The sale of spawn, for this purpose forms an important branch of trade in China. The fishermen collect with eare, on the margin and surface of water, all the gelatinous matters that contign pawn of fish, which is a then placed in an agg-sholl which has been fresh empired, through a small hole, which is then stopped, and the shell is placed under a setting fowl. In a few days, the Chinage break the shell in warm water, tweether helps help in water until they are large enough to be placed in a pond. This plan in some measure counteracts the great destruction of spawn by troll-fiels, which have caused the extinction of many fisheries.
