Freaks of the Eyesight. Many eye defects, of course, are due to the bad habits of their possessors. Tobacco, for instance, is generally held to impair their vision, usually injuring the color-sense so that gold and silver become indistinguishable. According to some medical authorities, again, the connection between eye and tooth trouble is more than an old wife's fable. In his book dealing with the subject, Hancock relates the story of a boy who woke up one morning to find himself blind. On examination, his teeth were discovered to be crowded together, and a few of them were removed; with the result that by evening he could distinguish between light and darkness. More teeth were removed, and in 11 days his sight was fully restored. Other causes which tend to show the connection between eye and tooth trouble have also been noted. Very frequently occupation has much to do with one or other eye defects. Thus, nystagmus is sometimes known as the miner's disease.—Strand Magazine.

AFTER DOCTORS FAILED

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Cured Her

Knoxville, Iowa. — "I suffered with pains low down in my right side for a year or more and was so weak and nervous that I could not do my work. I wrote to Mrs. Pinkham and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills, and am glad to say that your medicines and kind letters of directions have done more for me than anything else and I had the best physicians here. I can do my work and rest well at night. I believe there is nothing like the Pinkham remedies." — Mrs. CLARA FRANKS, R. F. D., No. 3, Knoxville, Iowa.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled. It may be used with perfect confidence by women who suffer from displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills, and suffering women owe it to themselves to at least give this medicine a trial. Proof is abundant that it has cured thousands of others, and why should it not cure you?

If you want special advice write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for it. It is free and always helpful.

A NEW ANTI-FAT SYSTEM.

Jim Jones was fat; There could not be A doubt of that. As all might see, Not calves, but cows Backed up his shins! Bulged were his brows, He had four chins.

A sip, a crust, Made him a meal; Through rain or dust He trudged with zeal. He walked, he ran, He exercised, Tried every plan And all despised.

At last in wrath He quit them all, From Turkish bath To rubber ball; He ate just what Was called a sin; No more he fought— And he grew thin!

Sinews unused Laid waste his frame; Pies unrefused, Dyspepsia came. And now Jim Jones Begins afresh, A rack of bones, To work for flesh!

"They tell me," said the innocent maid, "that your marriage was the result of love at first sight. Is it true?" "It is," answered the round-shouldered man, sadly. "Had I been gifted with second sight, I'd still be in the bachelor class!"—Chicago Daily News.

Tourist in Holland—"I suppose, my good man, that mill has ground out your living for a good many years?" Gentleman of Marken—"Bless you, no. The old shack hasn't run for twenty years. I make a better living renting it as a model to American artists."—Judge.

"Your wife is quite hospitable," said the friend. "I don't know," answered Mr. Cumrox. "Mother and the girls used to be glad to see folks that dropped in off-hand. Now they send out invitations, and seem more tickled to get regrets than acceptances."—Washington Star.

"See here," said the irate customer as he entered the clothing store, "you said this pair of trousers would wear like iron. I've worn them less than six weeks—and now look at them. Do you call that wearing like iron?" "Well, why not?" rejoined the proprietor. "Aren't they rusty enough to suit you?"—Chicago Daily News.

City Editor—"One minute, Jones." Reporter—"All right." City Editor—"I don't know whether it is absent-mindedness on your part, or an expression of your views on matrimony, but I'd rather, when you have occasion to write about a wedding not have you say that Miss Smith and Mr. Brown 'underwent a marriage ceremony.'"—Life.

Love Greater Than Truth. You throw yourself away in black, bitter, brutal antipathies and aversions. You with your truth are untrue before false majorities with their lot. Why? And I ask it over and over again. Why? And I repeat it after you: Why? And I say: Because the truth never confutes and convinces. Only love confutes and convinces. The best way to get and keep an enemy is to be an enemy.—Horace Traubel, in the Conservator.

Professor Carrel, of the Rockefeller institute, is able to keep flesh alive for weeks in cold storage so as to be grafted and grown into and upon living animals.

