LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

From Yesterday's Evening Gazette.

The Draft in the 22d District.

The Enrolling Board commenced this morning to draft the quota required from the 22d District. They commenced with the First Ward, Pittsburgh, and are going on regularly through the list of the District. The manner of drawing is as follows: The names of all enrolled in each district are written on separate slips of paper, and when the quota of that particular district is to be drawn, the names are all thrown into a box; when The Provost Marshal gives the wheel a turn, when a man who is blindfolded puts in his hand and draws one ticket out. This is read aloud by the Provost Marshal, and duly recorded by the clerks. Then another name is drawn in the same manner—the wheel being turned each time.

The drawing is public, but the room is small, and only a few can be accommodated.

The following are the names drawn in the First, Second and Third Wards of this city—an addition of fifty per cent. being drawn for exemptions, etc.:

THE NEW YORK DAILIES.—Mr. J. W. Pittock, opposite the Post-office, and Mr. J. P. Hunt, Masonic Hall, Fifth street, regularly receive the New York Daily Papers—Tribune, Times, Herald, etc., etc.—which are now highly interesting, as they contain extended narratives of the late battles, illustrated with maps, etc.; also, much general news both home and foreign.

FROM HARTUP'S BATTERY.—We learn that two members of this battery were killed and six wounded in the late battles. The names of the killed are Adam Ruffing and Jacob Kerlin. B. F. Wyman was slightly wounded, and Lieut. Miller very severely wounded, and two others slightly. Mr. Wyman was wounded in the face. Private Marshall had a horse shot under him, but he escaped injury.

The Sanitary Committee--Address.

PITTSBURGH SANITARY COMMITTEE,
Office and Depository, No 69 Fourth Street,
PITTSBURGH, July 4, 1863.

FELLOW-CITIZENS: The severely contested victories, by which the recent invasion of our State has been repelled, at once afford ground for grateful congratulations, and involve the urgent duty of providing means for the relief of those brave volunteers who have suffered from the fierce conflict.

The quarterly report of this Committee, now in press, we trust will show that the liberal contributions you have entrusted to their care have not been misapplied. Of one of the early shipments to Murfreesboro, Dr. Reed, Medical Inspector there, writes "that the citizens of Pittsburgh, by this one shipment, have done more to increase the efficient force of the army, than they would have done by securing a full regiment of new recruits, involving an expenditure of $50,000 or $100,000."

All the supplies in the hands of the Committee suitable for the emergency were forwarded last week to Harrisburg, under the care of Mr. Irish and Mr. Shippen, but a further demand is expected, which, as our funds are exhausted, we shall be unable to supply. We, therefore, respectfully solicit your aid in this great work; confidently trusting that the liberality manifested in providing for the wants of our brave volunteers on the Mississippi and the Cumberland will not be withheld when the recipients of your bounty are your neighbors and relations, whose sufferings have arisen from their patriotic exertions in the new immediate defence of our own State, our homes and our firesides.

District Committees have been appointed to collect funds, by personal application, while all friends of the cause who can conveniently furnish linen, bandages, or other stores, are earnestly requested to send them to this Depository of the Committee, No. 59 Fourth street.

THOMAS BAKEWELL,
President Pittsburgh Sanitary Committee.
S. F. VON BONNHORST, Sec'y pro tem.

PITTSBURGH, July 7, 1863.

At a meeting of the Sanitary Committee, held Monday, July 6th, the following persons were appointed a committee to make arrangements for raising money for the care and support of the sick and wounded that may be sent to this city from the army near Gettysburg: Wm. M. Edgar, J. Dickey, J. R. McCune, J. D. McCord, F. H. Eaton.

In accordance with the above the following persons were appointed to collect funds in the several wards of the city:

1st Ward—David Pittsimmons, A. Getty.
2d do —M. Tindle, B. R. Bulger.
3d do —Jas. Montooth, Wm. M. Edgar.
4th do —John Horne, John Porter.
5th Ward, 1st Precinct—J. H. Realston, Capt. Crawford.
5th Ward, 2d Precinct—Joseph French, Francis Felix.
6th Ward—J. M. Brush, Jas. Blackmore.
7th do —Sam'l Barclay, Capt. J. Atkinson.
8th Ward—David Hutchinson, Francis Frederich.
9th Ward—J. B. Hill, Geo. Keyser.

The above collectors are earnestly requested to attend to the matter at once, as funds are very much needed. All moneys to be paid to James Park, Jr., Treasurer Sanitary Committee.

WM. M. EDGAR,
Chairman of the Committee.

Another Incendiary Fire.

