

One Regular Fixture.

Testimony in a Brooklyn divorce suit brought out the story of a mid-night beefsteak dinner followed by a dance till dawn, the night's "lark" continuing with an automobile breakfast party in the park. To such lengths is the search for new sensations to whet jaded appetites carried. But the more the amusements are diversified the more the divorce suit at the end remains the same regular fixture.—New York World.

Not an Inch of Healthy Skin Left.

"My little son, a boy of five, broke out with an itching rash. Three doctors prescribed for him, but he kept getting worse until we could not dress him any more. They finally advised me to try a certain medical college, but its treatment did no good. At the time I was induced to try Cuticura he was so bad that I had to cut his hair off and put the Cuticura Ointment on him on bandages, as it was impossible to touch him with the bare hand. There was not one square inch of skin on his whole body that was not affected. He was one mass of sores. The bandages used to stick to his skin and in removing them it used to take the skin off with them, and the screams from the poor child were heart-breaking. I began to think that he would never get well, but after the second application of Cuticura Ointment I began to see signs of improvement, and with the third and fourth applications the sores commenced to dry up. His skin peeled off twenty times, but it finally yielded to the treatment. Now I can say that he is entirely cured, and a stronger and healthier boy you never saw than he is to-day, twelve years or more since the cure was effected. Robert Wattam, 1148 Forty-eighth St., Chicago, Ill., Oct. 9, 1909."

Nearly ten thousand beds in London hospitals are daily occupied by the sick and maimed poor.

GRANULATED EYELIDS Cured

The worst cases, no matter of how long standing, are absolutely cured by

Dr. Porter's Antiseptic Healing Oil

A soothing antiseptic discovered by an Old Railroad Surgeon. All Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. 25c, 50c & $1.

Paris Medicine Co. Dear Sir: I must say that Dr. Porter's Antiseptic Healing Oil is one of the greatest remedies known to me. I had granulated eyelids so badly it caused blindness for about six weeks. I got a bottle of Dr. Porter's Antiseptic Healing Oil and up to the time of this writing have used about half of it and my eyes are almost entirely well. I wish every body could know the value of Dr. Porter's Antiseptic Healing Oil. Yours truly (Signed) CLEMENT BASHAM

NEOPLATONISM.

Send 25 cents for 10 issues of THE CLIFFSIDE VULCAN, the smallest magazine in the world, started upon a folder post card, as a memento of the Hudson-Fulton Celebration, but owing to an unlooked for circumstance not issued until the event was over, but inasmuch as the subject matter bears more particularly upon the next great event that takes place in New York, a great Universal Exhibition or World's Fair in 1939, it will be all the more appreciated and timely now. And a three months' trial subscription to QUO VADIS, the enlarged form, which the post card memento is to take up, besides taking on the additional subjects of "Farmer's Uplift," "Conservation," "Economics, Housing of the Poor in Cities, Socialism and kindred topics, and more particularly the relation which these topics have with regard to the NEOPLATONIC PHILOSOPHY, the Bible and other ancient literatures, and the light which these philosophies throw upon those knotty subjects.

THE EPICURE'S CORNER

Nut Wafers.

Beat two eggs and cream, with them a half pound brown sugar. Add a rounded tablespoonful and a half flour sifted with a quarter teaspoonful baking powder and a saltspoonful salt. Add also a cupful walnut or pecan meats broken in small pieces and a teaspoonful vanilla. Drop the mixture on to buttered tins, put a whole nut meat on the top of each cake and bake about five minutes in a brisk oven.—Emma Paddock Telford, in the New York Telegram.

Nut Cookies.

Use for these little cakes a cupful hickory nuts or any other nut preferred. Rub to a cream one pound light brown sugar and one cupful lard and butter mixed. Add two well-beaten eggs, one cupful sour milk into which a rounded teaspoonful soda has been beaten, the cupful nuts and flour, a little at a time until the dough is stiff enough to roll out. Roll thin, cut in circles or any fancy shape desired, place on a well-greased pan and bake in a quick oven for four or five minutes.—Emma Paddock Telford, in the New York Telegram.

Stuffing For Turkey.

Boil the kidney, heart and liver until very tender, letting the water boil away until there is about one-half cup left; chop very fine into two onions, add ten or twelve crackers, chopped with two large boiled potatoes; mix the water and a cup of milk and an egg together and stir in the chopped part, adding more milk if necessary, for you want it quite thin; then add pepper, salt and sage to taste and dots of butter. Of course you will have to keep adding boiling water to the giblets, as it boils away.—Mrs. Mary E. Robinson, in the Boston Post.

Hollandaise Sauce.

