The great Chartist Meeting was held yesterda a less formidable demonstration it would har be possible to conceive. It certainly did n ment any one of the fearful characteristics whit It is be possible to concerve. It certainly did not present any one of the fearth characteristics which the peaceable inhabitant of the metropoles had, for some days been led anxiously to apprehead. Pos-itively in contemplating the whole proceedings, we were often tempted to doubt whether the intel-ligence upon which the Government must have acted in this matter was not a loax, and whether the multipled and numonted precautions they had adopted to meet imaginary perils could have been asyluing but a dream. As a display of strength, as a menace to a gov-erament and to the quiet inhabitants of a great sity, the whole sflair was a downright and almost a lu-dierous fuller. In every respect, the men and boys who joined in the procession to the place of meeting, were as harmles as could well be ima-gined.
