On the 3d instant, the garrison of Paris and a portion of the National Guard were reviewed on the Boulevards, by General Cavaignac who was loudly cheered. Between 70,000 and 80,000 were under arms, of whom about 20,000 belonged to the National Guards, only one battalion being called out from each legion.

Although the National Guard was invited to nitend the review, in great force, it was found that not more than 300 men from each battalion, and in one battalion the number was under 250.