This is particularly good to serve with boiled fish. Mix in a bowl two tablespoonfuls butter, a teaspoonful lemon juice, a bit of bay leaf, a half dozen whole black peppers and if the butter is fresh a saltspoonful salt. Add a cupful stock or water and the juice of a lemon. Place the bowl in a pan of hot water and stir until the butter melts. Take from the fire and stir a little of the warm mixture into the well beaten yolk of three eggs. When mixed, gradually add the remainder of the sauce, return to the fire and stir steadily until thickened. Add another tablespoonful of butter and serve. The sauce is the foundation for lobster sauce or oyster sauce.

Add to a pint of Hollandaise the chopped meat of one lobster claw and half the meat of one lobster pounded to a paste with the last tablespoonful butter to be added. For oyster sauce add a dozen and a half oysters that have been scalded in their own liquor to a pint of the Hollandaise. Do not add too much of the oyster liquor, as the sauce must not be too thin.—New York Telegram.

Hints for Housewives

Creamed cauliflower, served in green shells, makes a dish as tasty as it is satisfying to the eye. To prevent eyeglasses "steaming" in cold weather, rub with vaseline and polish with a silk handkerchief. A baker says that a cupful of liquid yeast is equivalent to half a compressed yeast cake, or whole dry yeast cake.

If one needs a door stop and there is not one at hand, a large spool, nailed in position, will answer every purpose.

Oyster cocktails are sometimes served in small grapefruit shells or in paper shells. The effect is decidedly pleasing.

To remove odor of fish or onions from the frying pan, put in vinegar and heat until scalding, and then wash out.

For creaming butter or butter and sugar, a perforated spoon will be found more convenient than a fork or the hand.

A spoonful of whipped cream is a tasty addition to any cream soup. Add it to the top of the cup just before serving.

Ink stains on handkerchiefs and other cloths may often be soaked out in milk, but the sooner they are dealt with the better.

Use butter rather than milk. If potatoes need extra thinning. The former makes them soggy, and nothing is worse than milky mashed potatoes.

To remove iron rust from white material wet the goods with lemon juice, rub on salt, and put out in the sun. If the first application fails, try it again.

If salt fish is required for immediate use, it will freshen much more quickly if soaked in milk instead of water. Sour milk will answer as well as sweet.

In baking biscuits have the oven quite hot at first, but lower the temperature just a little before the biscuits are ready to take out. This will add materially in making the biscuits light.

Cold boiled spinach moulded in individual forms may be served with a rim of shredded lettuce as a salad. Dress lightly with oil and vinegar and put a little mayonnaise on the top of each form.

To use up the cold boiled sweet potatoes, pare and slice them thick and fry them in butter. When they are brown sprinkle them with a little lemon juice and sugar and let the sugar melt over them.

Who Pays Advertising Cost?

A merchant whom we will call Marks, because that is not his name, does no advertising. He pays a monthly rent of $50, and $125 per month in salaries to two salesmen, about $25 per month for lights, and about $100 for other expenses—a total of about $300 a month. On average days he sells one hundred articles at an average gross profit of fifteen cents. In twenty-six days his gross profit is about $390, and after deducting his $300 expenses he has $90 to cover his interest and his own time.

In the same town on another street, but no better located, is another merchant whose name we will call Jones. He employs one more clerk and his expenses, otherwise approximately the same as Marks', are $350 per month; but he spends $25 a month for advertising—or a total of $375 a month. At the end of the month Jones finds that he has sold 200 articles a day at a profit of $30, or $780 for the month. Deduct his expenses and he has $530 for his own services and to cover the interest on his investment, as against Marks' $90.

Did Jones or his customers have to pay that $25 for advertising?

Certainly neither of them did. Then who?

The clerks stood part of it because they sold twice as many goods as Marks' salesmen did. The landlord stood part of it because he received no more rent. The electric light man and the coal man stood a part, for they got no more out of it because more goods were sold.

Advertising is not an expense. It is an economy, like insurance, or heat or rent.

This is true of any line of merchandising, or any business with fixed expenses. The only man who gets the worst of the deal is Marks, who doesn't believe in advertising, for he has to help pay Jones' advertising bills in lost trade.

All the Accessories.

William T. Stead, the editor of the English Review of Reviews, tells the story of an Irishman who applied to one of his friends for a position as coachman.

"You know, Pat, if I engage you I shall expect you to do things by combination. For instance, if I tell you to bring the carriage round at a given time, I shall expect the horses with it and driving gloves, etc."

"Yes, sorr," said Pat.