On Wednesday morning, about three o'clock, fire was discovered issuing from the old Perry Hotel building, which had been recently fitted up as dwellings by the proprietor, John F. Perry. The dwellings were three in number, four stories high, and located on the corner of Hancock street and Duquesne Way. They had just been finished in good style for dwellings, and had not yet been rented. One of them was being occupied temporarily by the proprietor. The flames were first seen raging up the stairway in one of the vacant buildings, and it is supposed that either oil or shavings must have been put in the stairs, as it was impossible to extinguish the fire. The firemen were soon on the ground, and after laboring for several hours with great difficulty, owing to the hight of the buildings, the flames were subdued, but not until the building legs had been damaged to the extent of three or four thousand dollars. Mr. H. Perry, brother of the proprietor, has an insurance on the property, in the Franklin Fire and Marine Insurance Company, for an amount which will more than cover all the loss.

The Allegheny Steamer remained at the fire until late in the forenoon, and the services which she rendered were indispensable, as the flames several times threatened to break out afresh, and required constant watching. A member of the company requests us to acknowledge the kindness of Rev. I. C. Pershing, President of the Pittsburgh Female College, in furnishing the company with refreshments, which was very acceptable. The college buildings were not in danger, but Mr. Pershing was nevertheless mindful of the wants of the self-sacrificing firemen. It is a matter of regret that so few men remember the firemen under such circumstances.

Complaints are made that the alarm was not sounded sufficiently to arouse the firemen at a distance. When will this evil be remedied?

THE TOTAL REBEL LOSS 25 000!

The Rebel Army Concentrated near Williamsport

OUR ARMY CLOSELY FOLLOWING.

A Battle Probably in Progress.

&c., &c., &c.

BALTIMORE, July 7.—The American's special from Frederick says: Parties who left Hagerstown to-day report that the head of the rebel army had already commenced arriving there. There seemed to be indications that it was to be massed there to try a fight again with the Army of the Potomac. This is, however, very doubtful. The greater possibility is that Lee will push rapidly on to the river, if possible, and try to regain for his army on the soil of Virginia the confidence and prestige they have lost on this side of the line.

Sanguine people may dream of annihilating a great army, but the doing of this is next to impossible. In this case there are geographical facts which increase the difficulties.

The Potomac above Harper's Ferry makes a considerable bend northward, and Lee's line of retreat from Gettysburg to the river at Williamsport is shorter than any other route we can pursue. His own knowledge of an interior to retreat across it could become known to Gen. Meade, and consequent preparation for it, is equal to at least twelve hours' start.

Though the rebels may reach the other side of the Potomac without further punishment, it will not be for want of effort on our part to inflict it on them.

Our cavalry under General Pleasanton is on their flank, and will not fail to strike hard. Generals Buford, Gregg and Kilpatrick are miles in front of their advance. Our infantry columns are also where they ought to be. The South Mountain passes are ours; and with these evidences of further possible success we must wait results.

Comparing various estimates which reach me I think our captures in prisoners will reach 9,000 or 10,000. To this number is to be added the badly wounded, who will be gathered up all along the line of Lee's retreat, and stragglers and deserters whom, it is reported, are already gathering up by hundreds.

The Rebel loss, in killed and wounded, can hardly fall below 12,000 or 13,000, which will swell their total loss up to 25,000, or one-third total of the 75,000 man which Lee brought over the Potomac with him.

Of prisoners we lost none except a few officers, whom Lee was able to carry off. 3,000 of our men who fell into his hands he paroled, but this parole under terms of cartel is of no effect, because Gen. Meade formerly refused to agree to it.

It is reported that after Meade refused to accept the parole, Gen. Lee sent to Couch, who accepted it.

HARRISBURG, July 7.—The rebel army is now concentrated in the vicinity of Williamsport; everything indicates it is at that point. It will attempt the hazardous experiment of recrossing the Potomac into Virginia.

Our army is on its heels, closely following it up, and it is probable an engagement has been fought there to-day. This afternoon reports have reached headquarters that heavy artillery firing is progressing, but whether this was merely skirmishing to feel the rebel position, or a serious engagement, is not known. It is certain, however, that the coming battle will be by far the most decisive conflict of the campaign. It will take place immediately in the neighborhood of Williamsport.

CARLISLE, July 7.—The railroad bridge was finished to-day, and the road is now open to Scotland. The bridge, this side of Chambersburg. Between these points, for about three miles, the road has been destroyed, and also about the same distance between Chambersburg and Hagerstown. It is believed that there is no enemy now in this State.

NEW YORK, July 8.—We have advices from the upper Potomac, from Meade's army, highly encouraging. It would not be proper to state just now, what disposition of our forces has been made to intercept the retreating army, but if successful, they will soon be heard from.

Reports of a Furious Battle at Williamsport.

THE REBEL ARMY ROUTED AND PANIC STRICKEN.

12,000 of our Wounded at Gettysburg.

4,000 REBELS IN OUR HANDS.

The Rebel Loss about 30,000.

THE SURRENDER OF VICKSBURG CONFIRMED.

Repulse of the Rebels at Helena.

