THE Chronicle, in its new political course, is not very careful of its essertions, as the following extract will show:
"The old parties have changed, and the trausi "Ine our parties have changed, and the transition is degrading to our species, and to our country's fame. They are fighting, not to acquire tending, wherever Slavery now exist, but to extend Slavery over a fair portion of God's creation, where the Omnipotent never intended a Slave to tread."

On what portion of territory did the Omnipotent the Chronicle that it is not in the territories of New Mexico and California, but if the editor will tell us where it is, he may do the world a service, an But our object in making the above quotation, to deny in toto, the charge implied, that the Whig ting" "to extend slavery over a fair portion of God's creation." It is neither true i fact nor in implication, and we call upon the Chro Whig party. So far from it being true, the Whig party in Congress has just fought a battle for liberty and to prevent the extension of slavery, and has

We are requested to announce, that there is most desirable opening for an intelligent and ta ented Whig printer, to start a new paper in Warren. Trumbuil County, Ohio. The late Whig paper there, the Chronicle, has deserted the Whig ranks, and now supports that bitter enemy of Whis principles, and the Whig party, Martin Van Bure We are authorized, by respectable and influentia Whigs of that county, to state, that if a person of character, intelligence, and thorough going Whigh nts, will establish a paper th possible, they will stand by him in every emerger cy, and procure a large list of subscribers, and all other patronage in their power to obtain. IMPORTANCE OF ONE MAN'S LIFE-The Buffalo Commercial, in noticing the attack upon Mr. St orgia, says: There are thirty States in the Union. Fifteen have a Dem Twelve have a Whig majority, and three are tied. In the event of the elecentatives, the result would be uncertain, insmuch as neither party can command a majorit One of the tied States is Georgia. If Mr. St phens had died, as it was supposed he would from his wounds, the Locos would have a majority of the votes of that State, and a majority ten that a result so important may be continged on the life or death of one man.

Hon. Joshua R. Gibnikos:

"I may be led to confide in the holder; but a "Servile Doughface" is too destitute of that article to obtain credit with me. Mr. Van Bu-ren has placed the evidence of his servilly con-picesously upon the records of our country. There it will remain, and be regarded as an enduring me-mento of the degeneracy of the Man who filled our public stations:

"Although a Normern man, in ecomes une gratio of his triends that he possesses 'Southern principles,' and he soon gave satisfactory evidence of his devotion to the interests of his employers (alves merchants.) Indeed, had be been bred up in the business, he would scarcely have discovered more attachment to the interests of slavs dealers.

If Mr. Van Buren is "unchanged," as the Chro nicle says, what a character he is, even in the view of one who now supports him, to be entrustad with the Artislavery interests of the country

We respect the Free Soil feeling wherever we find it, and sympathize with, and wish it God-speed. We hope it may spread and grow until it becomes the ruling feeling of the country, and we believe it will. But we can never give our suffra-ges to a man so obnoxious as Mr. Van Buren, while we have any other resource, and we rejoice Soil principles to vote for him. The success of the Whig party will secure this, as well as many other

THE FIVE CRADLES .-- We wish all our "Virginia fence" makers would just read the story below.—
If it dos'nt call up the ghosts of cradles, chairs and bed posts, it may remind them of lamp posts, dry goods boxes, and perhaps it will awaken some reofficetions of board piles and gutters. It is funny cut up when he is a little "tight." He becomes wonderfully polite—his head goes nodding at every thing that comes in his way. He salutes an old cow, no matter whether head or tail, with as much beast. Perhaps he judges of himself and concludes that there is not much difference between them, and perhaps he judges correctly.-But read the when think it would be very hard for the editor to prove his assertion, or give any good reason for it. There are thousands of slaveholders who are opposed to slavery, and deplore it as an evil—yea, deprecate it as a curse. Such we understand to be the position of Gen. Taylor, Mr. Clay, and hundreds of other sterling men. The very fact that Gen. Taylor is a Whig, abows that be is no friend to alsvery as a system. If he wras, he would afflicate with Mr. Caliboun, who may be said to be the 'embodiment of Slavery,' as Henry Clay is of the Whig party.

The Northumberland (Penn.) Miltonian notices the first that the Locofoco Senatorial Conferees, which nominated Mr. Eright for Senator, also passed a reasolution applauding Gen. Cameron for his sadspractoms in opposing Polit's Administration.—

their principles as to declare their determination to vote for Cass and Buller. On the other side, we have Gen. Taylor, nominated by the Whig Convention; and he was the lender whom, for many reasons, we ought to follow; indeed, the Whigs had no siterative, for there were really but two candidates in the field, and these were the candidates of the two great parties of the country. Indeed, and Mr. S. the nature of our Government is such, that whatever local differences may arise, there can be but two great parties in the Union. The Whigs could not follow then. Cass, and it might be contended that the election of Gen. Taylor would not secure the triumph of the principles for which the Whigs contended. But it was his firm conviction that it would. He then alluded to the Southern influence in our National Councils and Legislature, which had ever sacrificed the interests of the North to the South and this had its origin in and was one of the great principles of the terests of the North to the South and this had its origin in and was one of the great principles of the Loco-Foco party. One of the great parties said Mr. Seward, which now divides the Union, is built upon the sands of South Carolina; and the other on the rock of Plymouth. The Southern Democracy was opposed to Internal Improvements: to the Diffusion of Knowledge, for knowledge makes men free; and they offer all the power and patronage of the Government to conduce Northern men to support their odious policy. It was Jefferson who said that the natural ally of Slavery was the Democracy of the North.

What then, asked Mr. Seward, was What then, asked Mr. Seward, was the duty of the Whig party of the North? And here he remarked that he should have been glad if the Whigs had at all times presented as a candidate for the Presidency, a man who never put shackles on his fellow men, and he hoped the time would come, and that not very far distant, when the citizens of the whole country, as well as Massachusetts, would select for their leader a free man of the North, in preference to a slaveholder. He wished that all the Whigs of the Union would agree with him on this point. But such was not the case. Yet he could not agree with those who could see no difference between a Northern dough-face and a Southern slaveholder.

In 1844, said Mr. Seward, we were told that the Morning Journal of the 4th instant:

We learn that General Santa Anna has a desire to make a more lengthy sojourn in this island than he intended; and we do not hesitate in asserting our opinion that our city will likely become the permanent abode of this distinguished personage. We understand that the General, together with his amistile wife and daughter, intend setting out to-morrow on a tour to 8t. Ann's, for the purpose of viewing the scenery of that lovely parish.—Preparations are now being made by certain distinguished parties to excert him and his family, together with his Secretary and Aide-de-Camp. The General and his family are still enjoying good health and seems to appreciate our list of Springs. It is said that the General's lady and daughter are devoting their time, wallst here, to the study of the English language and are both, particularly the young lady, making considerable progress in their studies.

From the above it would appear that the concerning the extreme ill-health of the lady of Santa Anna, which has been recently published in this country, is without foundation.

BOARD OF TRANK—The proceedings last evening were highly interesting. Col. Robinson read a very able report on the subject of the Pennsylvania and Ohio Rail Road, exhibiting the immense advantages of that improvement. He than introduced Solomon W. Roberts, Eaq. of Philadelphia, the Chief Engineer engaged on the surveys made, who gave a most lucid and entertaining description of the various routes, with their relative advantages. His remarks were listened to with deep attention and manifest pleasure, by all present. Edward Miller, Eaq. Assistant Engineer of the Penns. Rail Road—Assistant Engineer of the Penns renna. Rail Road, read a brief and very interests ing statement of the progress and prospects of that improvement. A circular from S. V. Merrick Eaq., President of the Pa.
