

Not Sisters

Now and again you see two women passing down the street who look like sisters. You are astonished to learn that they are mother and daughter, and you realize that a woman at forty or forty-five ought to be at her finest and fairest. Why isn't it so? The general health of woman is so intimately associated with the local health of the essentially feminine organs that there can be no red cheeks and round form where there is female weakness.

Women who have suffered from this trouble have found prompt relief and cure in the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It gives vigor and vitality to the organs of womanhood. It clears the complexion, brightens the eyes and reddens the cheeks.

No alcohol, or habit-forming drugs is contained in "Favorite Prescription." Any sick woman may consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. Every letter is held as sacredly confidential, and answered in a plain envelope. Address: World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, Pres., Buffalo, N. Y.

Furs and Vanity.

"Fur trimmed overcoats are an all the year round adjunct to a photographer's property room," said the photographer. "Men's vanity turns to furs just as surely as women's does. They think they look better in a picture with a fur collar snuggling up around their faces. Most of them do, too. For years we have kept fur coats in stock throughout the summer for women to be photographed in. Now they have been joined by the fur trimmed coat. A temperature of 100 in the shade won't drive a man away from that overcoat if he thinks it will add to his good looks."—New York Sun.

A TERRIBLE EXPERIENCE.

So Weak From Kidney Trouble He Could Hardly Stand.

John McKay Williams, Bedford City, Va., says: "For two months I suffered from sharp pains across the small of my back and I became so weak I could hardly stand. I lost flesh rapidly and was becoming worried. I fortunately decided to try Doan's Kidney Pills. I began taking them and before long every symptom of the trouble disappeared. I have had no return of it up to now."

Waterways and Cities.

From time immemorial, the improvement of harbors, building of wharves, and provision of the appurtenances, necessary to enable a port to engage in deep-water traffic, have been at the expense of a nation, a province, a city, or other community. Such expenditure has been incurred in but few cases and at few places by private corporations. In the continental countries of Europe even down to the present day this practice has undoubtedly been justifiable, inasmuch as the seaports have often been the commercial metropolises, the entrepôts for merchandise collected for export or imported for distribution throughout a nation having comparatively little interior commerce, depending for its prosperity in the main upon that moving by sea. This traditional practice obtains even in the United States, where the domestic traffic is by far the more important, with the result that the national government is continually besieged to improve one port that it may more successfully compete with another, which in turn makes demand upon the national treasury.—Atlantic Monthly.

At Last It Has Come.

A furniture dealer in Paris is showing a novelty in the form of a bed, which is an improvement on a similar one which attracted attention at the last Paris exhibition. It is to all appearances an ordinary bed, but the weight of the body upon it sets clockwork in motion, thus operating a music box which gives forth soothing melodies. The lullabies which it plays are supposed to induce sleep. By means of a dial at the head of the bed the person who occupies it fixes an alarm for the next morning. This produces, when the hour arrives, discordant sounds, to which the person in bed must pay heed, because failure to rise within five minutes after the noise has begun, will cause the bottom of the bed to fall out.—New York Tribune.

Unhappy Americans.

We modern Americans are the most unhappy people that have ever lived on the face of the earth, because we are the most prosperous people; we are the freest people; we are the most highly educated. Misery does not make people dissatisfied as much as prosperity. It is not those who are the most miserable nor those who lack the most of social or material wealth whose dissatisfaction over their condition breaks out into revolutions for reform. Take the great revolutions of modern history, the French revolution or the civil war for example, and you will note that the respective countries in which these agitations developed were not ripe for revolution until they had come to a certain degree of prosperity, which developed the idea of personal rights and liberties. The main reason why, in my judgment, there will be no revolution in Russia for a long time to come is the fact that the common people of that country are so miserable that they have been, and will be, unable to develop a dissatisfaction acute enough to break into forcible resistance.—Albion W. Small, in Leslie's.

Awful Burning Itch Cured in a Day.