NEW YORK, July 8.—Washington specials say that the recent order of Gen. Halleck forbidding army officers remaining in Washington without special leave, will be enforced today. Gens. Hooker, Naglee, and other general officers, were arrested. Hooker got leave to stay, and the rest left on the train.

It is estimated at the Surgeon General's office that our wounded at Gettysburg number 12,000.

Nearly 4,000 rebel wounded remained in our possession.

We have 23 colonels and a host of inferior rank as prisoners.

The rebels lost 18 general officers. They estimate their loss at 30,000. We have about 13,000 prisoners, exclusive of wounded.

A Chambersburg special says there are now no rebels in the Cumberland Valley. They are trying to cross the Potomac with Mulligan in their front and Pleasanton in their rear.

Correspondence from Dix's army on the 5th, in the neighborhood of Hanover Court House, reports no change in the general disposition of our army. Keys' headquarters were at Baltimore.

Getty's division had gone to destroy the bridges at Hanover Junction.

A special from Harrisburg, on the evening of the 7th, states at 6 p. m., on Tuesday, a furious battle was raging at Williamsport, in which the annihilation of the rebels is considered as nearly certain. A later special reports that the whole rebel army was routed and in a panic. Throwing away arms, &c., and flying in every direction.

HARRISBURG, July 8.—No information of the rout of Lee's army has yet been received here.

A special dispatch to the Tribune, dated Washington, July 7, says: Information has reached here stating that our troops hold undisputed possession of the South Mountain passes.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—The War Department has received intelligence that official dispatches of the surrender of Vicksburg, are on their way to Washington. It has also received official advices of the repulse of the rebels at Helena.

HARRISBURG, July 8.—Telegrams received to-day from Loudon and Bedford say: Lee is between South Mountain and Hagerstown, and will select a place between South Mountain and Hagerstown and give Meade battle. It is considered that Imboden has a force of about 1,000 men at Williamsport, protecting the rebel trains, which are getting across as fast as his limited means will permit. It is raining in torrents, and the present flood would destroy any pontoon. Meade and Couch are tearing as fast as the roads will allow. A battle will probably occur on Friday or Saturday.

CAIRO, July 7.—The dispatch boat has just arrived here from Vicksburg. She left at 10 o'clock on Sunday morning. The passengers announce that Gen. Pemberton sent in a flag of truce on the morning of the Fourth of July, and offered to surrender if his men were allowed to march out.

Gen. Grant is reported to have replied that no man should leave except as a prisoner of war.

Gen. Pemberton then, after a consultation with his commanders, unconditionally surrendered. This news is perfectly reliable.

THE BATTLE AT HELENA, ARK.

THE REBELS BADLY WHIPPED.

ANOTHER ATTACK EXPECTED.

MEMPHIS, July 5.—Gen. Hurlbut has furnished the following extract from a dispatch from Gen. Prentiss:

Headquarters Department of Arkansas, July 4—10:30 a. m.—We have been hard pressed since daylight, by the combined forces of Price, Holmes, Marmadake, Parsons and others. Thus far we have held our own, and captured several hundred prisoners, whom I send you on board the steamer Tycoon.

The enemy is now evidently preparing for a renewed attack in force.

Send me another gunboat, if possible. The Tyler has done good service to-day.

LATER.—This afternoon we have repulsed the enemy at every point. Our soldiers are now collecting their wounded. We have taken in all, twelve hundred prisoners.

Their loss in killed and wounded will reach five or six hundred. Although the rebels were badly whipped, no doubt but that they will renew the attack at an early moment; and are now massing their troops for that purpose. My force is very much inferior to that of the rebels; but with the aid expected from you on the gunboats, the rebels may be severely beaten.

The steamers Tycoon and Silver Moon, arrived with 860 prisoners, captured yesterday, including 80 commissioned officers. The details of the fight have not been received. Prominent officers report our loss in killed and wounded, not over 60.

The rebels took six of our guns, which we afterwards re captured.

The colored troops fought well.

From Richmond.

NEW YORK, July 8—A special to the Times, Washington, says: Officers arrived this evening from the flag of truce boat, last sent to City Point, bringing back rebel news and files of a Richmond paper to July 4th.

Profound ignorance was exlating as to the whereabouts of Lee's forces and the progress of a great battle.

The rebel authorities have promptly ordered Lee's return. The belief was current that he was safe in the Shenandoah Valley.

The Sentinel and Enquirer, of July 4th, both contain accounts of a skirmish on the 2d instant between the rebel forces under D. H. Hill, and our troops under Col. West, near Bottom's Bridge. They claim to have driven our forces four miles to Tunstall's Station, and acknowledge a loss of only two men.

On the same day, they say 3,000 Federal mounted infantry, with artillery, went into King William county and captured nearly all of the Home Guard. They suppose Dix and Keyes to be making in a north-east direction to cut off the railroad communications.
