH STREET.