"In the middle of the night of March 30th I woke up with a burning itch in my two hands and I felt as if I could pull them apart. In the morning the itching had gone to my chest and during that day it spread all over my body. I was red and raw from the top of my head to the soles of my feet and I was in continual agony from the itching. I could neither lie down nor sit up. I happened to see about Cuticura Remedies and I thought I would give them a trial. I took a good bath with the Cuticura Soap and used the Cuticura Ointment. I put it on from my head down to my feet and then went to bed. On the first of April I felt like a new man. The itching was almost gone. I continued with the Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment and during that day the itching completely left me. Frank Gridley, 325 East 43d Street, New York City, Apr. 27, 1909." Cuticura Remedies are sold throughout the world; Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston, Mass.

Disastrous.

His horse went dead and his mule went lame and he lost six cows in a poker game; then a hurricane came on a summer's day and blew the house where he lived away, and the earthquake came when that was gone and swallowed the land that the house was on; then the tax collector came around and charged him up with the hole in the ground.—Upson (Ga.) Where the Money Comes From.

Every year the incomes of the considerable accumulations of money have to be earned by people who work with their hands or heads. Huge incomes come out of the sum of the earnings of all the working people. That is one reason why there is so much popular interest in the way they are spent, and why no doubt there is reluctance to grant perpetuity to enormous endowments such as Mr. Rockefeller is understood to propose, no matter how excellent the purpose of them may seem. It makes people tired to think of earning the income of $400,000,000 or $500,000,000 for indefinite generations to come, no matter how carefully and wisely its expenditure is directed. Wealth is power, power to direct the labor and determine in large measure the destinies of men. People are justified in being jealous of the retention of too much of it too long in too few hands.—Life.

THE RETURN.

When Johnnie went away to school He rigidly conformed to rule.

At first he joined a college frat, And lost an arm and leg at that.

And then he made the Delta Phi, Who gouged out one of Johnnie's eyes.

A "rush" that launched the college year Deprived him of a useful ear.

He was so good, and glad to please, That Johnnie made the team with ease.

He left a hand at Cleveland, O.— A kneecap at St. Louis, Mo.;

His sternum cracked at Baltimore— Interred his nose at Portland, Ore.;

At every contest, win or yield, He left a portion on the field.

Thus gradually he was bereft Till little of the boy was left.

We got his baggage home by rail— The rest of Johnnie came by mail. —Buffalo News.

As Dangerous as Nosing About Stills.

Some years ago a Chicago doctor had a lot of walking cases of consumptives, and wanted to make sure they got pure butter. So he sent Tip into the butter cellars there to look for information. After going into two or three in the same block and asking to see, smell and taste, Tip began to think the butter merchants were acting queerly, and about that time a young fellow came up in butter and egg-garb and said, "Say, friend, you was just back in the boss' place looking for butter. Now I can tell from your talk you're from the same place as I am, but this bunch down here takes every stranger for a spying inspector. Let me give it to you straight; coming down here and asking questions about butter is about as dangerous as nosing about stills down in the mountains. It's this way. They're all selling fake butter, law or no law, and if any of them get caught at it the Butterine Trust pays all fines and expenses. And a man who beats up a spy gets well paid for it."—New York Press.

WOMAN'S GENTLE NATURE CALLS FOR GENTLE TREATMENT

Delicately formed and gently reared, women will find, in all the seasons of their lives, as maidens, wives or mothers, that the one simple, wholesome remedy which acts gently and pleasantly and naturally, and which may be used with truly beneficial effects, under any conditions, when the system needs a laxative, is—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna. It is well known to be a simple combination of the laxative and carminative principles of plants with pleasant aromatic liquids, which are agreeable and refreshing to the taste and acceptable to the system when its gentle cleansing is desired.

Only those who buy the genuine Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna can hope to get its beneficial effects, and as a guarantee of the excellence of the remedy, the full name of the company—California Fig Syrup Co.—is printed on the front of every package, and without it any preparation offered as Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is fraudulent and should be declined. To those who know the quality of this excellent laxative, the offer of any substitute, when Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is called for, is always resented by a transfer of patronage to some first-class drug establishment, where they do not recommend, nor sell false brands, nor imitation remedies. The genuine article may be bought of all reliable druggists everywhere; one size only. Regular price 50 cents per bottle. Get a bottle today to have in the house when needed.
