GEN. TAYLORS SPEECH.

The friends of General Taylor in Mississ ately held a Barbacue at Pass Christian, which was attended by thousands upon thousands of the friends of the Old Hero. General Taylor was pre-sent, and was welcomed by John Henderson Esq. n behalf of the people of Harrison county to the cospilalities of the day in an eloquent and appropriate address. General Taylor replied in the fol-lowing happy and modest speech, which will reach the hearts of every man not closed by politica fects of the larty of 40 have already reached certain classes, and in a few months they will reach the people! How coolly do the leaders contemplate the future dirtreas of the people, while they aid in deceiving them to their own certain destruction.

effective and elequent vindication of himself from the attacks of the Locofocos, in reference to the veto power, in which he depicted the difference between a constitutional use, and the abuse of that power. Mr. Darsie's speech was one of the most eloquent and masterly, of the campaign, and did him great honor. Our cause looks well in [Feebles township, and we may look for our usual, if not an increased majority, in that old strong hold of correct principles.

The following is the Report laid before the Board of Trade, on Thursday evening, by the President of the Pennsylvanus Roll Road Company:

OFFICE OF PRESURVANUS RAIL ROAD CO. 2

Philadelphia, Sept. 16th, 1848. 3

To the Stockholders of the Pennsylvanus Rail Road Company:

To the Stockholders of the Pennsylvania Rail Raad Company:
By instruction of the Directors, I send you here with the Report of the Chief Engineer detailing the yprogress of the work, and stringtes of the cost.
In transmitting this document, I ask for it an attentive permeat, and beg to call your attention to the prospects, condition, and wants of the Company.
When, in 1846, you subscribed to the Stock, it was done, not so much with the hope of direct profit, as with a patriotic intent to save the trade of the great West to Pennsylvania, for although the active promoters of the work foreasw in its completion ample returns for the capital invested, you for and if we expect to maintain our position, we must follow their example. Our local position fawors the enterprise. The shortest route, and the route that must secure the bulk of the trade and travel from the western waters, passes through Pennsylvania, and hence we can command the trade, if we have sufficient energy and enterprise promptly to complete our road.

The Directors will not consent to build on borroused money or reads the work faster than money.

The Directors will not consent to build on borrowed money or push the work faster than money is formished.

They cannot consent to enter into obligations without knowing how they are to be met, and unless the stock is filled up, they must wait with patience until you are convinced of the necessity of furnishing the means to complete it.

The Books are now open at the office of the Company, and you are respectfully invited to add to you raubscription, and unduce such of your friends as may be disposed to do the same.

Very Respectfully,

S. V. MERRICK,

President of Pennsylvania Ralroad Co.

THE WHIG NETTIRG.

Notwithstanding the severe inclemency of the weather, the Mass Meeting at McFaden's Warehouse, on Saturday night, was no mean show of the true Whig Democracy of the city of Pittsburgh, and our mind naturally reverted back to the time when, in 1914, this same old Hall was made to ring with peals of eloquence in behalf of the Sage of Ashiand, a name, the very sound of which fills the heart of every true patriot with feelings of profund admiration.

Long before the hour for speaking had arrived, the room was fairly crowded, and a general feeling of enthusiasm seemed to prevail throughout the vast assemblage.

A few minutes before 8 o'clock, the Hon. John J. Pearson, of Mercer county, was introduced to the meeting, and acquitted himself by the delivery of an address, which, to judge from the frequent bursts of applanus from all parts of the house, must have had a favorable influence upon the hearts of all present.

This is the second vehicle which has been overturned there, and one of the watchmen fortunately arrested a stage full of passengers, which was just about to plange into the abyss. A lady on foot, was also on the point of stepping over, some nights ago. The street is in a very dangerous condition, and we understand that both the Street Commissionerse and the contractors on the work have been warned to secure the lives and property of the clitzens, by erecting proper barriers, but have neglected to do so—owing to some difficulty between them.—Each contend that it is the duty of the other to put up the barriers, and mean while, the citizens many at the care of their necks, if they can.
