The Ohio Statesman, of Monday, accuses Gen. Taylor of using abusive epithets and profane language towards a portion of Cols. Cortus and Morgan's commands, whilst on their march from Camargo to Monterey, in the carapaign of 1847. The Statesman, in support of these saily charges, adduces the testimony of several volunteers residing at Chili, who were formerly attached to Curtis' and Morgan's commands, and who, it seems are the persons aggrieved. They testify that when the advance guard arrived at Marino, one of the volunteers orptured a chicken, and Gen. Taylor thereupon abused him and ordered one of the dragoons to strike him over the head with his sabre.

As we were personally constant of the whole transaction, falsely stated by the Statesman, we will relate the facts as they came under our observation, for the especial benefit of Sam Meda-17. GEN. TAYLOR'S REVILEES.

In the beginning of Mrch, 1847, General Taylo In the beginning of Mrch, 1847, General Taylor who was then feneamped near Monterey with a small remant of volunteers and regulars, who had participated with him in the ever memorable action of Buena Visia, understanding that Gen. Urea was at the head of a large force at Marino for the purpose of cutting of a small command under Cole. Morgan and Curtis, then marching to join him at Monterey, he left his encampment at the head of a small force, consisting of a detachment from the 1st Missinsippi Rideman and Bragg's hattery of Leght Arullery, and, if we are not mistaken. May's squadroa, of Iragoons, and, with his accustomed prompheess, repaired to Marino, determined to capture Urea and his guerrila force, if he should see them. Urea hearing of his approach fied to the town of Cadereita, where he was shortly after pursued by Gen. Taylor and driven beyond the mountains.

The Four Days Fightise—The Boston Advertiser publishes a letter from an American gendleman in Paris, giving a detailed account of the recent insurrection. The following extract bears date June 27th:

"Having a member of the National Guard to drive out carriage, we have to day gone through every place and street where the context has taken place. The number of barricades was more than been mastered—not less than 75,000 of these people defended the barricades with arms. I will make no attempt to describe the excens we have been mastered—not less than 75,000 of these people defended the barricades with arms. I will make no attempt to describe the scene we have been mastered—not less than 75,000 of these people defended the barricades with arms. I will make no attempt to describe the excens we have witnessed to day. Think of four days lighting in the streets of a city, and two days cannonading and firing of shells, and you may imagine what the saled book with us, we cannot say what finds and firing of shells, and you may imagine what consists of the pretensions of Hen V.
