of the most productive sections of the country? They cannot, they will not submit to this outrage. The radicals know that their scheme is a failure, that they can never make white men of negroes, that they will never under any circumstances, become the equal of the white men. But they care nothing for this. Their only aim is to retain control of the government, and that too, for the spoils. They want the negro to vote in the next presidential election, and then they will have no further use for him.

A Georgia paper charges that all the misfortunes of the Southern people are directly attributable to Northern adventurers and vagabonds who have flocked thither for political renown.

The whites, it says, would never have oppressed the negroes nor permitted them to be oppressed, and they would never have lost confidence in the whites, but for the interested vil-lany of these carpet-baggers and seaways; and primarily they are responsible for every serious difficulty between the races, for all danger of differences of this character, in the South.

Disfranchisement in Prussia confirmed by the brother of the deceased, who stated that the lunatic was perfectly sane on all points save one, which consisted in the delusion that he had been poisoned and was dead. In direct and bewildering conflict to this testimony is that of Mrs. Mary Ann Banks, of 25 York-row Kingslandroad, who, on inspecting the body declared it to be that of her missing husband, Mr. Ebenezer Clarke Banks, a commercial traveller for a spirit-merchant. Mrs. Banks twice viewed the corpse, and was confirmed in this statement by her two sisters, Mrs. Williams, 58 Jamaica-road, Bermondsey, and Mrs. Seamer, of 95 Fairford-road Bow.

She bases her recognition not alone on the features and form, but also upon a particular mark on one of the fingers.

This mark she specially described to the constable before seeing the corpse, and the officer found it as she had described. Even after the post-mortem examination had taken place these three ladies on a third view declared it to be the body of Mr. Banks. It is difficult to suppose that Dr. Ellis, who, in his official position, had frequent opportunities of seeing his patient, and Mr. Heasman, who naturally must have been well acquainted with the features of his brother, could have been mistaken in their identification, but it is equally hard to believe that Mrs. Banks and her two sisters could be deceived as to the identity of her husband and the father of her children. The morning after the post-mortem examination a lady present herself at the Hackney Police Station, and produced a photograph of a missing relative which bore a far more striking resemblance to the deceased than did either of two photographs subsequently shown by Mr. Heasman as those of his brother. This lady was not permitted to see the body, as the police suspected her to have been identified, and therefore could not be that of her 'relative.' Two young ladies also believed the corpse was that of their brother, who had been missing from St. John's College, Cambridge, for four months.

Disgraceful Scene Between "Tro-oly Lion" Members.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—Mr. Donnelly, (Disunion, from Minnesota) obtained unanimous consent to make a personal explanation on the 24th of March last he asked leave to introduce a bill to construct a certain railroad. Objection was made by the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. Washburne), who, in a very courteous and polite manner, asked Mr. Donnelly to state the object of the bill, and the reasons for its introduction. Mr. Donnelly, in reply, stated that the bill was introduced in order to provide for the construction of a railroad between

St. Louis and Chicago. Mr. Washburne, in reply, stated that he had never heard of such a project, and asked Mr. Donnelly to state the
