THE COMMUNICATION. It is not easy to say whether the outcries of fiftingled supplication and resentment, of flattery and demunciation, which every day reach the piblic ear through certain organs, deprecating "prosoription," are best fitted to excite disgust or pity—surprise they could not for what can surprise, after the declaration that "Mr. Patt's was not a prustry the state of the could not prove the state of the state o bitter partian hostility and service against the present head of Departments, and all those who assisted to place them where they are as counsellors of the President. How mutually confiding and agree able, how efficient for public service, must be the relation between the Whig chiefs of the Departments and their subordinates, of whom nine-tains were appointed exprisely on the ground of their active and determined animosity and opposition to the Whig party—a party on whose shoulders (after having been for twenty years trodden uptu and bruised by the heals of Democracy as so indig serpents) these eminent gentlemen have been, borner into the high places they occupy, to assist in one summating that policy already denounced, in advance by the organs of Locofocoism.

How confidential must be the intercourse between the head and the members, when the former throws that the latter, would rejoice to see it stracken with palsy or bindness, that it might be removed and a new one, seeing with different eyes, put in its place. What a sure guaranty for the success of an Administration, when it is known that its all the powers and that their very presence is proof of that feeling which would lead them to rejoice they are employed, to the exclusion of those who labor and for their elevation. Never was proscription, under the most despotic Government, more rutheless and indiscriminate than that which has marked the administration of this Government for the last twenty years. Why, if not to establish a cut of of subservient emissaries, were all the Postmasters removed from Boston to Charlestonia.

What has Col Peyton done at Richmond, or Doctor Minge at Peterrburgh? Sketch of the History of Atlantic Steam Navigation.

The English were slow to believe that the navigation of the ocean by steam was possible; and, antil-they had made many-experiments in the Bay of Biscav and around the British islands, itsey did not think of the extension which might be given to the power of steam upon the Aliantie. Even after practical men have given proof of what might confidently be expected. Ir. Lardner, a respectable writer on machinery, declared that he thought a voyage to the moon more practicable than one across the Aliantie, whether were the precursors of all succeeding ones. The Royal William and Sirtus were among these, and a year or two inferwards, the "Great Liverpool" began to run as a regular packet, between Southampton and Alexandria in Egypt. The "Great Western" began to ply as a regular packet, between Bristol and New York in, 1838, without any assustance from the government. Would it not be much better to excavate the annoyance and injury of the surrounding property. Would it not be much better to excavate the whole mass to the common coal level, and thus have a uniform and most substantial bottom? The difficulty of retaining large bodies of waters is well known to every one of observation, and the more especially in this case, as a large portion of the embankment is artificial, and would appear to be also the common coal level, and the more especially in this case, as a large portion of the embankment is artificial, and would appear to be also the common coal level of the adjoining streets.— Who that has looked at Pittsburgh as sile once was, and thorks of her as she will, in all human probability, be—a mighty otty—but will say at once that no penurious policy ought to govern, in supplying her with that first requisite of health and comiort—an abundant supply of good, fresh water. It is to be hoped that our city Councils, the exscellent Superintendent of the Water Works, and indeed every one who wishes to see Pittsburgh prosperous as well as healthy, will take a deep interest not only in urging a liberal expenditure in the substantial construction of this additional basin. The evils that were apprehended from the suspension of this extensive establishment, have begun to be realized by the farmers and lishoring men of the north eastern part of this country. The farmers who were in the habit of finding ready saie, high pirces and cash payments for their surplus produce, now find this market closed, and many of them are compelled to dispose of the products of their farms at reduced prices for barter. The latter, deprived of their means of sub-intence, have been compelled to seek employment at such wages as they could command, or have turned their attention to agricultural pursuits, thus becoming producers instead of consumers, to the manifest injury of the farming interest of that section of the country. A majority of the citizens whose prosperity has been so seriously affected by this suspension, have lithlerto been active in loudly resterating the his The second of the control of the con

The two great enemies to Italian freedom now in Italy are 'Indres Albert and the King of Naples.—It will not be surpfising if, in a short time, they too follow the examples of the Pope and the Grand, Duko—in which case Italy will without doubt become one great republic.

Yesterday we heard that the Austrians, 8000 strong had entered Ferrara, and taken possession of the city, claiming a tribute of 200,000 sculd from the citizens because of a skirtnish which took place some time since, in which the insolence of the Austrian voldiery (always in possession of the forters of Ferrerra) had roused the Farrarese, and during the afray three of the Austrians were kil-

Correspondence of the North American Washington, March 26, 1849. Washington, March 26, 1949.

It is proper the Whig press throughout the country should understand, that Mr Buchanan, shortly before going out of office, contracted with the Loco Foco newspapers, for the publication of the laws of the United States and other advertising consistent with the Department of State until the 38th of September next. This piece of management, which may well be regarded as nore ingenious than creditable, will have the effect of appropriation of the state of which may we be regarded as into a magentous than creditable, will have the effect of appropriating for aix months to come, a large amount of patronage which legitimately belong to the present Administration; and which I believe has unformly attained to the party coming into power. The greediness with which these Loco Focos seized upon every crimb of public patronage, after the people decided that they were unworthy of trust or comidence, is only equalled by their audicity, as now claiming perpetuation of the possission, which they have held almost uninterruptedly, and to the almost otal exclusion of Whigs, for mid them ty years. They seem to regard the offices as birth rights and life estates, and when it is proposed to distribute them on any principle of equality, forthwith they bellow proscription, as if disfranchised of their hereditary rights, or deprived of thoir legal possessions.

Ms Furror.—You will please state that I will be a candidate for nomination for the office of Protionoia-ry, before our next Whig and Antimasonic County Convention. Yours, &c. SAM'L FAHNESTOCK.

DOUSSELPS AROMATICK VINEGAR.—The highLy sanaiory, balsamic and tonic properties of this vinegar render it far superior to Cologne water for the others y purposes of the totic, surpassing the lattier and aspective of the renders and removes plappies, tetter and aspective of the mouth, imparting a fresh the kin, rendering it soft and smooth. It corrects the claiming and bitter taste of the mouth, imparting a fresh and pleasant breath. It cleanes and whitens the teeth, and hardens the gums. For all the above pur poses, it is used with water in such proportion as may be found most agreeable. By inhalting it and rubbing it on the temples, it will remove headache. If applied instantly to a burn or brusse, it will eventually prevent mortification., It correct vituated air, and, guaranties from contagnor, it is therefore very useful for purfing
