SEWING MACHINES.

CARD TO THE PUBLIC.

A FALSEHOOD EXPOSED.

For some time past an advertisement has appeared in the papers here, stating that Five Gold Medals had been awarded "the Howe Sewing Machine" at the late World's Fair in London, "one for the best on exhibit on for all purposes, and the other for superior specimen of sewing." Though aware at the time that the statement was wholly devoid of truth and a gross imposition on the public, we sorbe a notice it until such time as we could get an official copy of the Report of the Judges in the matter, so that we could give it a positive and authoritive contradiction. That Report, published by authority of the Commissioners of the Exhibition, is now in our possession, and shows how utterly untrue are the statements in the advertisement alluded to

At the World's Fair the WHEELER & WILSON COMPANY had but a single Machine on exhibition, while of the Howe Machine there were several on hand. In the official copy of the award, which may be seen at our rooms, 91 FIFTH STREET, it is stated that a Gold Medal was awarded the Howe Sewing Machine Company, not however, because their Machine was better, or as good as others for all purposes, but because in the language of the award, they exhibited "the best collection."

The "four medals" all said to have been awarded for superior specimens of sewing were never awarded at all, nor did the award "superior sewing" receive even the barren compliment of an "honorable mention" in the Judge's report. Compare this with the high compliment bestowed on the WHEELER & WILSON MACHINE. Though the Company, avoiding all pretentious display, had but a single machine on exhibition, it was awarded

A GOLD MEDAL ON ITS MERITS AS A FAMILY MACHINE, AND ON ITS MERITS ALONE.

These are the facts of the case, as exhibited by the official report of the Commissioners, and in justice to ourselves, as well as to secure a palpable and flagrant attempt at imposition, we have been constrained to lay them before the public. We repeat, therefore, that the WHEELER & WILSON MACHINE is the only machine which received a GOLD MEDAL on its merits at the late World's Fair, and pronounce all statements to the contrary, no matter from what source they emanate, a wilful falsehood and utterly false.

MISCELLANEOUS.

GENERAL ORDERS No. 106.
WAR DEPARTMENT,
ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE,
Washington, April 28, 1863.

The organization of an Invalid Corps is hereby authorized.

The Corps shall consist of Companies, and if it shall hereafter be thought best, of Battalions.

The Companies shall be made up from the following sources, viz:

First. By taking those officers and enlisted men of commands now in the field (whether actually present or temporarily absent,) who, from wounds received in action or disease contracted in the line of duty, are unfit for field service, but are still capable of active garrison duty, or such other light duty as may be required of an Invalid Corps. Regimental Commanders shall at once make out, from information received from their Medical and Company Officers, and from their own knowledge, rolls (according to the Form furnished,) of the names of all the officers and enlisted men under their control who will fulfill the following conditions, viz:

1. That they are unfit for active field service on account of wounds or disease contracted in the line of duty; (an fact being certified by a Medical Officer in the service, after personal examination.

2. That they are fit for garrison duty; this fact being likewise certified by the Medical Officer, as above, after personal examination;

3. That they are, in the opinion of their Commanding Officers, meritorious and deserving.

These rolls shall be certified by the Examining Surgeon and Regimental Commander, and transmitted, through the regular channels of military communication, to the Provost Marshal General of the United States.

The Provost Marshal General, on account of disability, shall order to the Invalid Corps, upon the report of the Examining Surgeon, those who shall, upon such report, be found to be unfit for active service in the field.

The Board shall then consider such men, and if the applicant is found to fulfill the conditions specified below, the Board shall give him a certificate to that effect, viz:

1. That he is unfit for service in the field.
2. That he is fit for garrison duty.
3. That he is meritorious and deserving.
4. That he was honorably discharged from the service.

The Provost Marshal for the District shall then send the applicant, with this certificate of the Board, to the acting Assistant Provost Marshal General of the State, who shall procure such evidence of service and character in the rebels of the Company to which he belonged, on file at the Headquarters of the State, may show, and if satisfied that it is a meritorious case, and that the man is deserving, he will assist him in accordance with such specific rules as the Provost Marshal General may establish.

Medical Inspectors, Provost Marshals, Medical Directors, Military Commanders, and all others having authority to discharge, under existing laws and regulations, disabled officers and soldiers, will give such men their discharges when they may be fit for service in the Invalid Corps.

The Adjutant General is charged with the execution of this order, and the troops organized under it will be under the control of the Surgeon General.

By order of the Secretary of War:
R. D. TOWNSEND,
my19:1mawS Assistant Adjutant General.

WM. B. BRADBURY'S
PIANO-FORTE ESTABLISHMENT,
No. 427 BROOME STREET, N. Y.

The undersigned respectfully invites the attention of his friends and the public generally to his Piano-Forte Establishment, at No. 427 Broome street, corner of Crosby street.

Having withdrawn his interest, stock and materials from the late firm of "Hughes & Bradbury," which firm was dissolved on the 31st January inst., and having purchased the entire stock of Piano-Fortes now finished, and in course of construction, intended for the Spring trade, I am now prepared to supply the business community with a superior article of Piano-Fortes, manufactured from the best and most thoroughly seasoned materials, and an unbroken experience of upwards of a quarter of a century in the practical supervision of the whole business of manufacturing this instrument, and its constant improvement, will be found to establish its superiority.

BRADBURY'S NEW SCALE PIANO-FORTE

In the arrangement of our new scale, during the progress of which the eminent Dr. Chickering was consulted, we have added every improvement which can in any way tend to the perfection of the Piano-Forte, and we confidently assert that for clearness of touch, volume, purity, delicacy and equalization of tone, combined with that strength and solidity of model necessary to durability, there is no instrument yet manufactured.

