FRIDAY MORNING, JULY 24

Late Events in Madagascar Europe and America by no means seem to be interested in the island of Madagascar.
Of course Africa and Africa will eventually put in their claims to have some share of the world's attention, when Africa has done something to justify its position as a political entity. It is Africa to-day that has a history to record, which will read strangely even in this time of strange concoctions, because it bears the impress of a condition of society so diverse from our own.

The Draft in Maine, N. Y.
The draft in Maine, N. Y., came off on Tuesday. Trouble had been anticipated, but nothing of the kind occurred. The most troubling incident of the day was the refusal of the conscription officers to accept the names of the men who had been drafted, and who had been drafted.

Our Relations with England
