DR. SWAYNE'S
Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry!

This medicine is no longer among those of doubtful utility. It has passed FIRST from the thousands and thousands upon the side of experiment, and now stands higher in reputation, and is becoming more extensively used than any other preparation of medicine ever produced for the relief of suffering man.

It has been introduced very generally through the United States and Europe, and there are few towns of importance but what contain some remarkable evidence of its good effects. For proof of the foregoing statements, and of the other and efficacy of the medicine, the proprietor will publish a few of the many letters and testimonials which have been presented to him by men of the first standing, whose lives have been of the highest virtues of moral, its publicity and whose veracity no one will dare to question, because it will do another a favor, and themselves no injustice. Such testimony proves conclusively, that its pre-eminent excellence is established by its intrinsic merit, and the unquestionable authority of public opinion. The instantaneous relief it affords, and the soothing, influence diffused through the whole frame by its use, renders it a most agreeable remedy for the afflicted.

REMEMBER,

When disease arising from consumptive impulses, voluntarily lead to enquiry to the truth of a thing, on particular fact, by testimony, such confidence in their worldly interests and principles, as to induce them at the truth, and confirm itself in a special manner to universal readiness of Hagan's Royal Measure.

STILL A constant Cause of Permanent Consumption. There never was a remedy that has been as successful in desperate cases of Consumption, as Dr. Swayne's Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry. It strengthens the whole system, and appears to heal the diseased on the lungs, creating new and healthy blood, power possessed by no other medicine.

Chester Co. April 24th, 1848.

Dr. Swayne—Dear Sir: I verily believe your Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry has been the means of saving my life. I was in a very cold, with a grating cough, that resisted all the remedies which I had from time to time, and finally my doctor gave me up as a confirmed case of Pulmonary Consumption. Being thus I tried medicine to have no effect, and my complaint increased so rapidly that friends as well as myself gave up all hopes of my recovery. At the time I was recommended to try your invaluable medicine. I did so with the most happy results. The first bottle had a decided effect in checking cough, causing me to expectorate freely, and by the time I had used six bottles I was entirely well, and am now as healthy a man as I ever was in my life, and would be happy to give any information to any one in my case, that other sufferers may derive the benefit for which I am so grateful. Yours truly, &c. &c.

Statement. I refer you to Peter Rush, Chester, West Chester, Pa., or Joshua Hoopes of the neighborhood.

Respectfully yours, JAMES MORRIS

Wonderful Cure of a Mercurial Humor.

Dr. Swayne—Dear Sir: I feel a debt of gratitude due to you—and a duty to the afflicted generally to offer my humble testimony of success your Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry. Some three years since I was violently attacked with cold and inflammation of the Lungs, which was accompanied with a distressing cough, pain in the breast and head, a very considerable discharge of coffee-ish matter from the lungs, especially upon change of weather. I was confined to my bed for first felt no inclination of relief, and my physician soon convinced me that I was rapidly sinking into consumption. I grew daily weaker, and finally was compelled to walk about the room with a cane. At length I was so entirely unable to walk alone, that my physician gave me up as the exceeding weakness of my lungs. During this time I had tried various preparations and one or two physicians, but found no relief—growing all the time worse and worse. I was advised by my friends to remove to a more genial clime. I accordingly left my home and family for Wilmington to make trial of your syrup of Wild Cherry.

I must confess that previous to this I had a prejudiced against patent medicines, and I can tell many of those coming out of the hands of regular practitioners, standing your ability as the public—but finding myself languishing, and having implicit faith in the recommending friends, I forthwith purchased of Dr. Shaw—one of your agents, a few bottles, and commenced using them. In my case was at that time so far gone that I had commenced consequently it was deeply seated. I soon however considerable relief towards the first bottle, and by the time I had used six bottles, I was entirely well, and was tempted to preach with my usual strength. I have thereby ruptured those expectations and anxiety again to hend, in this way. Satisfied my mind was perfectly guarded. In conducting myself in the manner mentioned, I had to use twelve or fifteen bottles before I was perfectly restored. There was quite a number of bottles sold in a number of bottles sold above instructions. The Syrup allayed the cough, took away the fevers and pains, and restored to the discharge of matter from the lungs, and healed them and the cavity. I can speak in the highest terms of the recommended offering this certificate in order that others may be benefited as I have been, and now that I am perfectly well and restored to health, I am conscientiously bound to declare, and now that I am perfectly well and restored to health, I am conscientiously bound to declare, and now that I am perfectly well and restored to health, I am conscientiously bound to declare
