During Thursday night the Monongahela rose with great apidity, and the consequence was much destri ion of property in carrying off lumber, flat boats,&c A gentleman who came up during the night, stated property adrift. Clayton and Davis will stand by justice and moderation at any rate, and as an ultra pro slavery extensionist, Judge Butler atands alone on the Committee. Therefore it was desirable to take out of the keeping of this territorial committee all territorial bills involving or or which might become involved the alavery question; so as I advised you in my last, it was resolved to make a bold push and transfer all the bills of that character to the Judiciary, consisting of Senators Butler, Berrien, Westcott, Downs and Dayton, extreme Southern mon but one, the last. This was done to day, after a very lively skirmish.

Mr. Douglass called up his bills and amended

Mr. Douglass called up his bills and amendements, and moved their reference to his Committee. Mr. Butler at once began to point out the nustody of the bills in his own Committee. He was followed by Berrien, Wescott, Yulee, Rusk, and halfs dozen other Senators with logic both keen and trenchant to the same purpose; their chief ground of positive protest against the territoria land committee being the allegation that said commite had been the means of violating the ordinance of 1787, by reporting and getting passed the bit for organizing a government for Minesota, and thus naking provision for the admission of a sixth state northwest territory, when the ordinance cempact, that but five states should be admitted out of that territory. Douglass and Bright defended the proper reference well, but it was evident that heir heart was not in it, that they were indiffer ent. Bright said he was opposed to all plans fo attempting to settle the matter at this session—note that, and the coincidence between the Senator and utherners came out just a length ahead, though Mr. Clayton voted with the North. The whol subject was referred to the judiciary committee 25 to 24 and there some suppose it will aleep.

The rest of the day was consumed in a very resting debate upon the scheme for encouraging Panama, by securing to the builders the transpor tation of United States naval stores, mails, &c.— Mr. Cameron has the floor for to morrow, and will oppose the projected grant of privileges to the par-ty now applying for them, and advocate the browing of the works open to general compe-

Among other members who addressed th Committee were C. J. Ingersoll and Mr. Thomp son, of Erie, both of whom are among the sec ondary lights of democracy. Then the contributors would be shissfied that nothing had been lost by the delay—that there had indeed been lost in the delay—that there had indeed been lost in the delay—that there had indeed been lost in the delay.
