Roligion Descorated. When clergymen become the deliberate sevene of all men the most despicable and parkaps the most wicked. This truth has been verified in a very remarkable manner resently in the publication of "an Address to Christians throughout the World," in opposition to the President's Proclamation of Enhancipation. It was published in the Control President's Proclamation of Enhancipation. It was published in the Control President's Proclamation of Enhancipation. It was published in the Control President's President's Proclamation of Enhancipation. It was published in the Control President's President's President's President's President's President's Proclamation of Enhancipation. It was published in the Control President's Presid advocates of wrong and oppression they become of all men the most despicable and public safety that the slaves be slaughtered, and he who should write the history of that went would record the darkest chapter of human woe yet written."

With these men there appears to be no alternative for the poor negroes—to thousands of whom, doubtless, they, with their own hands, had dispensed the memorials of the dying leve of Him who came to make his people free—but slavery or death, bonds or butchery. The idea that they can be made free, that they are entitled to freedom, tade and use it peacefully, never seems to last, bearing a message from Gen. PENBERhave entered their minds. They talk of "alayes" being "slaughtered;" but why "alayes" being "slaughtered;" but why slaughter them? Does it not look like a diabelical predetermination on the part of the slaveholders, that unless they can bind the slaveholders, that unless they can bind the slaveholders, that unless they can bind the united States service, as the slaveholders, that mines they will slaughthe negro down to slavery, they will slaughter him? that he shall either live as a slave, or not live at all? Suppose they should soand his comrades were captured while tryThis we' coming a freeman, and agree to employ him as a free laborer, as has been done pretty extensively in Louisiana and elsewhere, would it then be necessary to

"slaughter" him? Many thousands of slaves have been set free by the war and the prodismation, and many thousands have been armed as soldiers; but where are the acts of outrage, rapine, violence and savage vengeance so confidently predicted by the "d of the South, now in arms, and their service co-partisans of the North? Not support the service co-partisans of the North? Not support the service of the North? It is to consider the support of the North? Not support the service of a confidence of Christians than the clerical secondards who talk about slaughtering them.

In all the Christian Church, ontside of the miserabledonals ruled by Jarr. Davil, comparison of the miserabledonals ruled by Jarr. Davil, this address will excite no other feeling than that of localing and disgust, partaking a little of the elements of horror. The thing exhibits the atrocity of what Wesley called "the sum of all villainies" in a stronger light and in blacker colors than every before. So long as Elavery was defined by Issolant, loud-spoken, profane and beisterous fellows, who did not pretained dither to fear God or regard man, there was some degree of consistancy in the matter of season degree of consistancy in the matter of the season degree of consistancy in the matter of the manufacture of the season degree of consistancy in the matter of the se we shall seem hear that if anything was yet wanting, to enlist the sympathies of all sineers. An ungent desired we shall street yet wanting, to enlist the sympathies of all sineers. An ungent desired was anti-filavery men in the success of our cause, it is the threat of the Southern elergysses, that an attempt of the segrees to obtain their freedom would be followed by a "staughter of tens of thesesands" of them. The man who signed this abominable sentence will yet learn that they made the strongest appeal to Europe in behalf of the Union come which has yet been issued from this country.

New Department of Pennsylvania-A washingten dispatch says:

John Covode and J. K. Moorheed had an interview with the Secretary of War on fisterday, in regard to making a new department, in order to enable Pennsylvania to protect hereelf from rebel raids or the incursions of guerrilles. Their wishes, it is sufficed to, and the nocespartient, in order to summer to summer the second of the protect havelf from robel raids or the second by the Alles of protect havelf from robel raids or the second server of the second server will be given at once.
