The Late Gen. McCook The father of the famous fighting McCool family, recently killed in Ohio in the service of his country, was a sterling `patriot, and a bold and fearless soldier. His first loss was In the first Bull Run, where his youngest son, a lieutenant in an Ohio regiment, was shot by a rebel, on refusing a demand to surrender His next was the death of Brig. Gen. McCook in one of the Western battles, and then Maj Gen. George McCook, who was murdered by genrillas near Nashville, while going to the hospital in an ambulance. There have been reasons in the service since the war broke out. Major McCook, the father, was a tall, athletic, white-haired man, full of saal and daring. The Major was a paymater in the army, and was on one of the gubboats that went un the river from Cincinnat to interest went up the river from Cincinnati to intercept Morgan. Major McCook heard that Colonel Frank Gurley, the murderer of his son, the lamented Gen. R. L. McCook, was with Morgan, and he determined to pursue him, and accepted a position on Gen. Judah's staff for scopied a position on Gen. Judah's staff for that purpose. His impetuosity led him to the advance. He was at the head of Gen. Judah's column early in the morning, when it was ambutenede, and the noble old man fell mortally wounded at the first fire. He lived two days—made out his will, and dictated mesages to his friends. His last words were: "I yield my life, a willing sacrifice to my country." Shortly after the battle of Ball's Binff the Major shouldered a musket and started off up the Pottomae from Washington, where he resided, to shoot rebels "on him we hook." He was in a small battle at Boltrar Hights, near Harper's Ferry, where he boast-Hights, near Harper's Ferry, where he boast ad of picking off several Rebels, and was him self wounded. The completeness of details leaves us nothing to suggest, unless it be, that the gallery shall be set spart for the accommodation of ladies, and gentlemen who may accompany them; and in this connection to urge that special pains be taken to ornament this portion of the house. This, and an invitation to the fair sax to grace the hall with their presence on the occasion, strikes us as well-worthy of the attention of the Committee of Arrangements.

Distressing Accident -- Man Killed. On Taureday noon, about half past twelve o'clock, William Beden, a teamster employed by Stafford Todd, was fatally ir jured at the metal yard opposite the Passenger Depot of the Pennsylvania Ralifoad. It appears that after having eaten his dinner, he laid down by the track in the shade of a car in the yard, and fell asleep. While in this state, a train of cars was backed into the yard, one of them running over his leg near the ankle, and dragging him some five feet to a pile of rigi-fron, where he was somewhat crushed about the chest and back. After being taken to a near house, and attended by Drs. Walters and Duneau, he was removed to his residence, at Depot and Bell's alley. Dr. Duneau went to the house and rundered all the assistance in his power to alleviate the sufferings of the unfortunate man. THE LATEST NEWS BY TELEGRAPH

FROM PHILADELPHIA.

Special Dispatch to the Pittsburgh Gazette. PHILADELPHIA, July 30, 1863. The draft took place to-day in the First, Sixth and Eleventh wards. Over 2,000 names were drawn. Great enthusiasm prevails. The people cheerfully respond to the efforts of the Government to suppress the rebellion. The Army of the Potomac occupies, it may be said, almost the same line as it did two months ago. Longstreet and Hill's rebel command is somewhere between Culpepper and Gordons-The impression is that the rebel army will endeavor to locate at Fredericksburg. Meade is reported to have thrown a pontoon bridge across the river without much opposi tion. The chances to gain Fredericksburg are in favor of the Union army. Heavy rain and wind storms have interrupted telegraphic communication to-day

Offensive operations by Gen. Gilmore are being actively prozecuted. Naw York, July 30 .- The Tribune's corre spondent says that our entire less in the late assault on Fort Wagner, according to official report, was 1,517. The rebels claim to have buried 550 of them. This extraordinary pro-portion of killed could only have been reached by the indiscriminate slaughter. The officers and men of the 54th Massachusetts (colored) regiment is not to be given up to us, and unofficial reports say that the ne-groes have been sold into slavery, and the officers are treated with unmeasured shuse. In fact all our wounded at Charleston have been treated most barbarously. Opportunities to amputate were eagerly selzed upon by the rebei surgeons, and it was performed in cases of the slightest gunshot wounds. On the left our batteries were advanced 600 pounders placed in position.
