

CITY AND SUBURBAN

From Yesterday's Evening Edition. Late from Richmond—Glimpses of Southern Life.

We are indebted to a friend for copies of the Richmond Daily of the 26th, 27th and 28th insts. This paper is now printed regularly on a half sheet of dirty brown paper, and is furnished to subscribers at only $20 per annum, or two dollars per month. From this we can see that the following glimpse of Southern life:

The financial affairs of the South present the most gloomy picture. There are three hundred millions of Treasury notes about, and they are being hoarded by the people. There is a reduction of the amount of money in circulation, which will have the effect of increasing the value of property. The Government will have to issue more money, and this will have the effect of increasing the value of property.

The Whig is very severe on the hotel keepers of Richmond. It says that the hotel keepers are more than ever before, and that they are more than ever before. It says that the hotel keepers are more than ever before, and that they are more than ever before.

Supreme Court. Chief Justice Lewis and Judges Woodward, Thompson and Strong. Opinions were delivered in the following cases: Boarder vs. Board. Judgment rendered and new trial awarded. Lewis, C. J.

United States District Court. Monday, Oct. 26.—Before Judge McCord. The case of the United States vs. Mrs. Martha Forest, charged with embezzling and converting money, was taken up. The defendant, Mrs. Forest, was charged with embezzling and converting money.
