Mr. Clay in the Supreme Court. Wassingroy, Feb. 11, 1618.

This great Statesman and brilliant man made hi ame great oracement and under man made his argument, before the Supreme Court to day. He has not appeared there before for eight years, and very seldom indeed since he has been a public man as his field of lalor has taually been in anman, as his head or moor may usually over in a other Department of the public service. The scen presented in the Court Room was most complimen dary to Mr. Clay, and enough of itself to gratify th Sary to Mr. Clay, and enough of itself to grainly the ambidion of any mai seeking human spräuse.— The doors of the Capitol were happing open when the crowd began to congregate, and unit noon there were efforts, non ... of them fullie, to seek an entrunce to the Cape. Hoom. The andience, for himbers, intellections and builliancy has rarely been spratted. The ladies literally surrounded Mr. Clay, and crowde the Judges into a smaller space than they have ever been crowded before. There are breaks and next intranding the inwas a see of heads, and notwithstanding the in menso crowd, a death-like stillness, except when some jovial or playful remark of the orator c a smile or a laugh. There was wit, wisdom an power in Mr. Clay's argument. His introduction manner of that personaive kind of elequence which takes captive the judgment of the hearer. But most takes explice the jadgment of the heaver. But most plassing of all perhaps was his voice, clear, peno-trating and toned hice the sweetest instrument of music. It filed the Court room and reached far beyond, in appearance Mr. Clay never looked better than now, nor seemed to be in the epioy-ment of greatire strenth for finith and hody; He is streight as an arrow, and as firm in the movement of his limbs as in all his purposes. The argument to day would have done hone to the beal lawyer at the ber and the best ornior living. z. n. has subjected it to such unkind ren at the bar and the best orator living.

PEACE BUMORS.

Washington, Fab. 11, 1518. A Message received from the President to-day denice that any Peace Proposale have been received set since the constant of the project between the American Commissioners and the Commissioners of Merico. The statements to the contrary, the fort, must pass for naught, though they throw no fore, must pass for hanger, through they into a lo discredit upon those occurring in Mexico, out of which these rumors have grown. The best in which these runners are grown. The term is fermed persons of the Capitol, and those directly and officially connected with the Executive De-perturents, were the first to give currency to the proposals of Pesco,-and it is the subject of gene rail regret samong all good men here, that Peace beems to be as for off as over.

It is easy, however, for Congress to require th nake Peace, though, after trampling under foot as he has, I am not sur the Constitution under foot as he has, I am not ware that he would head such directions. He has as-sumed in its annual Message, that he will not make Peace unless his views of conquest are car-ried out, by the surrender of more than one-third of the Marine interiory. Nothing could give a more impressive view of the one man powerin this Gov-ernment than this fact. It is not even in the power of the Representatives of the People, though th places the war making power in the binds of Congress. All that Congress can do when sumption is practiced by the President in time of war, is to give such direction to the sup-plies as the Legislative branch of the Government usy, in their windom, determine best. FATR OF TRADE IN THE MANUFACTURING DISTRICTS. [Manuhater, Jan. 18.—Business is still far form exhibiting that saimation which was expected to characterise it at the opening of the year. The market continues languid and but a limited amount of transactions has inked place since Fridy last, and the similar and the similar and the similar data to day is one of wait of booynacy, and an indipo-silion to operate. While several houses still con-tinue pretry well engaged is long clotch, low prin ters dc., others find a very decided stagnation in the demaid for good they produce, and anticipate the general ger going principally for the sake of the operatives, the present prices for goods and years being uterly unternumerative to the spedoure. Upon the whole it may be said, that the market re-mains much in the same state in which it has been for the last week, there being no symptoms loday of anything like an approach to marked improve-ments.