Dealers and the trade will find it to their interest to call and examine our stock, and we invite the closest criticism of the best instruments in the land. All our Pianos are warranted for five years. Instruments guaranteed for two years. WM. B. BRADBURY.

The Situation at Vicksburg.

The private dispatch, said to be from an officer in Grant's army, received at Chicago, is, up to the present writing, the latest news we have. Previous official advices of the 22d expressed the expectation that the city would be taken the next day, Saturday; but the "private dispatch," of Sunday, the 24th, although it does not say that the city was not taken on Saturday, does not say that it was taken, leaving it to be inferred that it was not. But it is possible that that private dispatch may have been gotten up to buoy up gold a little longer. On the 25th a storm interrupted telegraphic communication between Memphis and Cairo, which may account for the absence of later news.

Meantime, we have reports of various kinds through rebel channels. One is that the rebel navy yard at Yazoo City is destroyed. It was stated in Admiral Porter's official report of the 20th that he had dispatched a gunboat up the Yazoo for that purpose. The rebels, however, claim that the works were destroyed by themselves. It matters not who did it, so that it is done. Other reports spoke of Grant having been repulsed two or three times in his attempts upon the city; but these do not alarm us, as of course he would feel the strength of the works before making a grand assault. Another report states that Johnston had crossed the Big Black (probably to the southeast of Vicksburg) with 10,000 or 12,000 men, and entered the city. This may be true, and if true, it may postpone the capture for some time.

Others believe that Johnston is concentrating a heavy force in the rear of Grant. This occasions some anxiety; but as there are no considerable bodies of rebel troops nearer than those under Bragg, it will be a work of sometime. Meanwhile Grant lying in communication with the gunboats on the Yazoo, can also be reinforced if necessary, from Milliken's Bend and even from Banks's army from below.

Still, after all, there is equally good reason for believing that Gen. Grant may have taken Vicksburg on Sunday, for it was stated in our special dispatches yesterday that the rebels in front of Murfreesboro and on the Rappahannock have reports, which they credit, and which are a day later than we have direct from Grant, that Vicksburg was taken on Sunday. This is entitled to as much credence as any other report we have had since the date of Friday evening.

The Battle of Jackson.

The Cincinnati Commercial of yesterday has a letter from a correspondent written at Jackson, Miss., on the evening of the 14th of May, which gives an interesting account of the capture of that city:

The battle of Jackson was won by a simple charge upon the rebel forces. The details of the affair are as follows: The divisions commanded by Gens. Logan and Crocker, marched from Clinton this morning at six o'clock—Gen. Crocker in the advance. We expected to meet the enemy in force at least five miles from Jackson. Our troops moved cautiously through, encountering rebel cavalry pickets about three miles from Clinton. The pickets fell back rapidly until within three miles of Jackson, when we came upon their main force. The rebel position was a good one—on a gentle slope, with heavy timber in the rear, and on either side.

Their line was nearly three miles long, of which the 17th Corps engaged about one-half, Sherman, on the right, giving his attention to the other half. On approaching the position of the enemy, Gen. Crocker ordered the 1st Missouri Battery, of four Parrott guns, into position to feel their artillery strength. A reply from three batteries was elicited before long, and an artillery duel commenced which was continued for upward of half an hour without any decisive results on either side. The infantry were now ordered into action. The first move was a signally successful charge—a charge that should immortalize every officer, and fill with pride the hearts of all who admire true courage and heroic devotion to the cause of the American Union. No pen can reproduce this impression made upon the minds and hearts of all who witnessed it. The imagination of the mind has equaled it never attempted it.

A mile of open space lay between us and the enemy's work, (not of which was controlled by the well-served artillery of the foe. The task before our brave soldiers was to form on a hill in face of this terrible fire, and move forward to victory or death.

The first brigade, under Col. Sanborne, consisting of the 4th Minnesota and 58th and 59th Indiana, and the second brigade, under Col. Boomer, consisting of the 10th Missouri 17th Iowa, 38th Illinois and 38th Ohio, were selected for the bloody work. They formed in line and advanced steadily. They had two minute second and descend. The shot and shell from the enemy's batteries fell thick and fast, threatening destruction to all. The line began to waver. Some hearts began to quail as they approached the jaws of death. They halted for a few moments under cover of a hillside. Words of encouragement were spoken—by the commanding officer—every man was nerved to the struggle. "Forward" again, and the long line of heroes ascended the heavy slope, with colors flying and voices shouting.

Three minutes of double quicking, indifferent to an enfilading fire of grape and canister, and the fire of musketry at deadly range, commenced. Another minute and our men sent up the loud shout of victory, as the defeated foe left the field in panic-stricken haste. All was over. Nearly two hundred Union soldiers had fallen, but the day was won.

The rebels retreated in hot haste before the two brigades of General Crocker's division. Our generals thought they had fallen back to a better position, and made every preparation for another attack upon them. The two divisions of McClernand's corps followed them up closely in that direction, expecting every moment to hear from them as a second engagement. But, while we thought they were forming for another struggle, they were making the best of their way out of Jackson, as about noon, a heavy column of smoke rose from the beleaguered city. This might have meant, as it might also mean Egyptian darkness, but shortly afterwards, the mystery was solved by observation, that the column of smoke arose from the burning of the railroad depot and other buildings filled with Confederate stores.