He was duly engaged and gave satisfaction. One day his master came to him, telling him to look sharp and go for a doctor, as his mistress was ill. Pat was gone for a long time, and on his master grumbling at him for his delay, he said, "Sure they're all here, sorr."

"All here!" said the master. "What do you mean?"

"Didn't you tell me to do things by combination?"

"What's that got to do with it?" said the master.

"Well," said Pat, "I've got the doctor, the parson and the undertaker."

Wants Local News.

Every newspaper wants to publish the news. The better the paper the more prosperous it will be. Local news items are especially hard to run down. How many times have you, dear reader, been approached by the newspaper man for an item of news and told him that you knew nothing of interest. Probably at the same time your family were away on a visit or someone from out of town was visiting at your home. Of course you don't mean to deceive the scribe, yet when you receive your paper you wonder why your family or friends were not mentioned. A good way to avoid all of this is to kindly inform us of the facts or drop a note in the postoffice. The one item may not amount to much, but several columns of such news is the life of a local paper.—From the Jefferson News.

Have You Tried?

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound? We can furnish positive proof that it has made many remarkable cures after all other means had failed.

Women who are suffering with some form of female illness should consider this.

As such evidence read these two unsolicited testimonial letters. We guarantee they are genuine and honest statements of facts.

Cresson, Pa.—"Five years ago I had a bad fall, and hurt myself inwardly. I was under a doctor's care for nine weeks, and when I stopped I grew worse again. I sent for a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, took it as directed, and now I am a stout, hearty woman."—Mrs. Ella E. Aikey, Cresson, Pa.

Baird, Wash.—"A year ago I was sick with kidney and bladder troubles and female weakness. The doctors gave me up. All they could do was to just let me go as easily as possible. I was advised by friends to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier. I am completely cured of my ills, and I am nearly sixty years old."—Mrs. Sarah Leighton, Baird, Wash.

Evidence like the above is abundant showing that the derangements of the female organism which breed all kinds of miserable feelings and which ordinary practice does not cure, are the very disorders that give way to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Women who are afflicted with similar troubles, after reading two such letters as the above, should be encouraged to try this wonderfully helpful remedy.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health free of charge. Address Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

Large Wooden Ship.

There has recently been launched at Bath, Maine, the largest wooden vessel ever built in the United States. The Wyoming, as she has been named, is a six-masted schooner of 3,730 gross tons, with a total length over all of 350 feet. Next to her in size among wooden vessels is the William L. Douglass, with a gross tonnage of 3,708.

Poetic Interpretation.

When the staff poet of the Washington Star begins with "down in the earth, mid prehistoric gloom in caverns stranger, deeper than the tomb," he must be describing the cave of the senate finance committee, where one-half of a dinky little state with about 1,000 square miles of territory makes the laws for the United States and its island possessions—Louisville Courier-Journal.

French lights are the best along the shores, say the navigators. They are posted low, close to the water line, and so do not mislead like the Italian pharons perched high above the sea. They have the best lenses, and are always visible.

Big Agricultural Department.

In half a century the United States department of agriculture has grown from a mere beginning to an institution with over 11,000 employees. Congress supplies it with an annual income for its expenditure in the neighborhood of $15,000,000, while half as much more is spent by the states in their agricultural experiments, colleges and experiment stations. Of its employees, nearly 3,000 are scientists, hundreds are administrative officers and thousands are clerks and helpers. There are a dozen bureaus, ranging in expenditures from $60,000 to $4,000,000.—Kansas City Star.

Mr. Justice Darling, referring to illnesses contracted by kissing microbe-laden Bibles, remarked: "It is my opinion that a large number of people who commit perjury are punished in no other way."

Paris has 50,000 cafes.

Afraid of Ghosts

Many people are afraid of ghosts. Few people are afraid of germs. Yet the ghost is a fancy and the germ is a fact. If the germ could be magnified to a size equal to its terrors it would appear more terrible than any fire-breathing dragon. Germs can't be avoided. They are in the air we breathe, the water we drink.

The germ can only prosper when the condition of the system gives it free scope to establish itself and develop. When there is a deficiency of vital force, languor, restlessness, a sallow cheek, a hollow eye, when the appetite is poor and the sleep is broken, it is time to guard against the germ. You can fortify the body against all germs by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It increases the vital power, cleanses the system of clogging impurities, enriches the blood, puts the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition in working condition, so that the germ finds no weak or tainted spot in which to breed. "Golden Medical Discovery" contains no alcohol, whisky or habit-forming drugs. All its ingredients printed on its outside wrapper. It is not a secret nostrum but a medicine of known composition and with a record of 40 years of cures. Accept no substitute—there is nothing "just as good." Ask your neighbors.
