the from this shows us a test which will be both encouraging and consoling to diffident school boys. Mr. Webster says—

My first lessons in Latin were recited to Joseph Stevens Buckmonster, at that time an assistant at the academy. I made tolerable progress in all the branches I attended to under his instructions, but there wits one thing I could not do—I could not make a declamation, I could not speak before the school. The kind and excellent Buckminster especially sought to persunde me to perform the oxercise of declamation, like the other boys, but I could not do it. Many a piece did I commit to memory asid rehearse it in my own room, over and over again; but when the day came, when the school was collected, when my name was called, and i saw all eyes turned upon my seal; I could not raise myself from it. Sometimes the masters frowned, sometimes they smiled. Mr. Buckminster always pressed and entreated with the most winning kindaers, that I would only venture ones; but I could not command sufficient resolution, and when the occasion was over I went home and
