THE ORATION OF MR. WINTHROP.

Mr. W. commenced by referring to the many previous testimonials of the people of the United States to the memory of Washington, and said one tribute more was left, the errection of a Monument, to be erected by contributions from citizens of each and every State in this happy I mon. On this day, said he, on this spot, in this presence, in this precise junctive of the history of our country—the day the time, the thousands of happy faces present were all felicitous—on this Fourth of July, on this sevenity second anniversary of the Independence of our country, we have assembled on this spot to commence the payment of a debt of national grant. brows, were present, and all come for the purpos of bearing witness to the greatness of the departe of bearing witness to the greatness of-the departed patriot; and the people thems-lives are present, and coming here in no official capacity, but for the sole purpose of bearing their beartfelt testimony to the greatest man the world had ever produced, they gave him assurance that the noble work this day commenced would be speedily finished—the people of the United States had the matter in hand, and when they commenced an undertaking of the kind their patriotism would never suffer it to go tartilly on.

In view of all these facts, does not common sense and common prodence, point to Pitt-burgh instead of Wheeling, as the proper terminus for any rail road in the State of Ohio, having for its object a direct communication with the Atlantacities. An affirmative answer must be given to this question by every candid inquirer after truth. We incline to the opinion, also, that the route from Columbus to Philadelphia, by way of Patt. burgh, is the nearest, and we are fully statisfied that a survey will show it to be decidedly the best and cheapest. Say, from Columbus, by way of Newark, to Coshocton—or by way of Newark and Zanesville to Coshocton,—and then follow the Tusterneeze. The able orator then went into a rapid sketch sense and common prudence, point to Pittsburgh instead of Wheeling, as the proper terminus for the citizens of Columbus, Newark, Zanesville, and Coshocton, to the important Izzt, that a company thas been chartered by the joint legislation of Pennsylvania and Ohio, to construct a road from Patisburgh to Massillon, and to such further point on the western border of the State of Ohio, as the company shall choose. This company is now organized, a board of directors has been chosen, and an eminent Engineer has been selected, who will enter upon the necessary surveys in a few days. This company is no humbug. The men engaged in it are of the right kind,—thorough business men, and they are determined to build the road without delay. All then that the citizens of Columbus, Newark, &c., have to do, to secure speedy rail road interoourse with Philadelphia, and of consequence all the other eastern cities, is to construct a road on the route we have indicated, or on any other and better one, if it can be found, to intersect the Pennsylvania and Ohio road, at Massillon, or at any point either east or west of that place.

We throw out these suggestions for the considered the greatest man in the body: he resident of the citizens of Oho, in the neighborhood of Columbus and Zanesville, who are now contemplating a road to Wheeling. We think they are deserving of attention, and if they can show any failacy in the reasoning, we shall be pleased to see it.

Mr. Westster and Gr. We think they are deserving of attention, and if they can show any failacy in the reasoning, we shall be pleased to see it.

ME. WEINTER AND GEN. TAYLOR.—One of the speakers at the late Worcester Convention stated that Mr. Webster' "sympathized" in its movements, and would not aid in the election of Taylor. The correspondent of the New York Tribune says in reference thereto:

Mr. Webster declaration of Taylor, the has made a like declaration electron of Taylor, the has made a like declaration within a week at Boston, and it will not be along time before he places his intention and position peyond the possibility of misinterpretation.

gers from every section of the Union, many having left their homes hundreds of miles off, for the purpose of taking part in the ceremonies of the day. The adjoining counties of Fairfax, in Virginia, and Prince George a, in Maryland, poured forth almost their entire population. Baltunore was represented by thousands. Boston, New York, and Philadelphia had also their delegations, and many other cities and towns sect on their representatives to help to swell the living mass that had assembled in Washington to do honor to the occasion. Persons who have lived in Washington a life time decare that the crowd of Tuesday was greater than on any previous occasion, and that the procession was the most imposing one that had ever taken place there.

