PENNSYLVANIA ELECTION.

The list of returns from the counties of this State, published this morning, is very complete, and shows the result of the election beyond doubt. The Locofocos have carried the State by a majority of from 5,000 to 6,000 votes. The Legislature is decidedly Democratic on joint ballot. The following remarks, by the New York Tribune, are to the point:

"The State of Pennsylvania presenting the greatest contest for the Presidency, and the Democracy having put forth their utmost strength, the defeat of Governor Ritner by Mr. Porter, is not only decisive, but overwhelming. Pennsylvania comes on Day One and principally upon the strength of her vote, Van Buren is defeated. Let the friends of Harrison and Tyler remember this, and not relax their efforts."

Tornado.—Our country papers are bringing in accounts of a dreadful tornado, which passed through a portion of Ohio on the 5th inst. It appeared to be about 200 yards wide, and passed in a course from south-west to north-east, crossing in part a number of counties, spending its fury at last in the county of Lake, forty or fifty miles. It carried away houses and barns, swept forests as clean as a prairie, and did other damage in its terrific course.

The Fire.—We mentioned upon Friday last, that the whole square on the north side of the Diamond, between Wood and Market streets, was on fire, and that the flames were spreading with fearful rapidity. The fire originated in the extensive establishment of Messrs. Lorain & Co. in Wood street, and was communicated to the adjoining buildings by the intense heat. The whole square, with the exception of the corner occupied by Messrs. Lorain & Co. and the store of Mr. Wick, was entirely consumed. The loss is estimated at $100,000, and is supposed to be nearly covered by insurance. The fire was the most extensive that has occurred in this city for many years, and was only prevented from spreading further by the exertions of the firemen, who were promptly assisted by the citizens generally. The origin of the fire is unknown.
