THE SCOTT MERTHG.

We give in another column the official proceedings of the meeting of Tuesday night, to which we would call attention. The resolutions will be found complete, not only as a declaration of Whig principles, but as abowing how warmly the Whigs feel or General Scott, than whom no man deserves a remembered to the honor of the Whigs of Fenn-sylvania, that at a public meeting, "The Father of the American System," was charged with resigning his seat in the Senate to escape the reponsibility of voting for the tariff of 1812. But we forboar even remonstrance at the unfortunate means taken to el-evate one gallant Whig, at the expense of the life long resulting of one whose memory can never on, is too trivial to notice, to say nothing of its un. non, is to triviate notice, it is possible to the first truth, so far as the Gazette is concerned directly or indirectly. The Gazette has a single object in view and that, to preserve amid all the excitement of primary meetings, an independent, liberal and scrupulously inpartial position. The zealous President of the United State, on there is some trans of those name to make a feeling that their ground that between Congress and the People and Martio, the President, oven against his will and ambition, may be persuaded to peace.

E. D. thenes of those name to make the latter to make the sole name the sole course, in relation to all subjects affecting the inter-ests of the great Whig party. The day is yet to come when the Gazette will shrink from giving a blow for the good old cause, and the pu is yet to be made in which it does not extended and exact justice to all.

Mr. Cole the Artist.-We noticed a day of sension of the New York Gallery of Fine Arts, a their value becomes greatly enhanced by his dea Although these pictures are of themselves sufficie to stamp immortality upon the now cold brow their creator; still they were menely typical of will his genius would have given forth lad he'be permitted to remain in his mortal abode a few sh-years longer. At the time of his death, Mr. Cl was ongaced upon a series of petures which intended to make his great work, and great e-phatically they would have been, had he finish them. As it is, that part of the, series complete will excite universal unmiration. The subject have been deemed anything remarkable, out in a flecting, and which I deem worthy of arration, promage but progressive and fast living country like this, it is something ont of the common course of events.

The Hall of the House of Representatives yestered, not with the limit of the House of Representatives yestered, notwithstanding the day was a very rainy to come, was very full to hear the second lecture of one, was very full to hear the second lecture of Rev.
