The Brady's Bend Works possess advantages for manufacturing iron unaurpassed any where, and can, therefore, manufacture iron at a price which would rain less advantageous locations. The iron is taken from the ore in its original state, and every necessary material is found on the Company's grounds, and although as much is made at the prices at which they take contracts, yet the proprietors prefer to go on, as long as they can without lors, to stopping. Sixty dollars a ton its a fair rate for iron, and it cannot be offered at a less price under ordinary circumstances, without depressing the atandard of labor below a living rate.