At a few minutes before 12 o'clock, the various bodies composing the great pageant being announced to the Chief Marshial to be in readness, the procession began to move amidst the booming of cannon and waving of handkerchiefs in the hands of thousands of ladies who filled the windows of cannon and waving of handkerchiefs in the hands of thousands of ladies who filled the windows of cannon and waving of handkerchiefs in the hands of thousands of ladies who filled the windows of cannon and varying of handkerchiefs in the hands of thousands of ladies who filled the windows of cannon and varying of handkerchiefs in the hands of thousands of ladies who filled the windows of cannon and varying of handkerchiefs in the hands of thousands of ladies who filled the windows of cannon and varying of handkerchiefs in the hands of thousands of ladies who filled the windows of cannon and varying of handkerchiefs in the hands of thousands of ladies who filled the windows of cannon and varying of handkerchiefs in the hands of thousands of ladies who filled the windows of cannon and varying of handkerchiefs in the hands of thousands of ladies who filled the windows of cannon and varying of handkerchiefs in the hands of thousands of ladies who filled the windows of cannon and varying of handkerchie peals of applause, and when he concluded a sho went up that fairly rent the air.

The solemn ceremony of laying the corner stor was then gone through with according to the estab lished usages of the Masonic Fraternity. A list of of the articles deposited in it covered nearly six pages of foolscap, and embraced all kinds of political and statistical documents running through the entire period from the formation of the Govern-ment to the present time, portraits of Washington, magazines, payers, a history of all matters connec ed with the Monument Association up to the time of laying the corner stone, besides a variety of other cuments, &c.

Before the meeting of this Convention, and ever after it had met, relying upon the statements of it friends, we attached to it no little importance, as indicating a very considerable defection in the wever, have convinced us that it was, as far as secession from the Whig party is concerned, a failure, and that instead of being a cause of alarm. t has only exhibited the firmness of the Whigs nees. From many and contradictory statements, we have selected the following, from the Boston Daily Advertiser, as probably the fairest and most reliable The Advertiser, though decidedly Whig, is not tinguished for temperance and candor. We think that this attempt by the gentlement calling themselves Whigs to bring out on expression of public sentiment, which the result proved that they could not control: this effort of certain would-be leaders to assume the management of a party, eventuating only in their section from it, is a most fortunate event at this time. If they had not been, so read as to marshal their forces, if they had continued to deal in their guerilla warfare, and slarm the public by announcement of secessions of a whole Whig town here, or the adhesion of a Whig representative there—their force would have been much overrated and their influence much more important. Now that they have paraded their staff rank and file, this gathering influence sinks into comparative insignificance.

Mr. Calhoun is a pro-davery fanatic, and his oppnions on this subject I believe are not shared by any considerable portion of Southern slaveholders, certainly by none of the moderate and sensible men of that or any other section of the country.—
I do not think, therefore, that they are likely to be the opinions of Gen. Taylor. Gen. Cass is a demagging and would adopt any opinion which would promise to give him votes. He has already been on two sides of this question, and if he can find another side he will doubtless be on that. Now I believe Taylor to be an honest man, and therefore not likely to follow in the wake of Cass.

Gen. Taylor as given us a clue to his opinions on this question,—or at least to what would be his action upon it, more direct in my judgment than you conceded. He tells us list, that he will veto no act not "palpably unconstitutional",—and 2d, that "the objections of the Executive ought not be interposed where questions of Constitutional foreer have been settled by the various department of Government, and acquitised in by the people."

Now no fact is better established than that the principle embodied in the ordinance of '37 has been settled by the Government and acquiesced in by the people. This you show clearly in the very article from which the above extract is taken. The South itself has repeatedly conceded it. Congress has embodied it in enactments, and the people have acquiesed. Does not this, therefore, constitute precisely such a decision of the constitutional power in the premises, as Gen. Taylor says he will respect and carry out? power in the premises, as Gen. Taylor says he will respect and carry out? I am heartily and earnestly in favor of the principle for which you contend. By electing Gen. Taylor I think we shall secure it. I am anxious, therefore, that all who maintain it should give him their support,—and especially one capable of exerting so much influence in his behalf, professionally, as the Editor of The Tribine. the State from the destruction which we know by experience otherwise awaits it.

Second, Because with General Taylor we can elect a Free Soil House of Representatives. With him the Government will be administered with courage, patriotism and purity. It will be what the Constitution intended it should be, a government of the People, and the one man power which has so long tyrannized over the people, like a frightened glost before the coming morning, will steal away from the White House, at the approach of the Hero of Buena Vista.

The present volume has a new interest, apart from its merits as a sprighly and anusing book, from the fact that all litaly is now in a state of revolution, and new and free governments are forming on the ruins of the anti-quated systems of a burbarous age. Much useful information and pleasure can be derived from this work.

