I was not from any apprehension of the dangers, or any dread of the faigues and sufferings to which I might be exposed, that I so warmly desired the conclusion of this war, but it was because I looked upon war as great evil, as a last resort, which when it can be honorably concluded, it is the first duty of a nation, especially a republic, to ter-minate.

COURT OF QUARTER SESSIONS, &c .-- The case o

tom-the girl being employed in Mr. M'Kee's family. The case was pretty clearly made out in his triumphant vindication of himself, in his well-known address to his constituents, against the old barguin and corruption slander. We trust we are violating no confidence in star-ting that Mr. Clay, in a private note to us, says that the copy of that letter, which he gave to Gen. Comba just before the meeting of the Whig Nation-al convention, was given with instructions that it should be handed to Mr. Greely of the New York Tribane to be used by him in the contingency of Mr. C's nomination and the revival of the cld charge against him. Mr. C preferso a the whole that it should not now be published, bot it will be published after the Presidential election. In the mean time we reiterate that the statement already made in ergartol to the character of the let. ter in question is correct. Gen. Cass did in that letter volunter to congramulate Mr. Clay upon hi trumphant refutation of the old barguin and cor-ruption slander, which, as we all remember, was an Adams and Caxyman as long as Adams and Gay were in power and could keep him in office, but when Jackson and Van Boren came into power and intimated through the Washington Telegraph their intention to dismus him, be harried for Michigan to Washington eity, swore allegiance to them, and succeeded in keeping his office not the adams advected in the soling and the state.
