THE PATRIOT BLUM.

The military murder of Rossar Bluss, at Vien-na, is causing great excitement throughout Germany. He was a representative from Saxony to the ional Diet, or Parliament, at Frankfort. He had been sent to Vienna, in company with a Mr.

Froebel, another member, by a body of the mem-bers of the Frankfort Parliament. Froebel, as well as his colleague, was condemned to be hanged, bat he was afterwards pardoned, and allowed to to Frankfort where he has since made a great impression by a straight forward narrative of the treatment of himself and Blum. He said that ered to the Viennese the address with which they had been charged by a body of the