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge that so many forms of illness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact that it is the only remedy which promotes internal cleanliness, without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is, therefore, all-important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to purchase and note that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only.

It is pleasant and refreshing to the taste, and acts gently yet promptly on the kidneys, liver and bowels, cleanses the system effectually, dispels colds, headaches and fevers and assists in overcoming habitual constipation permanently, also biliousness and the many ills resulting therefrom. The great trouble with all other purgatives and aperients is not that they fail to act when a single dose is taken, but that they act too violently and invariably tend to produce a habit of body requiring constantly augmented doses. Children enjoy the pleasant taste and gentle action of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, the ladies find it delightful and beneficial whenever a laxative remedy is needed, and business men pronounce it invaluable, as it may be taken without interfering with business and does not gripe nor nauseate. When buying note the name, California Fig Syrup Co. printed on the front of every package. Price, 50 cents a bottle.

Pneumatic Tubes in Rio.

Vice Counsel General J. J. Slechta writes that plans have been completed for installing in Rio de Janeiro a modern pneumatic tube system for transmitting telegrams and other messages. The topographical position of the Brazilian capital necessitates its separation into distinct and widely separated districts, between which communication is slow, because of the circuitous routes, to avoid mountainous districts, either by tramway or other street vehicle. By the pneumatic tube system telegrams may be sent from one part of the city to distant parts in 15 minutes, as compared with 45 minutes to an hour for messenger delivery. At first the system will operate only in the more densely populated portions, the service being performed in 12 stations conveniently situated. The equipment is to be the "Blower System," furnished by the American firm.

Like a Cat.

Experimenting with the boll weevil, a Texas farmer caught a lively one and placed it in water where it would freeze to death during the night. Next morning he found the water had frozen solid and the weevil was in the cake of ice, and the farmer congratulated himself on the discovery that cold would kill the weevil. But when the ice melted the bug walked around as lively as before freezing, and that farmer is convinced that freezing is not the proper means to exterminate the insect. He threw the weevil into a hot fire, and at last accounts was watching to see if it would come out alive.—Centerville (Tex.) Jeffersonian.

ROSY COLOR Produced by Postum.

"When a person rises from each meal with a ringing in the ears and a general sense of nervousness, it is a common habit to charge it to a deranged stomach.

"I found it was caused from drinking coffee, which I never suspected for a long time, but found by leaving off coffee that the disagreeable feelings went away.

"I was brought to think of the subject by getting some Postum and this brought me out of trouble.

"It is a most appetizing and invigorating beverage and has been of such great benefit to me that I naturally speak of it from time to time as opportunity offers.

"A lady friend complained to me that she had tried Postum, but it did not taste good. In reply to my question she said she guessed she boiled it about ten minutes. I advised her to follow directions and know that she boiled it fifteen or twenty minutes, and she would have something worth talking about. A short time ago I heard one of her children say that they were drinking Postum now-a-days, so I judge she succeeded in making it good, which is by no means a difficult task.

"The son of one of my friends was formerly a pale lad, but since he has been drinking Postum, has a fine color. There is plenty of evidence that Postum actually does 'make red blood,' as the famous trade-mark says."

Pure Food and Pure Butter.

Pure food, what crimes are committed in thy name? A Cornell professor, an officer of the New York State Dairymen's association, warns Congress against a plot of the oleomargarine makers, and wants every friend of pure food to rally. The professor is worried for fear that oleomargarine may be colored to resemble butter. The New York Times suggests that if it is wrong to color oleomargarine, it is wrong to color butter. Under the law as it stands, oleomargarine can only be sold under its own name, and the Times thinks that if any one wants to buy oleomargarine, whether colored or not, he should be able to get it. It pertinently adds that "People with short purses cannot see why colored oleomargarine should be illegal and colored butter legal, particularly as the matter used to give the required tinge is the same for both and entirely harmless." There is a lot of good sense in the pure food law, but a lot of nonsense in the uses that some would put it to.—Leslie's.
