The Drought on the Panhandie. The Wheeling Intelligenor says: Oid perthey known anything-like the continued raging heat of this Summer—capedially these August days. It has prevailed now almost without intermission since the middle of July, and the consequence is that the country is as parched and some as a prairie after a fre. We acticed in a ride through Ohio county into Brooke that the pasture was all gone and that the farmers were in a state of groat anxiety about their flocks this winter, insamuch as the hay crop was so unusually light as to amount to nothing at all scarcely. Many persons are relling off their sheep and others are driving them into sections of the occurry that hays into been visited with our drashill 'rought. Some sheep sold on Shert Oreek the of the day for a deliar and twelve cents and the other day for a deliar and twelve cents of the cruck of the drought is that it runs so une feature, of the drought is that it runs so une feature, of the drought is that it runs so une feature, which a reduce of twenty miles from Wheeling it at have suffered searcely any stall, and where the popular for all. On Satsons tell us that never in their lives have from Wheeling that have anticred searcely any at all, and where the people have not compilined of any special leak of rain. On Saturday night at Sethany it rained quite vigorously for's little spent, while half way between there and Wheeling scarcely a drop fell. And thus it goes and has goes since mid-summer all over this impediate section of country.
