An attempt is to be made to get Mr. Clay to New York, and a meeting is to be held without respect to party, to sustain his resolutions of compromise.

Other friends of Mr. Clay propose to honor his name with a Grand Ball, to be given at Nitlos, at an early day. Even where the plan of compromise urged by Mr. Clay is not wholly approved, his motives, and his efforts to bring about a honorable conciliation, receive the highest praise from all good citizens.
