The first has, without any methad resolution due part of the cultivator, a boontful harvest may re-ward his thuff; that he kindly influences of a new soil, of sumshine and showers, may remedy the deficiency of good busbandry. But it cannot be expected that these influences can always be com-manded. Nature, in all its operations, is uniform and consistent, and if the consequences of bad cultivation are not visited upon the former himseli, they will surely descend to the sons whom he bas not instructed in the means of remedying the evid. in our paper this morning. The subject of scien-tific farming has heretofore been deemed of litte importance by many of our farmers, but we are of opinion, that a better day is approaching; and the address of the Committee, we think, will contribute materially to a more correct apprecision of this subject by our sgricultural readers. The write fully the means by which the acience should be elevated to its deserved rank, but also the diffi-culties to be encontered in producing this desir-able end. For his efforts in this laudable enter-prize, the author of the address, A. W. Marka, . Eaq. of Peebles Township, is entitled to the grati-full and enabbling pursuit, and we bespeak for the address their careful perusal. The deepest sympathy has been manifested and fett in this country with the Huggarians, or Marg gray, is their face and unequal stragle with the Austrian Government, but it is following view are correct, it is a sympathy improperly and ignor has not instructed in the means of remedying the evil. It must be acknowledged that the agriculture of Western Peansylvania has as the pt pace with the spirit of improvement which has characterized the other pursuits of its citizens, and whils lakar, otherwise employed, has developed new sources of wealth, it has become a subject of compliant that our soil does not repsy, with like generosity, the toils and pains of the collivator. It is a hence happened that too many who would have given properly employed in a more hberal agriculture. It is unquestionably a great evil, but one which fails under our too frequent observation, that, as soon as a farmer becomes somewhat forehanded, he either withfarwas his earnings to invest in other business, or else employed in a superimeter down other business, or else employed the relevance of the adding to their devide a diding to ther devide, or in inter words, he disvolution a superimeter based of the Austrian Governmesti, but if the following views are correct, it is a sympathy improperly and ignor-anly bestowed. A Prursian gentleman, the editor says, of the highest intelligence, on an article in the New York Commercial Advertiser, presents the question in a light entirely different from that in which it has heretofore been viewed, and gives some facts of great interest. Our limited space competie us to of the article. Hungary is divided Into two portions:--the Kingdom of Hungary, and Hungary proper. The former comprises Croatis, Slavonis and Hungary business, of else employs them in normalized to be a his acres, instead of adding to their depth; or in inther words, he devotes to a superitical and slow enly cultivation, one hundred acres, when half the quantity, under a uddicons husbandry, would yield an equal product to repay his labor and erre. That this result is attainable is no longer a mat-ter of mere speculation. On the continent of Eu-rope, and especially in Great Britaian, necessity has required the taxation of the soil to its utmost productive power, yet under the treatment of spe-ficial marries, and rotation of crops, results have followed, exceeding greatly any calculation of the enthusiast. Put we need not go abroad for an illustration of our position. Official statistics, and the experience of her own citizens have proven that in Masacchus-tis, the same soil and the same incres which, twenty years since, yielded but a im-ited return to falor, now double that product, and

They were organally written and transmitted, in a private letter, to u frend at the North, who, knowing that Dr. McCorfreed at the Nordy, who, knowing that 1br. This seems naturally explained by the waste of the watery portion of the blood and the great exhaustion of the blood and the great exhaustion of the nervous system, so intimately connected with it, and with the violent cramps and spasms. The voice has become more feeble the watery eventations cense, the agony is over, for the spasms have also censed and the patient ices indifferent, spatiette, fearless and oraves only drink—The thirst continues in-tenso, becomes insultable, and seems to exist in a direct ratio to the quantity of watery fluid poured.
