NATIONAL FOUNDRY.—In the House of Repre sentatives at Harrisburgh on Saturday, Mr. Williams, of York, submitted the following preamble posdent of the North American says: Wall street was thrown into a ferment about 20 clock, by the disappearance of a stock broker named True with about 34,000 in cash. He had got some 1890 shares of Harlem into his possession by giving checks, and then sold them out for cash. He is supposed to have taken the Northerner fur Charles-Coa, as a young man answering his description went on board about five minutes, before able left. One of the principal sufferers, for him thousand dollars, went South this alternoon in pursuit. A desegraphic despatch was also sent, and the gentleman will find an officer on the pier waiting to tender the hospitalities of Charleston to him.

The bil has recently passed the Senate of the United States, and is now pending in the House of of Representatives, to extend the patent of Jethro Wood for severe years, which he obtained in 1814, and renewed in 1819, claiming to have invented the cast-ion ploughshare, cc. This till proposes to grant to the heirs of Jethro Wood the privilege of exacting fifty cents from the manufacturer for every cast-ion plough made in the United States, for seven years after the passage of said bill.

As there are about four infilions of farmers and planters at present in the United States, and as each would require on an average at least one plough every four years, this privilege would be worth half a stillion of idellar ansually, all of which would be taken from the hard earnings of the planter and farmer. And what makes the matter more unjust is; that the interest of the heirs of Wood in this patent has been purchased for a mere along the service of the heirs of Wood in this patent has been purchased for a mere along the service of the heirs of Wood in this patent has been purchased for a mere along the service of the heirs of Wood in this patent has been purchased for a mere along the service of the heirs of Wood in this patent has been purchased for a mere along the service of the cast-fron ploughter to be company of greedy speculators.

The many and important public questions, however, now before the public, has left Congress brim full of discussion; and if these questions were not enough the fact that a President is to be elected by the people in the course of the present year would afford reason enough for the del which have taken place, and which are likely to continue for a long time to come. The which have been presented to Congress in the course of the present session, have been immense in the number of the signers. The whole body of the Society of Friends, from he far East to the far West, have prayed Congress to take such measures as will in sure peace. The Unitarian Societies of the East have memorialized Congress almost in a body; but most of the petitions are miscelteast nave-mean body; but most of the petitions are misses, laneous in their character, and signed by persons of all creeds, and probably by many persons are misses.

Mr. Hale rejoined that he would not play the hypocretic and vote thanks to officers engaged, as he had often said, in an unconstitutional and uncon morials have also been presented. Senators from the North and the South also continue to urge their respective views in regard to any territory which may be annexed to the Union. There are no less than four sets of these resolutions now-before the Senate,—two claiming for the South the right to extend slavery over-agury tegritory which may be annexed, and two denying the right.—Congress will hardly act upon any of these subjects, however, except in the practical form of a bill annexing territory. If such a bill is voted upon, an attempt will certainly be made to add to it the Wilmot proviso.

The Ten Regiment bill is moving slowly through the House of Representatives at the Correspondence of the Finsburgh Gazette.

Connery Merchants, purchasing by wholesale, is sent than four sets of then and a running debate, after which the resolution passed syes 48, says 1, (Hale.)

The special orders of the day were then post-posed, and the Senate west into Executive Sention, and afterwards adjourned without transacting any public business.

House—Mr. Evans moved the reconsideration of the voice ending the debate on the locan bill. Upon this the yeas and nays were called, and the motion of the voice ending the debate on the locan bill. Upon this the yeas and nays were called, and the motion lost, ayes 93, nays 95.

The Ilouse then went into Committee of the Whole on the loon bill, and a speech was made by Mr. Moorhead, followed by Mr. Pollock, and the debate was closed by Mr. Vinton. Several amendments were proposed, but the Committee adjourned without action.

Senator from the North and the South also continue through the House of Representatives at the rate of a speech a day, or one in two days. Last week there were three Democratic speeches for the bill and one Whig speech seen two to one. One of these speeches, nowever, was of a peculiar character, and from Mr. Hunter of Virginia. It made open war upon all ideas of conquest, or dism berment, or annexation, and portrayed in vivid colors the effect of wars of conquest upon a Republic like ours. This speech is the only carry out the policy of Mr. Calhoun, for a troops for that purpose to such a line as may be agreed upon. This speech is the only one which has sustained Mr. Calhoun's poliey out and out, though there are many, I think, who would be glad to see it adopted. What Congress may do in reference to the war, continues as obscure a subject as ever.

The House have passed joint resolutions of thanks to both Generals Scott and Taylor, ceived by Mr. Adams, one of the old comembers. It was laid upon the table, howver, as inappropriate. It would seem as if here was a large Peace party springing up n Congress, as well as in other parts of the ountry, for every day the friends of Peace
