THE MARCE BY NIGHT.

After six hours' not at Kettle Bun, orders were issued to the brigade and division com-manders to hold their men in readinest to march. They had siready traveled a distance of forty-six miles in three days, yet the an-nouncement of their fenoral's command was reseived without a murmur of dissatisfaction, and shority after as a train passed them or Hooring, when he found that the snemy's main force had swung round in the direction of Fairfax and on the line of the Orange and Alexandria railroad, was asything but what some careless correspondents and equally careless editors have described it, that is, a "retreat," or "falling back" of our army from its position i Buch thoughtlass expressions ought to be rebuked—not only because they are also, in their infigures that are also, in their infigures that are also, in their infigures that are also, in their infigures they are unacquainted with the real state of the facts, most permi-clous in every way—mislesding the judgmant and filling the heart with discouragement.
