Om the afternoon; and, from 7 to 10 o'clock in the Mr. Soule and Mr. King have miggivengs utill, but their co operation is counted. Mr. Downs, who had scruples, his been meemerized under the scisentific manipulations of Mr. Atchinson; who, for a job like this is worth a score of professors like Mr. Foote, it may be astly assumed that one, if not both of the Delaware Senstors, will be found in opposition. I steek only on the authority of their past votes. Taking these data, and concedere all the doubful, the South would muster but 17 votes, with a full Sonste.

Now for torreverse of the picture. I still preferred the figures of those who are partial to the compromise. The following sensions are claimed for the North. Mr. Norrie, Mr. Dictago, Mr. Stargeon, Mr. Bright, Mr. Whitcomb, Mr. Douglass, Mr. Shields, Mr. Goes, Mr. Felch, Mr. Doyde of lown, Mr. Jones, Mr. Wheter, and Mr. Cooper, 13—Just the extent or the defection. Mr. Brabbury, who was counted on, has boiled. The names of Mr. Greece and Mr. Clerk of Rhode Island, ware used, but without any authority. If the opinious which Mr. Cooper avowed in Pennsylvania during the last canvass, and the position which he then assumed in regard to this whole question may be taken as certained for the course which he will now pureue, the ambiguity which a now ascribed to him, is manifestly unjust.—This scheme of compromise has no affaity or relationship to the Coeriers which he boldly and WHIG STATE CONVENTION. Upc agreeing to the Report of the Committee of Corfetence, the vote stood 45 to 42.

It is understood that the Governor has serior objections to the bill thos obtained, but that under all the circumstances, and the utter impossibility of the circumstances, and the utter impossibility for the circumstances, and the utter impossibility of the circumstances. the parties can come before the public with their witnesses and advocates, not only they, but their friends, and counsel, and witnesses, but a large portion of the audience become excited, interested, and pleased. The whote scene becomes a dramatic exhibition, more rational, and instructive, and moral in its tendency, than all the barbarous built fights of Spaig, and the bloody gladiatorial condicts of the Romans. The causes, however small in amount, involve character, and feelings, and interests, to an extent a count observer would hardly served to the country, when the state of the country, washington to the country of the country of the country of the country of the country, washington to the country of the with a disconting of the sudience become excited, interested, and results and advocates, not a large portion of the sudience become excited, interested, and results and planed. "But this is not the oale movement in which the press is encocrand. We have now before an address signed by size four worthern members of Congress, Whige and D moorate—hill burst half alliquior—professing to poblish a southern or gas in this city. And strace to say, they seem to fastuate that we are created of sacrificing of teems States of this Union, with the millions of property involved, and all their rights, to men party designs—for the pairty purpose of making a President, who carries in his hands the spoils of office. If they should derivible instinution, to be intended, then we must say that the language of the address furnishes a very odd omen of the discretion with which the whole movement is to be conducted.