The "Vexed Question."

The reports made of the practicability of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad to terminate at Wheeling, are very contradictory. Mr. Jonathan Knight made a survey some time ago, and gave a very movemble report, but the second report, by a gendleman of superior ability, by the name of Latrobe, puts a new feature on the whole project. He is of the opinion that no such road can ever reach Wheeling—that the pouts is entirely impracticable. In a unless wiser counsels shall prevail in Baltimore in which case, the route offered by the Connellsroad be at once prosecuted in the direction of Pithburgh—a direction indicated by nature, cheap casy and direct, and which will, in every respect answer the object of Baltimore as well as a lower terminus.

But leaving the decision of this question to Baltimore, which it concerns more than Pittburgh—we ask the candid and earnest attention of the citizens of Ohio, who are now making efforts to build at road from Columbus to Wheeling, to the impracticable character of the route from Cumberland to cable character of the route from Cumberland to the cable character of the route from Cumberland to cable character of the route from Cumberland to the cable of the Cunterland of the Cunterland and earnest attention of the citizens of Ohio, who are now making efforts to build at road from Columbus to Wheeling, to the impracticable character of the route from Cumberland to the cable of the Cunterland to the control of reaching the Atlantic seabbard by that route .-Even if the Baltimore Company shall undertake to to charge extravagant tolls. In every aspect of the case, then, the prospect of reaching the Atlantic by Wheeling and Cumberland is exceedingly gloomy. Now turn to Pittsburgh. Here all is certainty abundant means, has commenced, and is prosecuting with unparalleled speed, a rail road from Philasurveyed, and the eastern division put under congood routes have been surveyed, and a third is under examination at this time. Aneedote of General Taylor.

Correspondence of N. Y. Tribune

Washington, Sunday, July 2.

While Gen. (then Col.) Taylor was serving in Florida, he captured many negroes in his condicts with the Indiana. Many of these necroes were claimed by persons in Georgia and Alabuma. Irom whose service or from the service of whose tablers it was contended they had escaped. Agents on behalf of the claimants were dispatched to Col. Taylor, seeking to recover them. Proof of identity of the persons claimed as slaves was proifered, and the right of property insisted upon. Col. Taylor refused to allow the claim, or even to examine it. He had come to Florida to serve in the army against the Irdinus, not to act as a negro-catcher. His commission, he said, gave him no guideal powers, and he could not assume to determine matters beyond his province.

The disappointed and enraged applicants, after having tried in vain other means to operate upon Col. Taylor favorably, carried their complaints to the Secretary of War. He entertained their view of the case. In consequence, an order issued from the Department was addressed to Maj. Gen. Lis sup, then commanding in Florida, directing the surrender of the captured negroes to the agent of the claimants. A similar order was issued to Colonel Taylor. The following is his reply, as copied from the record in the War Department "HEADQUARTERS, AGNY OF THE SOFTI."

Tampa, Florida, June 2, 1583.

General: I have the honor to acknowledge your communication of the 10th of May, 1535, accumpaned by one of the 2th, from the Commissioner of Indian affairs, addressed to Capt. Cooper, acting Secretary of War, on the subject of turning over certain negroes captured by the Creek warriers in Florida, to a Mr. Collin their agent, in compliance with an engagement of Gen. Jessup.

I know nothing of the negroes in question, nor of the subject, farther than what is contained in the communication above referred to; but I must state distingity, for the information of all concerned, that while I shall hold myself ev

Here Gen. Taylor showed himself as firm in re-isoting what he considered an illegal and disgrace-ful order of the Department, as he had been pre-sionally to the importunities or threats of the slave funiters. His commission was in the power of the President to revoke at any time; his honor was above the reach of the President; it was dearer to him than all commissions. Departed—On Saturday evenor last the beand that steamer Pennsylvania, Capit. Gray, left our whart crowded with citizens, who have gone to meet and cheer on their way he me our brave volunteers. A thousand webcomes, we say, to the volunteers. The day of their return will be a proud one—long to be remembered in the local annals of this city. Happy were it, if all the volunteers from the place could man return to the lessons of their triends and kindred, but, alas the fate of war hap decoded otherwise. And whilst we rejonce and extend the hand of cortial greeting to those who do return, let us not longer those left behind, who have deed on the battle held in the service of their country, and whose badies he latter.
