

News of Persons

SNOW SHOE

John McGowan of Moshannon was a pleasant caller to our town this week. William Stark, who has been on the sick list for several days, is able to be about again.

Reuben Seyler, who is employed at the Hayes Run Brick Works, spent Sunday with his family in Patchtown.

Miss Mary Hall, having been on the sick list for several days, is around again.

Philip Shaw, employed as brakeman on the P. R. R. at Ocoola, spent Sunday with his mother, Mrs. John Shaw, at this place.

Jacob Shank of Runville spent several days with his friends in Snow Shoe, recently.

The Cramer and Burns comet made its appearance Friday and Saturday nights in the western sky.

Some of our sports attended the dance at Moshannon on last Wednesday evening. All reported having a good time. Ask Pat and Tom.

R. C. Gilliland has a hen which lays comet eggs. Anybody wishing eggs for setting, call on Deacon. Price $1.00 per setting.

The festival held at the Presbyterian church Friday and Saturday evenings was well attended.

Eva McGowan, Edith and Maude Budinger made a trip to Bellefonte during the week.

MOSHANNON

Miss Ganell Ardell after a few weeks' stay with friends here, returned to her home at Blandburg on Sunday.

Miss Elizabeth Williams was very suddenly called to Clearfield this week to be employed as trained nurse.

Miss Fannie Bluebell of Clearfield was a recent Moshannon visitor.

Simon Rater of Drifting, at one time an operator at this place, was in our midst one evening of this week.

Christiana Kerin visited her sister, Martha, at Lock Haven, C. S. N. S., recently.

Mrs. Grover Duck spent Sunday at her parents' home at Peale.

Fred Folmer of Drifting was a recent Moshannon visitor and paid his respects to the Times.

Mrs. Cinthia French is spending some time with friends in this community.

J. T. Lucas transacted business in Bellefonte on Friday.

Miss Schwartzel and her friend, Miss Holt of Drifting, made a pleasant call at the Times office while on a recent visit to our town.

Mrs. Alex Black and son James of Clearfield spent a few days with the former's mother, Mrs. Mollie Rankin, recently.

Mr. Rouch, the hardware man of Clearfield, was a business visitor to our town one day of this week.

Mrs. J. K. Johnston and little daughter, Martha, of Bellefonte, visited among her many friends at this place during the week. As Mrs. Johnston was a former resident of this place, she appreciates the Snow Shoe Times, and to show her appreciation, handed her name in for a year's subscription.

Mrs. Harry Snyder and daughter, Catherine, of East Rutherford, N. J., returned home on Saturday, after visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Shannon.

Mr. William Lucas, the "eye specialist," made a business trip to Bellefonte, Milesburg and Curtin during the past week. He reports business in a flourishing condition.

News From Our Neighbors

David Hendershot, who resides near town, had a narrow escape from death last Sunday morning. He had been in town Saturday evening and tarried too long at the cup. Almost seven o'clock Sunday morning a special train conveying the agents of the L. & T. Railroad to Lewisburg, was passing along near the Nittany furnace when the engineer saw a man lying along the track. He threw on the emergency brake but did not succeed in stopping the train until it struck Hendershot and shoved him along the track. He was taken on the train and brought to the station where the hospital ambulance was in waiting to take him to the hospital, but David thought he was not a subject for the hospital and emphatically declined to go. He was only slightly bruised on the head and later walked to his home.

The annual reception of the Bellefonte Academy will take place next Friday evening at the Academy. The old school building will be handsomely decorated and music will be furnished by Christy Smith's orchestra. The dance will take place in the Armory from 10 to 3.

Last Friday the remains of Lattimer Daley, a former Bellefonte boy, who had been braving on the Pittsburg division of the Pennsylvania railroad, were brought to Bellefonte for burial. He had died suddenly while on a visit to Columbus, Ohio. Deceased was aged 26 years and was unmarried.

George Dale, a well known resident of Dale's Summit, died Sunday morning last after an extended illness. He was aged 78 years and was a son of one of the pioneers of Center county. Mr. Dale was one of the prominent Grangers of the county and took an active interest in all its affairs.

Dr. A. M. Schmidt, pastor of the Bellefonte Reformed church, returned home from Washington, D. C., on Saturday, where he had been attending the World's Sunday school convention, and on Sunday gave an interesting account of the convention in his church.

Raymond Jenkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jenkins, won first honors of the graduating class of the High school. Miss Helen Eberhart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Eberhart, won second honors. The J. C. Meyer's $10 biographical prize has been awarded to Harris Olewine, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Olewine. The commencement exercises of the High school will take place Thursday afternoon in the new school building. The annual address to the class will be delivered in the evening by Dr. J. Madison Peters of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Among the Bellefonters who attended the Knights Templar conclave at Lancaster last week were Harry Keller, W. Harrison Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Mensch, Mr. and Mrs. George Grimm and Mrs. Sidney Krumrine.

Hon. P. Gray Meek, editor of the Democratic Watchman and secretary of the State Democratic committee, was quite ill last week with acute indigestion.

While cutting wood at his home last Saturday, Jerry Donovan, the well known rag dealer, was struck by a piece of a billet, and his face was badly injured. At first it was thought that his eye was injured, but that organ will not be affected is the opinion of his physician.

G. M. Gamble has purchased himself a new E. M. F. "30" touring car and is busy trying it out these pleasant days.

Deputy Sheriff James B. Strohm was confined to his home in Center Hall last week by illness.

A well known fisherman of Bellefonte tells the story that on Wednesday he was fishing in Spring Creek just above the Watchman office, and had a minnow on for bait. All at once two trout about eighteen inches long made for the bait at the same time and in jumping each knocked the other away and they both missed it, after which they swam back to the deep water below the falls in apparent disgust. And the fisherman declares it's true.

HOWARD.

Mrs. Chas. Yearick is suffering considerable pain from her broken arm.

Elmer Eastle and family left for Pittsfield, Mass., to remain until July.

James Krape was greeting his many friends and also taking in the convention.

Eugene Pletcher of Philadelphia, spent Sunday with his parents.

About one hundred delegates visited our town this week, in the interest of the Ministerial Sunday school and K. L. C. E. convention.

A large and appreciative audience greeted ex-state treasurer, Hon. W. H. Berry, of West Chester. Every person considered it a treat and feel much benefited from the wholesome advice.

Walter Richard Hoffman is spending some time in Philadelphia.

Venerable Mr. Joseph Kling accompanied Al. Pifer and family to Altoona.

House Votes for Taft Tariff Board.

Washington, D. C.—The Tawney amendment to the sundry civil bill was adopted in the house by a strict party vote of 110 to 83, appropriating $250,000 to enable the President to obtain such prices relating to production here or abroad as would be necessary for an enforcement of the tariff law. By a vote of 84 to 106 the house rejected an amendment by Mr. Fitzgerald, reducing this allowance to $75,000.

WOMAN AND THE PAPER.

To the weather first she turns,
Which is scheduled, she learns,
To be fair.
Rain predicted makes her pout
Though she isn't going out
Anywhere.

Next the dry goods ads she reads
Thinking of her many needs
As to dress.
Reads them all with comment sage,
Then inspects the woman's page
More or less.

If a serial there be
Carefully the same must she
Next peruse,
After which she may, perchance,
Take a hasty little glance
At the news.

—Lanesville Courier-Journal.

"Ida gets every prize in our bridge club." "The best player, is she?" "No, the worst adder."—Life.

Teacher—What can we do with our useless organs? Little Eben—Trade 'em for phonographs, of course.—Puck.

"Come on swimmin', I'll show you some new strokes." "Nope, last time I went did showed me some new ones."—Houston Post.

"A fellow accumulates a lot of junk going through college." "Referring to the classics or pipes and pennants?"—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Mother (visiting son at preparatory school)—"Well, my darling!" Son—"I say, mother, don't look so ghastly pleased before all these fellows."—Punch.

"My husband is a great man. He can speak so that he can fire a whole crowd." "Humph! that's nothing. My husband can fire the cook."—Baltimore American.

"Have you ever found that New York was impolite?" "No; I've always made it a rule to get out of the town before all of my money was gone."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Mayme—Why don't you get your mother to stretch your tight shoes for you?" Jayne—Mercy, mother couldn't wear my shoes! Mayme—Then let father.—Cleveland Plain-Dealer.

Philanthropist—Will you subscribe five dollars to help a poor man who is troubled with loss of memory? Financier—No. I won't. A lost memory is as good as a fortune these days.—Life.

"You may be surprised after we are married to find how much things cost," he warned her. "Oh, I don't know," she said, smiling. "I used to clerk in a delicassetsen store."—Buffalo Express.

"You may pay me $100 down and $25 a week," said the physician offhand. "Sounds as if I were buying an automobile," the patient said. "No," said the doctor, thoughtlessly; "I am."—Buffalo Express.

Master—I see ou've got a horseshoe up there, Pat. I thought you didn't believe in that superstition. Pat—Sure an' I don't, sir. But I have heard that them as don't believe in it gets the best luck.—Punch.

"If I could only experience some great grief," sighed the poet, "I think I might be able to write a deathless lay." "Then get ready to write," said his wife. "The great grief has come. The Williamson's dog got into our kitchen a few moments ago and ran away with the steak you brought home for dinner."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Hostess (at party)—Why so silent, Miss de Muir? You've scarcely said a word since you came. Youthful Guest—Really, Mrs. Leeder, I am having a very enjoyable time, but my father has told me a hundred times never to say anything unless I have something to say, and I suppose— Hostess—But, my dear child, think what a stupid and tiresome thing society would be of everybody followed that advice?—Chicago Tribune.

Take the Wrong Car.

The management of a certain tall office building in Washington street has found it necessary to reach the intelligence of the general public with a figurative club. There is a row of elevators on each side of the lobby. For years a painted legend has informed the world, "These cars do not stop below the ninth floor." On the opposite side of the marble way, another sign informs, "These cars go only to the ninth floor."

Each of these notices is phrased plainly, and, it would seem, should be plainly comprehended by all. However, the showers of questions bestowed on starters and elevator men day after day have necessitated the addition of two glaring announcements, one hung on each side of the hall. They read, respectively:

"High side."
"Low Side."—Chicago Tribune.
